

Lovely new Velvet Hats for early fall $6.

Among the first arrivals from the selections made by Misses MacLellan and Foster during their recent tour of the markets—is this wonderful assortment of new Velvet Hats.

These Hats are all ready to put on and wear away. While the price is low the value is simply amazing—they're decidedly the sort of hats that you'd expect to pay ten dollars for.

Get The Facts About Your Eyes
Have your eyes examined and know the facts. If they are found to be perfectly normal you have a whole lot of satisfaction in knowing it. If they are defective, the proper glasses will bring you corrected vision. Life will mean more to you, your value to yourself and to others will be far greater and you will be happier in every way. Make up your mind now that nothing shall cause you to neglect this most precious of the senses—eyesight.

—FIRE ALARM.—The Summerside fire department were called out on Monday afternoon to a small blaze which started in the offices of Mr. John Lea in the Journal building. However no water was put on the blaze as it was unnecessary when the fire department arrived. The damage was very slight.

—RADIO FANS.—Many of the S. Side Radio fans had the pleasure of listening in on Friday night to the Dempsey and Firpo fight which took place at the Polo Grounds, New York City. Although very short all the preliminaries with the big fight were received round by round from the ringside and blackboards were placed in the windows of different stores giving every detail of the bouts. Summerside has now about fifty fans with receiving sets and the number is steadily increasing.

THE SWEET RED ROSE
"Good-morning, little rosbush! Now prythee tell me true, To be as sweet as a sweet red rose,
What must a body do?"
"To be as sweet as a sweet red rose,
A little girl like you
Just grows and grows and grows
And grows—
And that's what she must do."

—Wanted dolly be proud of her trunk now?

WEATHER PROPHETS
Everybody is anxious for the weather to be fine on their holidays, and if you remember this little rhyme you will find it easier to foretell showers and sunshine. It is an old sailor's verse.
"When the wind's before the rain,
Soon you will make sail again;
When the rain's before the wind,
Then your sheets and halyards mind."

The Oldest Man

—LONDON, Sept. 17.—Sheffield is the home of a man said to be the oldest man alive in England. He is Nathan Lapatnick, aged 111, a Russian Jew, who came to this country 60 years ago.

Lapatnick lives on a pension provided by the Jewish Synagogue. He rises at 7, goes to bed at 6, and has two meals a day. He smokes, takes snuff, and enjoys a tot of whiskey every day. Lapatnick has been married twice and has had 17 children.

Home Life Menaced

Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, and let it help them.

A Mystery House Unoccupied In London

(By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 17.—London has a derelict mansion which, like the four houses of Miss Florence Appleyard, the missing spinster of Bath, has not been occupied for years.

It is No. 1 Hyde Parkgate, a huge six-storey house worth thousands of pounds, commanding a fine view over Kensington Gardens.

For ten years nobody has lived in the house, although it is filled with beautiful and expensive furniture.

A thick layer of dust has settled on the windows, and the grimy facade presents a dismal and dilapidated appearance, in sharp contrast to the freshly-painted houses in the neighborhood.

From time to time there has been speculation in the neighborhood as to the cause of the abandonment of such a valuable property.

A watchful eye is kept on the house by the police lest anyone should attempt to take advantage of the absence of the owner, and break in. It is securely bolted and barred.

A heavy padlock is fixed to the gates to the area steps, and great iron doors barricade the way to the front entrance.

The owner of the house is a woman, who is reported to be very wealthy.

She is the widow of a general, and for years past has spent most of her time in Ireland, or in a villa near Monte Carlo.

Every few years she comes to London, and she has been seen to drive up to the empty house in one or the other of two expensive motor cars which she is believed to own.

It is said that she has occasionally spent a night or two in the house, but she has not been seen there for about four years.

Why the house has been left untenanted for so long no one can say. The only explanation put forward is that the owner is so wealthy that she can afford to neglect her property.

Next door to the house is a hotel. Recently there has been erected over the portico of the empty mansion a sign-board on which is painted:

Was Blondin A Passenger?

(By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 17.—A well-known character, John, Charles Gee, better known as "Charlie" Gee, proprietor of a laundry in Acton, near London, has just died at the age of 76.

There are records of the Gee family in Acton as far back as the 17th century. Richard Gee, "Charlie's" father, had 20 children, of whom "Charlie" was the 19th and the only survivor at the time of his death. The family was scattered all over the world.

Richard Gee was, according to his son "Charlie," the owner of Springfield Park, a large estate now covered with villa residences, which he lost one night at a single game of cards.

When "Charlie" was born his people were running a large grocery store in the village of Acton, and he had to start earning a living early. He became in turn a newspaper boy at 35 cents per week, a stable lad and groom, and, after trying many other occupations, he joined the City Police in 1874, retiring in 1880.

Before joining the police, Mr. Gee was noted for his practical jokes, generally good-natured and dangerous chiefly to himself.

He fell unhurt on to some bushes from the roof of a high house on which he had trespassed.

Bumped an old parishioner, weighing 21 stone, on a boundary stone during the beating of the parish bounds.

strapped to his back, Blondin himself riding a bicycle. "It was," said Mr. Gee at the celebration of the jubilee of the event, "the longest ride I ever had. The slightest mistake on Blondin's part, the slightest movement on three-mile course at 16 miles an hour. "Blondin" wanted to take me back the way we had come, over iron-tired wheels and no chain.
