

Famous Interviewer Tells of Career

Hortense Saunders

So Says Interviewer Who Has Observed Their Workings

New York City.—If every woman had a job that was as much fun as hers is, Hortense Saunders, famous New York feature writer, doubts whether any of her sex would give up a career for marriage.

don't seem awfully bad when you hear, as you do in my work, of the pleasant things they do for other people.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. AENEAS MCMILLAN.

At his home at Cherry Hill, Lot 38 on May 26th, 1927 after a long and painful illness of cancer, Aeneas McMillan in the 73rd year of his age.

left a host of friends, but no enemies. His funeral to St. Andrews on May 27th was largely attended.

This Canada of ours

(W. L. COTTON)

"This Canada of Ours," "Our Statutory Ship," made steady progress towards its port of destiny in the past sixty years.

The fishing, by which our Ship of State is surrounded, extend along a coast line of more than 5,000 square miles and cover an area of not less than 200,000 square miles of sea water.

Down in the hold of the Ship there is an incalculable store of riches. The mines of this Canada of ours, already rank among the leading mining countries of the world.

Other sources of Canada's wealth, in process of development, are its fur-bearing animals running well in the large uninhabited areas of Northern Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and other North West territories.

By subjecting a non-injurious substance to X-ray rays, scientists have developed a method for X-ray photographing human veins and arteries.

The Public Forum

This column is open for the discussion by correspondents of questions of interest. The Charlottetown Guardian does not necessarily endorse the opinions of correspondents.

DRINK VS. HYPOCRISY

Sir,—Respecting the Temperance situation, no matter what law may be in effect, there is one outstanding truth.

AN ECHO FROM VERNON

Sir, Now that the strife of battle is over and the air cleared for plain seeing and clear thinking, I would like to correct a report appearing in the Patriot of June 22 regarding the political meeting at Vernon River.

The facts are merely these: (a) I did not read from wet journals, copiously or otherwise, but gave extracts from speeches by Canon Cody and Principal Grant.

OUR CELEBRATION

Sir,—Our's is a grand country, and this island is admittedly, one of the best parts of it.

On this Diamond Jubilee Day let us thank God and take courage. That there are dangers to be guarded against if Canada is to become a great nation, that there are weaknesses and deficiencies to be watched need not be stated.

They must keep the public debt within bounds, and the Public Debt will ere long, destroy the independence which Canada now enjoys.

MAKE A HIT

Sir,—You have shown very clearly that the government of Canada and the incoming government of this Province are not "in line" on the question of Prohibition or upon many other questions.

It had reached the sum of $8,045,437.096. The number of loan and savings societies in operation and making returns to the government at Confederation was nineteen.

Let us so work and think that the natural wealth of Canada may be still further developed and the welfare and comfort of those who sail through life in our own Ship of State may be correspondingly increased.

Confederation And After Sixty Years Of Progress

HARNESSING CANADIAN STREAMS

Sixty years ago the water powers available in rivers and streams were utilized only to a limited extent, mainly in running the old grist mills for which only small quantities were required, and in the operation of sawmills in working the up and down saws, carding woolen mills, etc.

The first great step forward was made by the creation of the Hydro-electric Commission of Ontario to take advantage of the tremendous power being wasted in the Niagara Falls, which already had been privately utilized to a considerable extent on both sides of the line.

The success attained by the Ontario Hydro-electric has been the greatest of stimuli to development in other parts of Canada.

It is to be hoped that the men in office will be economical and careful, and that they will adopt measures and policies to be adopted by the great public debt which Canada and each of the Provinces are now laboring under.

That is a practical thought for our people in the Jubilee Celebration.

They must keep the public debt within bounds, and the Public Debt will ere long, destroy the independence which Canada now enjoys.

It is to be hoped that the men in office will be economical and careful, and that they will adopt measures and policies to be adopted by the great public debt which Canada and each of the Provinces are now laboring under.

That is a practical thought for our people in the Jubilee Celebration.

They must keep the public debt within bounds, and the Public Debt will ere long, destroy the independence which Canada now enjoys.

It is to be hoped that the men in office will be economical and careful, and that they will adopt measures and policies to be adopted by the great public debt which Canada and each of the Provinces are now laboring under.

That is a practical thought for our people in the Jubilee Celebration.

They must keep the public debt within bounds, and the Public Debt will ere long, destroy the independence which Canada now enjoys.

Business Has Wings—2

Condensed from the Atlantic Monthly (March, '27).

Ernest Elmo Calkins.

We live in a business world that has become almost fluid. The public reveals an amazing willingness to adopt anything, and what makes this tendency formidable in the conduct of business, is the speed and unanimity with which the new ideas are adopted.

The industrial chemist assures us that we are coming to artificial antracite, and motor spirit from coal. Meanwhile, with the arrival of the oil burner, the coal wagon disappears in the offing following the ice wagon over the hill to oblivion.

The manufacturer, no matter how basic his product, can no longer settle down and let things take their course. He must sleep like a freeman, ready to dash out at a moment's notice.

Hand-to-mouth buying was an emergency practice adopted during the deflation period after the war. Retailers bought only enough goods for immediate needs, to avoid being caught by falling prices.

Today the most pessimistic cannot ignore the signs of prosperity. The business world is saying "Every day and in every way business is growing better," and paying to say it. Manufacturers are spending millions in advertising. These are cases rather than effects. They are guarantees that prosperity will be produced.

The new manufacturer will find the advertising man armed for the new adventure of business. Far from being dismayed by the changing aspects of industrial life, he realizes that the commercial world has become the field of high em-tion of what a bank may be to a community. They have found there is no loss of dignity in telling people in words they can understand an advertised brand, but by chemical tests and price. At least one large flour-milling company has adopted good-will advertising; urging the public to buy baker's bread, in the hope that the baker will be grateful for the help to the extent of using that miller's flour.

Consider the discussion that has gone on for years about those periods of depression known as hard times. It was believed that business moved in cycles, and that they were inevitable. Yet it has been realized for a long time that such periods are due to states of mind, when for some mysterious reason everyone becomes apprehensive, stops buying, ceases to act as one who believes in the continuance of prosperity. Weak businesses fail, and everybody gives and receives the impression that business is not good—and it is not.

Today the most pessimistic cannot ignore the signs of prosperity. The business world is saying "Every day and in every way business is growing better," and paying to say it. Manufacturers are spending millions in advertising. These are cases rather than effects. They are guarantees that prosperity will be produced.

The new manufacturer will find the advertising man armed for the new adventure of business. Far from being dismayed by the changing aspects of industrial life, he realizes that the commercial world has become the field of high em-

Since Confederation The scattered colonies of Canada have grown to a prosperous nation of nine million people. Insurance on lives of Canadians has grown from $25,000,000 to over $4,600,000,000.

CROWN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY Branch Office MacBeath Building Moncton N. B.

ASTHMA Spread Minard's on brown paper and apply to the throat. Also inhale. Quick relief assured. MINARD'S 'KING OF PAIN' LINIMENT For NEURITIS Take Our Herbal Remedies Book on Skin Diseases, New Treatise on Chronic Diseases by Herbal Remedies, Pamphlet on Loss of Manhood and Diseases of men. Booklet on Female Ills and advice free by mail. 30 years experience. (Without criticizing or disparaging your doctor write us before long hope. Treatment by mail our specialty.) English Herbal Dispensary Limited 1359 Davie, Vancouver, B. C. Canada's Oldest Herbal Institute

NEW AND BETTER GABRIEL SNUBBERS Gabriel—and Only Gabriel—Is a Snubber The Car Dealer's Choice When your car dealer recommends a set of New Gabriel Snubbers, he does so because he knows that, without them, balloon tires and soft springs cannot give you the utmost in riding comfort. Gabriel Snubber Sales & Service A. HORNE & CO.

PHONE US I WANT TO ORDER SOME COAL You can be assured that we shall fill all telephone orders to the letter. Your wishes concerning grade, price and prompt delivery will be our law. We strive to please. W. D. GILLIS & CO. COAL PHONE 176

A marriage of exceptional interest in the east and west alike was solemnized in Hamilton Monday of last week when Mildred Emma, youngest daughter of Hon. John Oliver, premier of British Columbia and Mrs. Oliver, became the wife of Albert Edward Savage, of H. G. Savage of Victoria, B. C. They will make their home in Montreal as the conclusion of a trip taking them through the Thousand Islands. In the illustration (LEFT TO RIGHT) are Hon. John Oliver, Mrs. Oliver, Mildred Emma, Albert Edward Savage, and little Betty Oliver, niece of the bride.