Use New Measures To Combat Crime In South Africa

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 17.—(CP)—New measures to combat the current crime wave in South Africa have been announced by Justice Minister Lawrence.

Special courts, presided over by a judge sitting without jury, will be established soon, Mr. Lawrence told a gathering in Pretoria. These courts will have powers to impose heavier penalties and will be able to pass the death sentence for crimes of violence in which dangerous weapons have been used.

The minister announced a three-year plan to increase the strength of the police force to more than 10,000 men. New rates of pay for all ranks of the force involving an increase in the expenditure of about $20,000,000 a year on the basis of the present establishment, were also made public.

Overseas manufacturers, who plan large industrial developments here, will be encouraged by the government to build up buildings in Benoni, Transvaal, which will be the most expensive of their kind in South Africa. An American firm, expecting to employ 5,000 men, will produce refrigerators, electric stoves, washers and other household appliances.

Difficulty has been experienced by the town council in recent years in meeting the demand for land. It is believed that these difficulties can be overcome and that the town will soon have an industrial zone without equal on the Reef.

More than 95,000 Italian prisoners-of-war passed through Union camps at the height of hostilities, and the government is now faced with the problem of their repatriation. The most detained in the country at any one time were 70,000 Italians and as many as 10,000 Germans.

To date only 5,500 Italian prisoners-of-war have been repatriated. The remainder are in chronic sick cases. More than 35,000 still remain in the country, and the date of their departure is not yet known.

No Italian prisoner has been allowed to settle in South Africa. An official of the department of the interior said that all prisoners-of-war would have to be repatriated before they could apply for permission to immigrate to the Union.

About 800 tons of dehydrated vegetables may be shipped as a free gift to the people of Britain as a supplement to the Food for Europe program, the minister of agriculture has announced. The vegetables include carrots, cabbages, and cauliflower.

One thousand tons of soup mixture is being offered in response to an inquiry from the British ministry of food as well as small amounts of other commodities which are required for urgent relief purposes in the Far East. Mr. Strauss said that the dehydrated vegetables, which are of high quality, are produced in the Union as most of the dehydrated products are produced locally.

morning. I'm spending the day with a friend in Baltimore. I simply have to get away for a little. I'm worn out.

"When you're as young as you can talk about being worn out?" sniffed Teresa, offended. "If I had half your vitality, I'd be making a hundred thousand a year. Did those Cuban lechers go out?"

"Tell Mary I haven't been satisfied with the appearance of the correspondence lately. I trained that girl. She knows how to write letters properly."

"Mary?" Virginia said, "has been terribly depressed for the past few days. I think she's having trouble of some kind—family trouble perhaps—something she can't talk about."

"Her family live out in Indiana or some other vague place. And it couldn't be a man—she's unattractive as a Jersey cow with those square cheek bones and those big solemn eyes. And she's not so young—twenty-seven or eight."

"Even a woman of twenty-eight can have worries and heartaches," Virginia reminded her. "I trained that girl. She knows how to write letters properly."

MRS. ROOSEVELT STILL POPULAR

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(BUP)—As far as the gallery is concerned, the statements gathered here from all parts of the world are taking a back seat to the five women delegates to the United Nations Organization general assembly.

While most of the 220 men remain anonymous, the women are familiar figures to the hundreds of soldiers, housewives and office workers who have jammed the public benches.

The galleries know tall, smiling Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Minerva Bernardino of the Dominican Republic, fair-haired, plump Mrs. Evdokia Uralova of Byelorussia, chic-millinered Miss Jean MacKenzie of New Zealand and grey-haired Miss Ellen Wilkinson, British Minister of Education.

Perhaps the most popular delegate in the assembly is Mrs. Roosevelt, not only among the other representatives, but with the British public.

Hundreds line sidewalks outside the assembly hall every day to cheer her arrival and then wait for hours to give her a big hand when she leaves.

When, during his opening presidential speech, Belgium's Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak referred to the delegate who bears such illustrious a name, more than 1,000 delegates, advertisers and visitors burst into spontaneous applause.

"The 'little five' hope to gain total equality for women throughout the world."

PEA MEAL FOR PIGS

In the feeding of swine, pea meal has been tested in varying quantities as a replacement for meat meal at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon, Manitoba. There are indications that 40 per cent of meat meal can be replaced by pea meal without reducing the efficiency of the ration.

GUARD AND STARVE

Crab spiders starve to death after laying eggs, because they're too busy watching their eggs to eat.

New Glasgow Dairying Co.

The annual meeting of the New Glasgow Dairying Company was held at the New Glasgow Hotel on Wednesday, January 16, 1946, at 2 P. M.

The following is a copy of the greetings from the President of the said Company, Mr. Cecil Laird, to the Shareholders and Patrons.

Your board of directors have pleasure in presenting the Annual Report of your company for the year 1945, together with statement of Profit and Loss, Balance Sheet and Surplus Account for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1945.

We are thankful that under the guidance of the over-riding Providence and the fighting ability of all our armed forces, together with the cooperation of our fellow folk that this has brought the past terrible war to a victorious end.

Early last spring we regretted to learn that our neighbouring factory at Stanley was closing down but on the other hand we were pleased to welcome a large number of their patrons to our creamery.

Those with a number of new patrons increased our number from 321 to 400.

We are also pleased to report that our production has exceeded last year by 83.1 per cent.

This is partly due to additional patrons, also to a plentiful supply of feed last year and fairly good pasturage, especially during the spring and early summer. It will be noted that our receipts have reached an all-time high of over $148,000, being an increase of some $30,000 more than the previous year.

Our operating expenses compare favorably with last year in proportion to the amount of business done. In order to accommodate the larger volume we found it necessary to enlarge our facilities for handling cream and we made some quite extensive improvements to our manufacturing room. In our balance sheet you will note an increase of $11.47, which is composed of the cost of the above improvements together with the stragglings of the north-west side of the roof, also some repairs made to house and barn purchased last year, and cost of wiring factory building. We also increased value of our equipment by $220, being cost of adding machine, whey-can and water tank.

Farm Loan Board Operations Successful

In the 16 years the Canadian Farm Loan Board has been in operation it has loaned more than $52,000,000 to 25,712 farmers, the average loan being approximately $2,000. The total amount loaned $26,624,000 has been repaid.

The Board, a Dominion Government agency, with its head office in Ottawa is actively engaged in lending in all parts of Canada as it has been since it was established.

According to the 16th Annual Report of the Board just issued, which deals with its operations for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1946, more than $2,000,000 will be loaned to provide long term financing for the year.

It will be noted that our receipts have reached an all-time high of over $148,000, being an increase of some $30,000 more than the previous year.
