

Marven's Modern Biscuit Factory Visited by the

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE

Governor General was Greatly Interested in the Home of White Lily Biscuits and Paid Many Compliments to the President and General Manager, Mr. J. A. Marven

Friday, December 6th, 1918, was an eventful day in the history of Moncton because of the visit of the

Duke of Devonshire, Governor General of Canada

The day is to be especially remembered by the officers and employees of the J. A. Marven, Limited, who were greatly honored by a visit from His Excellency to the

HOME OF WHITE LILY BISCUIT

The Royal party was met at the main entrance by Mr. J. A. Marven, head of the Marven industry, who led the way over the splendid plant. Everywhere His Excellency expressed interest and delight at what he saw, and such remarks as these fell from the Royal lips: "The cleanest biscuit factory I ever visited." "Certainly a magnificent plant." "I had no idea that such a large biscuit factory existed in the Maritime Provinces." "This plant and equipment are something of which Canada may well be proud."

His Excellency followed every step of the process of biscuit making from the time the flour is brought from the big Flour Room until the biscuits, cooked to a nicety by natural gas, are packed into boxes ready to be shipped. He showed keen interest in the modern mixers, the breakers, the big ovens and the hundred and one machines which go to make the Marven Biscuit plant one of the largest and best equipped in Canada. His Excellency was delighted with the up-to-date method of accounting carried on in the Marven offices and his enthusiastic remarks left no room for doubt as to what he thought of the big Marven enterprise which has made such remarkable progress during the past few years. His Excellency was given many samples of WHITE LILY BISCUITS, which pleased the Royal palate.

The Marven Company have named in honor of the Duke of Devonshire a new line of cake which they are just putting on the market. The Devon Slab cakes, which include

The Devon Pound Cake, the Devon Sultana Cake, the Devon Genoa Cake and the Devon Fruit Cake, will bear lasting testimony to the visit of our Governor General to the Marven Plant.
