BIG ATTRACTION AT CAPITOL THEATRE

"Hollywood Hotel", the picture of the year, opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside. Critics say it is the most lavish and spectacular musical comedy of the 1935 season and last night's audience was not disappointed.

A Warner Bros. production starring Dick Powell, with those clever sisters Lola and Rosemary Lake in the leading feminine roles and a score of songsters and fun makers, it is a picture the entire family will enjoy.

The film story shows Powell as a Hollywood crooner who comes to Hollywood looking for a break, and gets involved in no end of unfortunate and humorous complications before he even gets started on his career.

Dick sings half a dozen new hit songs by the clever composing team of Whiting and Mercer, and there is plenty of other music by Benny Goodman and his famous swing band, and Raymond Paige's well-known orchestra. There is plenty of dancing, too, directed (as was the whole show) by Busby Berkeley.

It's a grand show, with plenty of music, romance and laughs, with all the added thrill of getting the inside of how a big air show is put on. Bring the family and enjoy yourself with the best production of the season.

The party secretary made his statements in an address to the Fascist youth in which he "edited or adhered to the proposition which fixes the bases of Fascist racism."

He referred to the professors report, most of which are in the Ministry of Popular Culture, which was published last Thursday. In it he stated that "Jews do not belong to the Italian race."

The report was regarded as orienting Italian policy still closed to Germany.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest properly. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks queer.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Substantially retires any liver ailment. 25c.

Kensington Team Scores 15-10 Victory Over Vitas in Heavy Hitting Contest

Kensington defeated the Vitas 15-10 last night in what was the most poorly played game of the year. A total of 25 runs were scored, of which the sum of five were of the earned variety.

The Vitas were committed to all and this was done in five innings of baseball. The game was won in the fourth frame when Kensington laid down a series of bunts which the Vitas could not handle in the field and the result was a 4-0 lead for Kensington.

The features of the contest were the hitting of Jay and pitching of the Vitas. The Pioneers have taken the hit in their hand but the hitting of Jay and pitching of the Vitas were the features of the contest.

Late Blight And Rot Of Potatoes

Late blight and rot of potatoes is so generally known that it is a topic of discussion in practically every potato farming district. The fact that many individuals supposedly informed on the subject do not recognize this disease is due to the fact that they do not pay adequate attention to spraying operations or perhaps disregard entirely the situation. Through spraying improves the keeping quality of potatoes and prevents practically 100 per cent of the loss due to late blight.

Cause And Symptoms

This troublesome potato disease usually makes its appearance about the last week of August or early in September. An outbreak reduces the yield and during favorable weather conditions may cause the complete destruction of an unsprayed field. In its early development blight appears on the leaves and stems as prominent water-soaked spots which turn brown, eventually causing the entire plant to wither and die. Under such conditions the lower side of the leaves by a greyish-white mildew causing the blight. These tiny bodies spread very quickly by sunshine or but time however, they germinate readily and penetrate healthy leaves thus starting a new infection. Any of these spores washed by rain through the soil may come into contact with the tubers, infecting them likewise and giving rise to the well-known late blight rot otherwise called late blight rot. It appears on the surface of the tubers as dark brown areas or patches which in the flesh as brownish or rusty discolorations extending inwards and becoming darker with age. Slight washing of any potato tubers are further attacked by soil organisms and destroyed by a wet rot. Under less favorable circumstances the typical dry rot penetrates no more than one-quarter of an inch.

Tubers in this condition may escape the notice of the pickers and be stored in storage where they will continue to rot. Furthermore, any living spores carried into storage on the tubers will cause infection, and in this way a considerable and considerable loss, especially under conditions of warm unventilated storage.

How Can Late Blight Be Controlled?

(1) Seed Selection. Avoid using infected tubers for seed as the fungus is carried by this means into the field, later originating an outbreak of blight.

(2) Type of Soil. Heavy, poorly drained soils are favorable to blight; a well-drained field of sandy loam is preferred, most suitable for this crop.

(3) Soil Covering. Cultivation methods should provide for a thick covering of soil. This measure requires the rows to be 1 1/2 to 3 feet apart.

(4) Proper Storage. Store the potatoes in a well ventilated and dry basement at a temperature not higher than 40 degrees Fahrenheit. The sprouting rot does not develop rapidly. The crop should first be allowed to sweat in a pile for a few days when all tubers showing rot should be removed. It is necessary to avoid covering the pitted crop with potato tops, for this practice exposes the crop to rot of late blight and early blight.

(5) Delay in digging. Inasmuch as late blight scores five in the soil for about ten days after the crop should not be lifted for a like period of time after the tops are dead or as long as weather conditions permit. In digging, the tubers should be washed and tubers already infected where they may be reaching the stage of decay should be discarded. In all probability tubers not infected at this time will be free from the disease.

(6) Destruction of Diseased Potato Tops. Killing the blighted potato tops at the close of the growing season is a distinct advantage and for this purpose use bluestone and water dissolved at the rate of 10 pounds to 40 gallons. One thorough application is sufficient. If Bordeaux mixture is used, it should be applied at the rate of 15 to 20 gallons per acre.

(7) Attention to the sprouting tubers. Particular care should be given to the sprouting tubers, particularly to prevent clogging, and study carefully the adjustments most conducive to thorough coverage of the potato foliage.

turn trip, thereby travelling a greater distance on the turn, thus sustaining the pressure. Sprayers capable of delivering a pressure of 150 pounds or more are most efficient and therefore highly desirable. This type of machine being best suited to spraying large areas. The small hand-pump or hand-drawn barrel type of 40 gallon capacity is suitable for small areas, but the pump must be capable of maintaining a high pressure. For garden plots hand-barrow sprayers holding 10 to 15 gallons have proven very satisfactory.
