MEDICAL SCIENCE DISCUSSION.—The members of the Kensington Home and School Society were privileged recently to hear the reading of a thesis on medicine and medical science embracing a great deal of information which can be applied by lay men and women outside the medical fraternity. This homily was originally prepared and read by Dr. Jardine to the assembly of the Medical Society of P. E. Island in Summerside, July 4th, 1934. It stressed the progress made in medical science—which has since then made greater advances than any other science. All the assertions made by the doctor are as applicable today as they were five years ago. A special vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Norman Macdonald (Principal), seconded by James L. Saunders, supported by James Pendergast.

New Conditions Call For Study Of Freight Rate

OTTAWA, May 16.—(CP)—A general review of Canada's railway freight rate structure on a Dominion-wide scale was suggested by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations in its report today after a brief review of complaints placed before it. Such a review would permit the various governments to present their claims to a body qualified to make appropriate awards and make it possible to deal with rates for water-borne traffic. The commission considered the present position for such review because of changed conditions "due to the increased range and effectiveness of alternative means of transportation and the increasing signs of a revival of national questioning as to the justice of the existing structure."

While Ontario, for example, contended before the commission that low Western grain rates were a burden on Eastern Canada, the commission stated that the record, which it reviewed, left undecided the question of the profitability or otherwise of the grain rates. A definite finding on this point would be a contribution to the process of adjustment, it added.

In adjustment of rates to meet revenue needs of the railways and the competition of other forms of transport, "apparent inequalities and injustices have arisen," the commission said.

As to the equalization of freight rates, it reported that its research staff conducted studies from which it concluded that "despite very special difficulties due to conditions of geography and terrain, the tendency of rate making has been and still is to lessen the regional differences and, what is also very important, to keep for Canada a position of relatively low freight rates."

Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, one of the commission's economic advisers, was quoted as believing that variations in regional freight rates cannot be entirely ironed out unless one jurisdiction is given control of all alternative forms of transportation; raising rates on basic commodities and rates generally in areas of great competition; meeting part of railway costs by taxation.

Gleanings From Tryon And Vicinity

The many friends of Miss Jean Delaney of North Tryon are delighted to see her home again after successfully undergoing an operation for appendicitis in the Prince County Hospital recently.

Mr. Kenneth MacDonald of the S. S. Charlottetown which is now undergoing repairs in St. John, N. B., spent the week and very pleasantly at his home in Tryon, returning to his duties Monday morning.

Miss Frances Ives of Charlottetown spent the week end at her home in North Tryon.

It was with deep regret that the people of this community learned of the death of Mrs. Harper, the mother of Mrs. (Rev.) Fred M. Young, Rev. Fred and Mrs. Young had almost completed packing prior to moving to Halifax, N. S., where Mr. Young had lately accepted a call when the word came that Mrs. Harper was seriously ill.

She lived only a few days after Mrs. Young's arrival. Mrs. Harper is very well known in this community as she resided here for some time with her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) P. A. FitzPatrick at the Parsonsage. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Young and the other members of the family in their great loss. Recreation centre was "booming" again on Saturday evening and the usual games were indulged in and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost.
