MCGILL STUDENTS TIPPING SIGNALS TO R. M. C.

MONCTON, Oct. 28.—That certain undergraduates are acting as scouts for the Royal Military College team and will go down to Kingston on Saturday to cheer for the Cadets against McGill, is the charge laid by The McGill Daily, the official organ of the students. The Daily says:—

"The names of several ex-Cadets who are attending the university have been mentioned in connection with the story, but, as far as can be learned, no definite charges have been made. The undergraduates in question are being placed in a most unfavorable light.

"It is alleged that these persons attend the McGill practices for the purpose of learning the signals and plays of the team. This information is sent to Kingston to be used by the soldiers in Saturday's game, according to information obtained from reliable sources. Strength is added to the story by the fact that the names of several ex-R.M.C. men who have been conspicuous at the practices lately, have been entered for berth reservations on the Kingston train to-night."

Should the story prove to be true, it will be the first time on record that anything of this nature has been attempted in the history of Intercollegiate football and will probably cause considerable trouble. Just before going to press it was learned that anything of this nature has been but a severe punishment to the alleged offenders should their guilt be established.

ROUGH SCHOOLING

(From the London Chronicle)

A century ago some of the boys at Prince Henry's new school had to undergo a rough training. An old Etonian who left the school in 1811 describes his experiences there as "worse than that many inmates of a workhouse or jail. To get up at 5 on freezing winter mornings; to sweep their own floors and make their own beds; to go two-bytwo to the pump for a scanty wash; to eat no mouthful of food until 9 a.m.; to live on an endless round of mutton, potatoes and beer, none of them too plentiful or too good; to sleep in a dismal cell without chair or table. Such was the lot of boys whose parents could not pay for a private room. Some of these underwent privations that might have broken down a cabin boy, and would be thought inhuman if inflicted o[illegible] slave.

INTERESTING MEETING—At the home of Mrs. J. S. Morris, New stead, October 17th, the Milton Women's Institute had a very interesting and instructive meeting. The vice-president presided and the meeting opened with singing. The supervisor gave a demonstration on pastry also a short talk by which she explained the method very clearly. Lemon filling was also demonstrated by two of the members present. Afternoon tea was served by the hostess. The meeting then adjourned to meet November 12th at two p.m. at Mrs. Pope Hooper's: Subject Biscuit Making.

ANOTHER STORM.— The Central part of the Island was again visited by a heavy rainfall on Sunday last which made the ground very wet and heavy for digging potatoes. Altho quite a number have finished their crops yet by far the greater majority of them have only just begun. Those who had their potatoes killed early by the frost got them out early for it is said that once the stalk is killed, the growth is stopped. Altho so late in the season there is also a lot of grain out in stook and one man at Bedford has all his crop about 800 stooks, out and quite a number of other people are nearly as unfortunate. The cause of late harvesting in these cases is caused by land being so low that they could not get to work until late in the spring and the first of the summer was so poor for vegetation the crop was at a stand still for a month, leaving it late in growth gnd late in ripening. However the majority of the farmers have their crop safely housed and there will be full and plenty on the Island for every one.—S

POPCORN DAINTIES FOR COMING LONG WINTER EVENINGS

There are two ways to pop corn, the right way and the wrong way. In a farmers' bulletin, just issued by the department of agriculture, C.P. Hartley, in charge of corn investigations, points out the right way. He says, first of all, that for good results in poping the main requisites are good corn and a good hot fire. He outlines the following precautions that they may be observed to good advantage:

"Do not make too much popcorn at one time, not more than enough to cover barely the bottom of the popper one kernel deep.

"Hold the popper high enough above the fire or heat to keep from burning the kernels or scorching them too quickly. The right degree of heat for best results in popping should make good corn begin to pop in one and a half minutes. This should give the maximum volume increase in popping. If it begins to pop in less time, or if a large quantity of corn is put into the popper, it will not pop up so crisp and flaky. If it takes much longer for the poping to begin, the heat is probably not great enough for the popcorn is of poor quality, or there may be other interfering causes, such as drafts of cold air.

"To preserve the extreme whiteness of the popped kernels, the flame must be kept from striking them. This can be done by placing a plate of iron or a stove lid between the corn and the fire if a wire popper is used or by using a pan popper, if poping directly over a flame.

"If the pop corn is in first-class plied, one pint of the unpopped corn condition and the heat properly applied, one pint of the unpopped corn should give 15 to 20 pints of popped corn."

Popcorn, the government expert points out, is usually popped to be eaten at once, or may be made into popcorn balls, crackerjack or other forms of popcorn confection. "A common way for preparing popcorn," he goes on to say, "is by popping and sprinkling it with salt, or adding salt and melted butter. Sometimes the popped corn is eaten with milk and sugar, like a breakfast food. The parched or unpopped kernels, when ground, make a very good breakfast food for eating with cream and sugar or boiling with sugar and serving like a meal. Some popcorn vendors make a palatable preparation by popping the corn in melted butter and lard, with salt added."

The following recipes have given good results:

Chocolate popcorn—Two teacupfuls of white sugar, half cupful of corn syrup, two ounces of chocolate and one cup of water. Put these ingredients into a kettle and cook them uncold water. Pour over four quarts of crisp, freshly popped corn and stir well to insure the uniform coating of the kernels.

Sugar Popcorn—Making a syrup by boiling together two cupfuls of of water. Boil until the syrup by boiling together two cupfuls of granulated sugar and one cupful of water. Boil until the syrup springs from the spoon or harden when dropped into cold water. Pour over six quarts of freshly popped corn and stir well.

Popcorn balls—One pint of syrup, one pint of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of better and one teaspoonful of vinegar. Cook till the syrup hardens when dropped into cold water. Remove to back of stove and add one-half teaspoonful of hot water and then pour the hot syrup over four quarts of freshly popped corn, stirring till each kernel is well coated, when it can be molded into balls or into any desired form."

Nearly everybody knows of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles or hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arises from this ailment that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure. This accounts for the enormous sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. R. J. Evans, 187 Munro street, Toronto, writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. U. S. FLEET OFF FOR THE MEDITERRANEAN.

HAMPTON ROADS, Va., Oct. 27.—Messengers bearing the dignity and power of the United States, nine monster battleships Saturday took their leave of the shores of America for the Mediterranean. Grim with their dull sea cloaks, the ponderous war machines nodded a final farewell on the swelling tide of Hampton Roads while the captains of the fleet, headed by Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, received their last work of instructions and farewell from Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Roosevelt.

The assistant secretary, representing the navy department and the president, came down the Potomac on the Dolphin and took his place at the head of the double column of battleships swinging an anchor in horseshoe formation. From the flagship Wyoming at the head of the column to the bulky auxiliaries lying below all ships were in holiday dress.

From the Wyoming out across the fair way swung the Utah, Florida, Arkansas, Delaware, Vermont, Connecticut, Kansas and Ohio and further down in a group the auxiliaries Celtic, Solace, Cyclops, Orion and Jason. The battleships were the pick of the navy.
