

Bond Brokers Are Sentenced

(Canadian Press) TORONTO, Ont., June 3.—H. H. Thomas, former executive of the G. A. Simson Company, who was convicted along with F. G. Johnston and J. E. Clark by a jury under Mr. Justice Sedgewick in the Assize yesterday, on a charge of publishing false prospectuses, was today sentenced to one year less one day in the Ontario Reformatory. The former officials of the now defunct bond house were charged with publishing false prospectuses and conspiracy to defraud the public. After an hour and a half deliberation the Assize jury found the accused guilty of the former count and acquitted them on the more serious charge of conspiracy. Following the conviction, Johnston, who was president of the Company, was sentenced to three years in Portmouth Reformatory while Clark, the vice-president, was sentenced to two and a half years. As Thomas was a diabetic he was ordered to be kept in hospital until his Lordship postponed the sentence until today.

FIVE CASES

We beg to report that we have examined the Court House and Jail and find the premises in good condition and clean. We would recommend that the Jury room occupied by the Provincial Police should have the walls whitened. We recommend that the law obliging motorists to stop at railway crossings should be enforced by the authorities, also the law requiring motorists to dim or reflect their lights when meeting at night. Driving with one head light should also be prevented as far as possible. Signed for self and fellows: R. O. Hayes, Foreman, Grand Jury. The Court congratulated the jury on the capable manner in which they had performed their work and were then discharged.

Criminal Docket

The docket was as follows: Criminal cases: The King vs George Gallant, Daniel Gallant and Roy Grady, of Summerside, charged with robbery with violence. The King vs Frank Richards, charged with shop breaking. There were four separate charges in this case, namely the store of G. A. Shelton, Tignish, on January 2nd, 1931; store of G. A. Shelton on January 18, 1931; store of Mrs. Ethel M. Suddsbury, Tignish, on February 2nd, 1931; store of J. H. Myrick and Co. Tignish, on February 6th, 1931. Civil cases: The King (on information of W. Keith Matheson) vs Lewis Christopher and V. L. Lowther.

Civil Docket

Raymond Arsenault vs Adeline Gamin, appeal from County Court.

Prisoner Arraigned

Frank Richards was arraigned and on request of the Attorney-General, Mr. L. G. Lewis was appointed by the court to represent the prisoner during his trial. Richards pleaded not guilty to all four charges. The three prisoners Daniel and George Gallant and Roy Grady were held called and the following charge read to them: The Jurors for our Lord the King upon their oath present that upon the public highway, at St. Eleanor's, Prince County on the 8th of April, 1931, George Gallant, Daniel Gallant and Roy Grady with and by means of violence then and there used to and against the person of Percy Gallant to prevent resistance, did violently steal in the presence of the said Percy Gallant and against the said Percy Gallant's will, certain goods, the property of the said Percy Gallant, to wit, one high rig, one bag and five gallons of rum in tin containers, and that at the time they so robbed the said Percy Gallant as aforesaid, they, the said George Gallant, Daniel Gallant and Roy Grady did use personal violence to the said Percy Gallant. All three prisoners pleaded not guilty to the charges. At this session of the Court, Herbert E. Heustis of Alberton on motion of Mr. Heath Strong, K. C., was appointed Commissioner for taking affidavits in the Supreme Court for Prince County. The Court adjourned until Thursday at 11 a.m.

Tariff Revision

While no general revision of the tariff has been undertaken, Mr. Bennett announced changes affecting some 200 rate-breaking items, some of them sweeping in their nature. One striking announcement was that the British preferential rates are affected in only a few instances. Alterations in rates are confined, almost entirely to the intermediate and general tariffs. The outstanding feature of the budget is its fulfillment of the Premier's promise to fight tariff with tariff. Of all budgets ever presented by any Minister of Finance in Canada this one is probably the most determined challenge to countries that impose high imposts against Canada's exports.

"Unfortunate Perhaps"

"It is an unfortunate thing perhaps," the Prime Minister said, "but it is true that all the countries of the world are now protected countries and Canadian products may find access to their markets only by paying very high tolls. Can this country afford to be an unprotected country," he asked, "against the competition of the protected countries of the world?"

Of the thousand items in the Canadian tariff schedules some 200 are substantially raised. So substantial is the increase that no doubt remains that Canada has armed itself against encroachments in trade by foreign countries.

A readjustment of automobile duties is provided. On the lower-priced cars—up to $1,200 in value—there is no change in duties. Above $1,200 and up to $2,100 the general tariff is advanced from 27 1/2 to 30 per cent. On the most expensive cars, ranging above $2,100, the intermediate and general rates are increased to 30 and 40 per cent, respectively. Used automobiles are prohibited entry into Canada unless they come in as settlers' effects or travelers' vehicles. In order to encourage the manufacture of automobile parts, the drawbacks of customs duties on many of these articles are reduced.

Old Age Pensions

During the course of his address Mr. Bennett announced the Government would assume 75 per cent, of the cost of old age pensions. On the basis of the present volume of business, Mr. Bennett estimated that the additional imposts will yield $78,175,000 in a 12-month period. Total estimated expenditures for the fiscal year 1931-32 were placed by the Prime Minister at $410,273,000 and estimated revenues at $403,250,000.

Duty On Coal

Perhaps the most far-reaching tariff change was that of coal. Anthracite, which formerly came into Canada free, and this country brought in last year a total of $28,000,000, now carries a duty of 40 cents a ton, when coming from the United States, from where most of this type of coal has been purchased in the past. The rate on bituminous coal is increased from 50 cents to 75 cents a ton. The drawback of 99 per cent. when the bituminous coal is used for smelting however, remains. The rate on charcoal has also been increased to $7.50 a ton. Coke which used to come in free under the general tariff now meets a rate of $1 a ton.

Periodicals

Imposition of a specific duty of 15 cents per pound under the general tariff on magazines and periodicals, unless specially exempted by order-in-council, was announced by Mr. Bennett. In this connection the Finance Minister remarked that hundreds of foreign publications entered Canada, some of which, at least, it would be better if people did not read.

FIVE YEARS

sociation and the Government and people of these three provinces owe a very deep debt of gratitude to the Health Committee of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, and particularly to Mr. Gordon Ramsay of the Canada Life, Mr. Reid of the London Life, and Mr. Smith of the Confederation Life Association. (3) We have pleasure in reviewing the decreased death rate in each of the three provinces during the five years we have operated as compared with the five years before our committee, and its programme, was functioning. New Brunswick's drop per 100,000 population, averaging these annual rates for five years, shows two and a half times that occurring over the same period in all Canada, and Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island four and a half times that of all Canada. It seems reasonable for us to be pleased with this comparison.

(4) We are informed more municipalities are paying for the institutional care of their citizens suffering from tuberculosis.

(5) We are inclined to think the stage of the disease in those cases seeking admission for treatment to institutions is less advanced than it was previous to 1926. Probably the chest diagnostic services which we have been able to augment, have been the helpful factor in this most important improvement.

(6) We have seen the nucleus of two new treatment institutions opened, one in New Brunswick at Bathurst, and one at Charlottetown. We understand money has been provided for the provision of beds in Cape Breton, and additional beds at Kentville. Of course the enlargement at River Glade and the new children's building at Saint John have been completed during this programme.

(7) The Commission formed in Nova Scotia, after the inauguration of this financial assistance, seems permanently established. New Brunswick is planning an effort to organize permanently and has in hand a survey this year similar to their very successful undertaking of last year, and Prince Edward Island is completing the equipment of a rural and urban united public health service for its entire population, assisted financially by the Health Committee of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association.

I am very proud of our stewardship and have to thank you collectively and individually for the splendid co-operation which has made this progress possible.

Titles Conferred By His Majesty

(Canadian Press) LONDON, June 2.—Sir Edward Elgar's achievements for modern British music are recognized in the King's birthday honors list by the conferment of a Baronetcy. The list, issued tonight, on the eve of His Majesty's 66th birthday anniversary, contains four Baronetcies and 25 Knighthoods, but does not confer any Peerages. There had been some expectation the Prime Minister would recommend some persons for elevation to the Peerage in order to strengthen Labor's hand in the House of Lords, but this was not fulfilled. The Baronetcies are, Sir Edward Elgar, Sir Thomas Jaffrey, consulting actuary of the Aberdeen Savings Bank and founder of a Chair of political Economy at Aberdeen University; Sir Herbert Gibson, prominent resident of Buenos Aires, who took a leading part in organizing the British Empire Trade Exposition there, and Phillip Henry Devitt, chairman of Devitt and Moores Oceantrading Ships, Limited, and founder of the Nautical School at Pangbourne.

Regular Monthly Meeting Catholic Women's League

HIS MOST REVEREND EXCELLENCY RT. REV. J. A. O'SULLIVAN, ABBOT OF THE MEETING —THE COMING CONVENTION

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in Rosary Hall last evening, and was largely attended.

The meeting was opened in the usual way, the prayer being said by His Most Rev. Excellency, Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, who later addressed the meeting.

A short musical program was much enjoyed and consisted of a violin solo by Mr. Alfred McKearney and vocal solos by Mrs. W. J. McDonald and Miss Nora Murray.

The business meeting was called to order by the President and satisfactory reports were read from the different committees. The Convener of the Convention, Mrs. W. J. McIntyre, gave a detailed report of the Convention arrangements to date. It was decided to hold a cake sale Saturday, June 6th, and members were asked to contribute generously.

The President, Mrs. F. J. Casey, then extended the greetings of the Sub-Division to His Excellency, and assured him of the cooperation of the League in the work of the Diocese.

Mrs. W. J. McIntyre, 1st Vice President of the national board, then spoke as a representative of that body, and welcomed His Excellency on their behalf.

His Excellency then addressed the meeting and thanked the League for their cordial welcome and for their assistance in making his home coming so pleasant. He congratulated them upon their membership in the C. W. L. and upon the manner in which this meeting was conducted.

He spoke of the great work that the League was doing nationally, as well as the good they were doing in their own branch.

He spoke of the coming Convention and he was sure it would be a very successful one, and would compare most favorably with any held in the past.

He assured the members of his hearty co-operation at all times, and thanked them for their pledge of loyal service in the work of the Church in this Diocese.

MONTREAL, June 2.—(By The Canadian Press)—The problem of the physically handicapped child must be dealt with in a broader way and seen as the task of fitting the handicapped for a useful place in society rather than a matter of medical or surgical treatment, said Miss Charlotte Whitton, executive director of the Canadian Council of Child and Family Welfare, speaking recently before the Kiwanis Club here. Due to wrong emphasis, she said, the handicapped child is identified narrowly with the crippled child whose problem is only part of the whole.

All work for handicapped or underprivileged children is based on two principles, said Miss Whitton; first that every child has a right to responsible guardianship during minority, and second that the responsibilities of this guardianship are best discharged by the child's parents.

Physically handicapped children include not only the crippled but those with defects of sight, hearing, or speech, she said who will suffer from impaired efficiency unless their defects are corrected.

Welfare work has undergone considerable change she stated, in that emphasis is being placed on preventive work and on the training and placement in society of those whose handicaps have been completely or partially removed. There must be a change in public sentiment also, she added, for although there is abundant sympathy for the crippled or handicapped child there is but little for the same individual as an adult.

"The ideal of this branch of work," she concluded, "must be the effective training, and placing in normal life of those who would otherwise be a burden on the State."

STYLE CHATS

I suppose by now you have gleaned that we are on the brink of the big "give-out" season, when many step down the postman make without delivering one of those nassy old wedding invitations which means that you and I must give and give until it hurts. I don't think we should give to the extent of a large great big pain, but certainly to a little hurt.

And assuming that you are just as single-track as I am, I'm going to concentrate today on selling you just one bill. Let's don't give candlesticks this season! I simply refuse to give candlesticks another lily-white ticket of endorsement again this June. (And don't ever think I won't have all the candlestick markers in the world down on my head for this edict.)
