THE UNITED STATES ELECTIONS TOMORROW.

Tomorrow, Tuesday will be election day throughout the United States. That is, a new House of Representatives will be chosen for the nation, and many of the States but not all, will at the same time choose their Legislatures and chief State officials.

The House of Representatives to be chosen will consist of 393 members. Of these the New York Herald says the Republicans are reasonably sure of 182 and the Democrats of 111, leaving 120 doubtful. Be that as it may the Democrats are more hopeful and the Republicans more doubtful of securing a majority in the new House than they have been for a good while past.

The State elections, some of which have been already held, are chiefly of national significance because the State Legislatures elect the federal Senators, about thirty of whom—a third of the entire Senate—will be chosen this year. It means much in that regard when a State Legislature chooses a Republican for a Democratic majority as Maine recently did and as other States may do, or vice versa, because in this indirect way the political complexion of the Senate may be also changed.

The element of doubt in regard to the result of tomorrow's election is involved in the difficulty of estimating the repairs to the steamers was mentioned.

MR. HUGHES' EXPLANATION.

Mr. Hughes, ex-M. P., for King's County, in a letter to The Patriot on Friday last, explained his connection with the patronage of the winter steamers. He denies that he was "a party with Mr. McDonald (of Pictou) or anybody else to any agreement that would have the effect indicated by The Patriot's editorial."

Mr. Hughes objected decidedly and in the end a compromise was effected, which Mr. Hughes sets forth as follows:

"It was to the effect that while the steamers would be plying between Charlottetown and Pictou that half of the supplies would be procured at Pictou and the other half at Charlottetown, and while plying between Pictou and Georgetown, half of the supplies would be procured at Pictou and half at Georgetown; and instead of Mr. McDonald getting the privilege of appointing half of the men on each boat, he got permission to appoint only seven of the crew, namely three men on each boat and a carpenter on one of them out of a total crew for the two boats of between 80 and 90 men. Nothing whatever about

MAKES HAIR GROW

Hughes has an invigorator that will grow hair or money back. The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c.

"A good complexion is enhanced—a poor one beautified by the use of Supreme Toilet Cream now so popular in this city. It is elegantly perfumed, and it is a perfect pleasure to use it. Grand for tan or freckles. Price 50c. a large jar. The MacErimon Drug Co., Cor. Great George & Kent Streets. Mfrs.

"M. Silverston, the well reliable expert in eye testing and fitting glasses, has returned from his usual trips to the country and will take charge of the Optical Parlor of the firm of Silverston & Epstein during the coming winter. 11-34r1w.

"The 'Paton' interchangeable collar, right both ways," met with popular approval last fall and winter. Raincoats and overcoats with one way, two ways or four ways, are ready with pleasure. We carry the largest range of men's, youths' and boys' overcoats in our city. Paton & Co. 11-34r1f.

ing the strength of the Insurgent movement within the Republican party. In part this movement is a revolt against the tyranny of the party machine and the party bosses, while largely it is a protest against the high tariff and the failure of those in control to reduce the tariff as they had promised. The work done on the tariff is wholly unsatisfactory, and has operated in favor of the manufacturers rather than the consumers, the latter getting no appreciable relief thereby.

President Taft was elected under pledge to promote tariff reform downwards, but had accepted the changes made and more recently in view of the insurgent protests has been energetically working for reciprocity with Canada, hoping that the electors would accept it as a fulfillment in part at least of his pledges. With that in view delegates were sent to Ottawa last week. This effort may count for something with the insurgents along the border line, but will have but small effect in the interior. On the whole a pretty stiff contest tomorrow between the opposing parties is expected, while the chances of success for one party or the other are in doubt.

the repairs to the steamers was mentioned.

Mr. Hughes argues that this compromise was "in our favor." It can hardly be construed as in favor of Charlottetown, as this port could thereunder be only entitled to supply the steamers during the very brief time which in those days they plied to and from Charlottetown to Pictou. Last winter, however, this port was served directly for a much longer period. Mr. Hughes appears to have done the best he could for Georgetown, with very scant regard for this port, and covers his failure to do more by the statement that "The Department strongly insisted" on the recognition of Mr. McDonald's claim to half the patronage of the winter boats.

Mr. Hughes deserves credit for making so frank and full a statement, but we fail to see how The Patriot can regard it as quite satisfactory to either this port or to the Province at large.

THE CROPPED-OUT FARM.

In the eastern part of Canada, we have long been familiar with that class of farming which takes all that is possible out of the soil without restoring thereto the elements of fertility in like proportion. Hence the many "cropped-out farms." This is not surprising here, after a century of bad or indifferent farming. It is, however, somewhat surprising to learn of like conditions already existing in the new Provinces of the Northwest, and yet such appears to be the case. Senator Melvin Jones, who is also the President of the Massey Harris Company, of Toronto, in an interview with The Globe, has this to say:

"No one could visit the Northwest," he said, "without being impressed by the fact that sufficient attention is not paid to nursing the land. You cannot always be taking from the land and giving nothing back. . . . If Canada is to maintain her position, more attention must be given to farming in the West. Something must be put back on the land before it is starved into a condition that will prevent the production of

Wet Proof Footwear

This is the time of year we like to talk to you on footwear ideas. The cold wet weather that is fast approaching carries with it, the real rheumatic germs that will soon take hold to those damp and wet feet.

For men, women, girls, boys and children, we produce the footwear that will keep all healthy. Our own make made from the best rep and grain leathers is our fort and just now we are well stocked with all the different varieties.

In rubber goods we carry the "Daisy" the kind that dressy folk wear.

the best quality of wheat. The western farmer cannot take from it year after year, without nourishment or rest and expect to get the highest quality of production." In another paragraph Senator Jones tells that the farmers of southern Alberta and southern Manitoba depended upon the rain to carry them through and this year it had failed them.

THE CLERGY WERE ACTIVE.

A special telegram to the Toronto Globe from Victoriaville on the eve of the recent by-election in Drummond and Arthabaska tells that "the activity of the clergy has been most marked. The cures of every parish have been very strong in their support of the Nationalist forces and their antagonism to the Laurier Government. This is their reprisal for what they call their betrayal on the Manitoba school question and the later difficulties in Saskatchewan and Alberta. What the effect will be remains to be seen, but at every meeting the clergy have been conspicuous by their applause of the Nationalist speakers."

From this it would appear that another element besides the navy question entered into the contest, and one which possibly accounts in part for the reticence of the voters before polling day. It was remarked that seldom if ever in a Canadian election were there so large a proportion of the electors who stood unpledged and kept their own counsel as to how they intended to vote. This large silent vote apparently turned the scale in the contest.

The Dominion Parliament was called to meet at Ottawa on Thursday, November 17, which is now but ten days in the future. In these days the sessions of Parliament have grown long and arduous. The four sessions of the Parliament elected in 1904 averaged 177 days, or close upon six months each, the last and longest covering 235 days from opening to prorogation inclusive.

It is intimated from Ottawa that a German firm is likely to get the contract for the new Quebec bridge. The work is a most difficult one, requiring the highest engineering skill, great constructive resources and the strongest and most perfect material. It is most earnestly to be desired that whoever undertakes the work shall carry it through successfully. If the Germans do it, at a price lower than others in a competition open to all the world, it will be a splendid advertisement for Germany.

The illness of Senator Robertson, has been a source of deep regret to his many friends throughout the Province, who will be pleased to learn of his improved condition as reported by later accounts. It is forty years since Dr. Robertson was first elected to the Legislative Assembly in this Province where he sat for many years and was a member of the Haythorne and the Davis Governments. He also served two terms in the House of Commons—1882-91 before being appointed to the Senate in 1902.

A remarkable but not altogether improbable statement was made the other day by Col. Jasper Brady, one of the four officers sent by the United States to Cuba to investigate the destruction of the battleship Maine. In the course of a lecture in Kansas City Col. Brady said that Jose Zavaldra, who was an electrician at Morro Castle, and a native Cuban threw the switch that exploded the mine that sent the Maine to the bottom. Zavaldra later was shot by general Blanco, he said.

More than once or twice in our Island story it has occurred that we were enjoying green fields and mild weather when countries far to the south of us were buried in snow. This has again happened. Think of central Pennsylvania being now under fifteen
