HOME FOR BURIAL—The remains of the late Joseph M. Trainor, of Johnston's River, who died in Boston on the 19th, arrived in the city Tuesday night accompanied by his mother. The deceased left here about two weeks ago to undergo an operation in a Boston Hospital, but owing to his condition the operation was not performed.

THE LATE MRS. R. A. BRUCE—Relatives of this city received by telegram the sad news of the death of her residence, (March 30th, 1924), of Mrs. R. A. Bruce, (nee Miss Minnie Bradshaw), daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradshaw Bedeque, a member of the Baptist Church of this town, grand daughter of Evangelist Isaac Bradshaw, an educated public spirited gentleman, who moved from Sackville, N. B., with his wife, Sybil Emerson to Bedeque, P. E. Island, where he built the first Baptist church of Bedeque when churches were formed in different sections of the Island.

N.S.A.C. CLOSED—On the afternoon of the 16th, the "A" or professional course at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College closed, six students in the senior class receiving their diplomas. The formal closing of the college took place two weeks ago, at the time when the "B" or farm class finished its work. In the absence of Principal Cumby, through illness, Vice-Principal H. W. Smith presided over a somewhat informal closing. A short address was given by Prof. J. M. Trueman, conveying the congratulations of the staff to the class on its uniformly high record, and assuring the boys that the members of the faculty will follow their future careers with interest and take pride in their successes. Among those receiving diplomas was Mr. Gordon Carr Warren, of Charlottetown.—Truro News

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try taking acid all restorative aids and instead get from a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

POLICE COURT—At the Police Court yesterday morning the adjourned assault case of Smith vs. McKenna was further adjourned until next Monday. A number of boys appeared charged with corner loafing. Five were each fined $1.00 each and three were dismissed. The magistrate stated that strict orders had been given the Police officers to put a stop to corner loafing.

ISLANDERS DEAD—A Correspondent from Boston writing April 20th says. Two death of former Charlottetown, P. E. I. people are reported here. Mrs Catherine McKay, the wife of Alexander McKay of Charlottetown, died at Somerville a Boston suburb. Death took place at 49 Trull St., where she had been living. On the same day Mrs. Catherine Mayhew, the wife of George Mayhew of Charlottetown, P. E. I., died in Dorchester a part of Boston. She passed away at 80 Mascot Street. Both ladies were well known in and lived at Charlottetown and elsewhere in P. E. I. before coming to Boston.—B.

AN EARLY FISH—The first fish story of the season has been told by Charlie MacLaughlin, who is now travelling for J. R. Brander, Ltd., says an Sackville Exchange. Last week Mr. MacLaughlin was stalled in the ice for three days, between Cape Tormentine and Borden. The boat after great exertion managed to reach the far side, and the travellers bordered the train. Just on the other side of Emerald Junction is an old mill dam—and when the train stopped opposite the mill, two men were fishing in a small space of open water. One chap pulled out a ten inch trout, and Mr. MacLaughlin grew excited. A few minutes later and the other angler's rod went double, while his line whistled through the water. The disciple of Walton, leaned forward, bent his neck, and endeavored to sling the trout to the high heavens. As it happened the trout was so big that he broke the hook. However the travellers had a good glimpse of the fish as the angler had him three or four feet out of the water, before the hook snapped. And as Mr. MacLaughlin says, "We were nearly a hundred yards away from the mill, but even at that distance the trout seemed to be over twenty inches long"—and some un-sympathetic party murmured, "Perhaps it was a fresh water cod."

IN MEMORIAM

ALICE W. C. CROCKETT

As Easter Day dawned there passed most peacefully into the Paradise of God the soul of Alice Willimina Couch Crockett, eldest daughter of Mr. J. T. Crockett, Merchant of this City.

Her life was one of great suffering and under the best medical advice steps were taken which were expected to relieve her condition, but her physique was not equal to the strain it was called upon to bear.

The funeral service was held at St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday April 22nd, and was very largely attended by many of the leading citizens, friends and relatives of the deceased lady.

The interment took place at Sherwood Cemetery in the family burial plot.

Though of a very delicate constitution and of an extremely reserved disposition her genuine character called forth the respect and affection of all who knew her.

"She is with God; and there is less of pleasure left us here below, And more to make our happiness In that fair land to which we go."

Minard's Liniment For Sprains
Tomb Which Wouldn't Be Photographed
(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, April 22—M. Oesendowski a well-known mineralogist and authority on Central Asia who is now a professor on the Polish General Staff and who during the war was sent on a special investigating expedition into Mongolia, relates some of the most astonishing tales ever heard which certainly prove—if they are to be accepted as literal, mysterious—that fact which is much stranger than fiction. They are entirely concerned with his experiences and adventures in the wildest and least-known parts of Siberia.

He tells of the extraordinary plants and creatures found north of the Altai Range, Larantals are common. When he and a friend were bathing in a salt lake, his friend called to him: "Get out as quick as you can!" With some reluctance I followed him. I soon made out an immense tarantula spider walking with its long hairy legs on the water. It threatened to advance its feelers and carried its head high. It passed fairly close to me with the warlike expression of a battleship with all its guns run out.

M. Oesendowski declares that the sheep in the worst foe of this high altitude.

Putting its tongue right into the spider's hole, it waits until the confident lord of battle fastens the warm tongue with teeth and hairy feet; then, with a visible appreciation of the agreeable sensation, the sheep closes its eyes with enjoyment and allows the angry tarantula as we swallow a Blue Point or Lynnhaven, only without lemon.

He also tells us that innkeepers on the Bokhara route keep "tarantula wine" with which "dope" the travellers whom they rob. It is made from tarantulas maddened before death, soaked in alcohol. A few drops added to any drink cause almost immediate faintness, which passes after some hours, but leaves, however, in the victim a form of madness of long duration, loss of memory, and incoherent movements and words. The victim cannot remember what befell him or where he last was.

Another strange tale is of a dolmen—or monument—of sixteen big columns which refused to be photographed.

I made two photographs from different sides of the dolmen. The same evening developed by negatives. How astonished I was to find nothing on the plates! In the morning I went to the dolmen to try again, having loaded my camera with fresh plates from a new box. On developing I found nothing on the plates.

This dolmen, he learnt later, was the haunted tomb of one Abuk Kham. He made another attempt on it and took three photographs, but when on his way to develop them he was flung from his wagon. I lighted on a heap of stones and smashed my photographic apparatus so completely that the lens and the cases were reduced to fragments.
