ISOBEL ELAINE WILSON

Friends in Alberton and throughout the Province heard with sincere regret of the death of Isobel Elaine Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Wilson and the late John A. Wilson, which occurred at her home on Saturday, April 19th.

Born in Edmonton, Alberta, she came with her parents to Alberton in 1922. She attended the Alberton High School and later Prince of Wales College, Mt. Allison Ladies College and Mt. Allison University; always a clever student, she won the Governor-General's Medal for proficiency in High School, and the Gold Medal for the highest aggregate at Mt. Allison Ladies College. She graduated from Mt. Allison University with her B. A. Degree in 1934. Always of a sweet and lovable disposition she showed courage and cheerfulness during her long illness of over four years, part of which was spent in Saranac, N. Y. She passed away peacefully early Saturday morning, her death came as a shock to relatives and friends but she will live on in the hearts of those who knew her, for no one could know her and not be benefited by the tranquil peace which radiated her life. Surviving are her Mother and her twin sister, Marion Jean Wilson, R. N., of Charlottetown, who came home on Saturday. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock on Monday, service being conducted by the Rev. M. K. Chasman of the United Church, assisted by the Rev. S. Davies of the Anglican Church, interment being in the Anglican Cemetery, where she rests beside her father, who pre-deceased her just eight years ago.

The pallbearers were: Hilton Barbour, Lloyd Wikke, Herbert Matthews, Heber Corbett, Bruce MacKendrick and Heber Hardy.

Relates Facts With Figures Canada At War

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 25 — (CP) — A misconception, if not an abysmal ignorance of Canada's war effort, exists in the United States. The average American has no idea of the extent and diversity of Canada's contribution to the fight for freedom, freedom on this continent as well as Europe.

To fill this gap, to provide a comprehensive record of Canada at War, John W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, has edited "Canada Fights." An American Democracy at War, which has been published in the United States by Farrar and Rinehart, Inc. It is the joint work of five Canadian newspapermen, Grant Dexter, Bruce Hutchinson, George V. Ferguson, B. T. Richardson, Mr. Dafoe and Dr. Percy Corbett of McGill University.

It is a storehouse of facts and figures relating to Canada's war effort presented in a way to appeal to American readers. Indeed, the average Canadian will find in it many things he never knew about his own country's war effort or knew only in a sketchy sort of way, things that should fill him with pride.

MONTHLY FINANCING OF MOTOR VEHICLE SALES IN MARCH

Financing of sales of new and used motor vehicles in Canada during March exceeded by 25 per cent in number and 38 per cent in amount of financing the number and amount of vehicles financed in the same month a year ago. Volume for March showed 36,896 units financed for $7,490,285, compared with 12,682 vehicles for $6,410,876 in March last year.

New vehicle financing was higher by 15 per cent in number and 29 per cent in amount, 4,028 new models being financed for $3,332,649 in March, 1941, compared with 3,908 units for $2,590,162 in the same month a year ago. Most substantial gains were shown for eastern sections of the country, although volume was higher in British Columbia also.

Increases in used vehicle financing amounted to 29 per cent in number and 46 per cent in amount of financing, 11,812 vehicles being financed for $4,127,736 in March, as against 9,174 units for $2,920,514 in the same month last year. All regions of the country recorded gains over March last year.

For Information

A preface supplied by Mr. Dafoe says the book was written "primarily to meet what is known to be a desire on the part of many citizens of the United States for information, comprehensive and up-to-date, about the participation by Canada, and American democracy, in the war in defence of the democratic way of life; and also about Canada as joint protector with the United States of the integrity and independence of the North American continent against the designs of totalitarian powers."

The book starts with the Ogdensburg meeting in August, 1940, of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt, when the Canadian-American Joint Defence Agreement was signed, and shows, in the light of that historic pronouncement, the defence of the North American continent. It goes further than that; it shows that Canada is making a tremendous contribution, in blood, treasure and sweat, to the defence of the political and social principles that have made North America what it is.

MISCELLANEOUS IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTS

The nation's iron and steel industry turns out an immense variety of products which are everywhere in evidence. We have ornamental and architectural ironwork, steel forgings, safes, vaults and fittings, railway track equipment, mining machinery and grinding balls, steel wool and scouring pads, fireplace furnishings, horseshoes, horseshoe nails and nails, rivets and bolts, gun steel, furniture, chains, foundry chaplets, and a host of other things.

More than half of the firms in this industry are located in Ontario, and most of the rest in Quebec. Altogether there are 125 firms. The value of products according to the latest values available is over $3 million, which is more than double the value in each of the several previous years.

In Memoriam

GEORGE LESLIE

Another long and useful earthly career has come to a close in the death of George Leslie, who passed away at his farm home near the village of Morell on the night of April 5th, 1941.

He was the last surviving member of the family of the late Andrew Leslie, a farmer, and Susan Perkins, and was born at Souris West in the year 1859.

For several years of his early manhood Mr. Leslie was sales clerk with McDonald and Westaway, a former Georgetown mercantile firm, and with Matthew and McLean, Souris. While in the employ of these concerns he was frequently entrusted with the responsibilities of supercargo on schooners carrying produce to the Mainland. He was afterwards engaged in coastal trade as owner and master of the Azalia and other vessels. Among other important positions held at different periods of his life was that of purser on the D.G.S. Minto while that ship was on the P. E. Island-Mainland winter service. About thirty-two years ago he moved with his wife and family to Souris West to a farm he purchased near the Morell district where he carried on general farming activities until his death.

His wife, Miss Josephine Fairchild, and Miss Josephine Fairchild, a sister of Capt. Nelson Fairchild of that town.

He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow, his devoted companion for over half a century, and the following sons and daughters: Percy, Railway Mail Clerk, Calgary; Joseph, also of Calgary; Andrew in Toronto and James at home; Mary, Public Health Nurse, Montague; Mrs. Ralph Dinwiddie (Leslie) and Mrs. Claude McEwen (Ann), both of Morell; and Ellsabeth, employee of The Robert Simpson Co., Toronto. A member of the Princess Patricia's was killed in action at Vimy Ridge in 1917, and Walter, the eldest of the family, was a victim of the flu epidemic in 1918 while employed in the Railway Mail Service in this Province. Howard, a bright boy of the family, was the youngest of the family, and passed away about twenty-five years ago. There are also several grieving widowed grand-children one of whom is Miss Eleanor Leslie R. N. of Moncton.

A large concourse of relatives and friends attended the funeral ceremonies on Monday, April 7th. Following services at the house and the funeral conducted by Rev. Mr. Miller, the mortal remains of the late Mr. Leslie were conveyed to Morell and laid to rest in the family plot there.

In concluding this sketch we recall to mind some of the outstanding qualities of our departed friend. It can truly be said that life to him had a meaning and purpose beyond the mere making of a living and the enjoyment of material comforts. His alert and vigorous mind combined with a genial, friendly disposition and keen sense of humor contributed to his wide popularity and a life-long zest for good reading and intelligent discussion and to the very end he retained an interest in current events of the world and in the problems and difficulties that confront it.

His death has cast a deep gloom of sadness in the home where he was loved so well and his memory will be cherished not only by his relatives and kindred but by the living remnant of a host of friends.

old scale before the defence ban put it out of bounds for holiday-makers for the duration.

"It was a case of 'eat, drink and be merry' for the last time for many a long day, and the thousands who swarmed into the city obeyed the old Biblical injunction to the letter.

From early morning in packed coach, car and train they crowded in for one last good "go" and soon the city was as full and busy as at the height of the summer season. Hotels, cinemas and restaurants, filled to capacity, reaped a last rich harvest ere the lean time that lay ahead descended upon them.

But it was no sad farewell, this of the last of the trippers, Brighton's goodbye party went with a bang that owed nothing to the riotous gaiety of a pre-war bank holiday.

"If old Hitler himself was on exhibition here the place could not be more of a magnet" was how the manager of a big restaurant put it. "My place was crammed with customers even before midday," he said. "They say they have come to have a peep at the old Queen of the South before she closes the door."

Hotels still open had not enough room for all the visitors.

At the Queen's they said "We've had to turn people away. Our regular week-end visitors are rather resentful about the ban but they are optimistic about its being lifted soon."

Brighton people realize that it is wise to keep the coast clear of big holiday crowds.

One of the busiest spots in town was the coach station.

No less than nineteen coaches carrying 600 people arrived from London before midday an inspector said.

MEADOW BANK W. I.

On April the 7th the regular monthly meeting of the Meadow Bank Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Hyde with an attendance of ten members and 3 visitors.

The President presided and the meeting opened by singing the Ode and repeating the Creed in unison.

The Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Correspondence that we give $25.00 to the Canadian War Services Fund. It was decided to send boxes to the settlement boys, who are serving King and Country.

The Questionnaire on Economics was discussed and filled in by Miss Laura Crosby.

The programme consisted of a contest put on by Miss Jean Boyle and won by Mrs. W. W. Crosby.

The following committees were appointed: Lunch, Mrs. Colin MacPhail, Mrs. Norman MacFadyen and Miss Laura Crosby. Programme, Mrs. Stirling Clow and Mrs. Stanley Hyde.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Colin MacPhail. Roll Call to be answered by singing, say or pray.

The meeting closed by singing God Save the King. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by some of the members.

Moving Day in Gas-Less Stockholm

When word flashed through a dead-end block in Asteris, L. I., that Bozo, neighborhood stray, was "wanted" by police in connection with the nipping of a poodle, youngsters quickly went into a lion. They hid Bozo, surrounded the cops with a protesting picket line sporting placards such as "The Neighbors Are Mad — Not Bozo." Canvassing homes and stores in the neighborhood, they raised $2.83. Their quick defense won Bozo a pardon and the collection bought him a dog license. Above, pickets and Bozo parade in triumph.
