Binns And Kelly Both Backed Heavily To Come Through With A Victory

Winding up their heavy training Bennie Binns and Leo Kelly last night stated they were ready for the gong that would send them into action Wednesday night in a battle for the Island middleweight title, a scrap that is fully expected to be a thrilling finale to this season's boxing encounters.

Not for a long while has a local scrap so stirred the imagination of the fans. It doesn't need a build-up. Both boys are well-known; each have their supporters; they have proven their ability on more than one occasion and all that remains to be proven is the question of which is the better.

And that is a question that will take a lot of answering. Take the case of the champion, Bennie Binns. On the comeback trail now for a matter of 10 months Bennie has shown his admirers that he is in deadly earnest. Never before in his career has he shown such an aptitude for training and his attitude is certainly showing results in that Binns will enter the ring Wednesday night in the finest shape of his career. That much his challenger can be sure of.

As he went through ten brisk rounds of training last night Binns apparently had everything that a champion is supposed to possess. His timing was a thing of beauty; his punches were crackling as he landed on his sparring mates and as he finished the workout and was quizzed on the outcome of the fight the answer came confidently and surely, "I will take Kelly and maybe it will be early."

All through his camp Binns' answer was backed to the limit and as the champion went under the showers, Manager Bill Ryan, glancing over his charge with pride stated convincingly: "I have never seen Bennie in such wonderful condition; he is going to win this fight if it is humanly possible and you can tell this to the fans that Wednesday night they will see an entirely different Bennie Binns perform, a boy who has come back the hard way and is ready to climax his comeback efforts."

That was the feeling prevailing in the camp but among the legion of Kelly's followers an entirely new note was struck. Kelly down to within a couple of pounds of the middleweight limit has been gladdening the hearts of his followers by recent performances. Throwing his punches faster and sharper, not nearly as heavy as when he fought Kinsman the young "Irishman" had determination written all over him as he completed the training grind. This fight means a lot to the boy that has fought his way to the top in such a short time and as the two approached Leo was fully confident that he will be able to turn the tables on the boy who made such quick work of him in a previous appearance.

But it all remains to be seen. Both have looked impressive in training sessions. Binns, given an edge in punching prowess, is expected to be busy in defending tactics from the two-fisted attack but even so if the champion lands flush once during the encounter the scrap is looked to end then and there.

Promoter Joey McDonald, besieged for tickets the last few days let it be known last night that those purchasing ringside seats for Wednesday's scrap would be free from annoyance from those who in the excitement of battle usually crowd around the ringside. Tomorrow night police will be on hand to see that this does not occur.

Attempts were being made to arrange a game between Mount Allison University and Caledonia at Sackville, N. B., next Saturday. An exhibition between these two teams scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, had to be postponed because of a paralysis situation in New Brunswick.

GLACE BAY, N. S., Nov. 1.—Caledonia senior rugby team officials said tonight their fifteen would defend the McTier Cup, emblematic of Eastern Canada rugby championship, in Glace Bay next Thursday against Dominion No. 11.

Money Bags Ring On Season's Play

(By The Canadian Press) LONDON, Oct. 31.—After struggling for many years in the third division of the English Football League, Millwall, a London club, has its coffers full and is making a determined bid for promotion to senior company. The plucky squad's run in the English cup competition last season was the main factor in its rise to wealth.

In their spectacular run in the cup, the Londoners defeated some of the finest teams in England until Sunderland put them out of the running by a 2-1 score in a semi-final at Huddersfield. Their showing won thousands of supporters who continue to follow the club.

Now the directors have recommended a dividend of 22 1-2 per cent. The disbursement covers a period of three years, being at the rate of 7 1-2 per cent per annum, the amount allowed by the English Football Association.

The balance sheet tells the story of Millwall's rise to affluence in a single campaign. Last season the club's profit was £7,453 ($36,892) compared with £871 ($4,311) the previous year. Gross revenue reveals astonishing figures, increasing from £18,631 ($92,223) to £43,735 ($216,488).

Former Major League Hurler Found Dead

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Benny Frey, pitcher for Cincinnati Reds of the National League from whom he had sought voluntary retirement after being ordered into the minor leagues, was found dead today.

The body of the 31-year-old veteran of six years service in the big leagues was discovered in a closed car in a garage at the home of his sister, Mrs. Richard Cunniff, near here.

Coroner Jason B. Meads, who sent a rubber hose led from the exhaust pipe into the car, attributed death to carbon monoxide gas poisoning. Friends of Frey said he had been disconsolate over failure of his arm to regain form.

Last spring, when ordered by the Reds to Nashville of the Southern Association, Frey returned to his home here, asking that he be placed on the voluntarily retired list.

School Teams Renew Play In Series Today

The second game of the Inter-scholastic rugby series between West Kent and Queen Square will be played this afternoon at the C. A. A. grounds, commencing at 3.30.

The West Kenters are one-up as a result of their 11-5 victory in the opening game played last Wednesday afternoon. Both teams will present the same lineups and another exciting tilt is expected.

The contest Wednesday produced some exciting plays and reflected credit on the two coaches, Lou Campbell of West Kent and James McCallum of Queen Square who have welded together two evenly matched teams. Queen Square are present titleholders.

Fans are requested to co-operate with referee and linesmen and refrain from crowding the field at the point of play.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Twenty six members of the world champion New York Yankees baseball club, including Manager Joe McCarthy, the coaches and trainer, have been mailed cheques for $6,471.11 each as a result of their world series victory over the Giants. The announcement came today from the office of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis. The Giants received $4,489.95 each.

N.H.L. To Honor Memory Of Morenz In Benefit Game At Montreal Tonight

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—The memory of Howie Morenz, Canadian comet who skated to the peak of the hockey firmament in a dazzling career, will be honored tomorrow night when a combined Canadian-Maroon six and a National Hockey League all-star squad meet in a contest inaugurating a fund for the star's family.

The Morenz memorial game—sportdom's tribute to the "greatest of them all"—will see the cream of today's stars in action. Facing the Canadian-Maroon six will be a team selected from among the best players in the other teams of the league. Many of them played with the great Morenz and all respected him as a dashing foe.

Will Propose Replacement Of Canadian Olympic Committee By Association

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Replacement of the Canadian Olympic Committee by the Canadian Olympic Association will be proposed by the southwestern Ontario branch when the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada gathers for its 49th annual meeting in Montreal late this month, it became known here tonight.

Formation of the Association, to be patterned after the British Olympic Association, is one of 13 amendments delegates will propose to the A. A. U.'s constitution and by-laws. The agenda of amendments, several pertaining to the definition of an amateur, was released here.

Embodied in the Association, under the branch's proposal, would be a council mainly concerned with selection of teams and other details of olympic games. The council would be composed of the Association president, members of the International Olympic Committee and a representative nominated by the various individual athletic associations of each sport on the Olympic program.

Among the 21 individual associations named to nominate a representative to the council were the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, who have severed connections with the A. A. U. The Canadian Lacrosse Association, also at odds with the A. A. U. was not named because lacrosse is not an Olympic event.

Presaging discussion on the definition of an amateur—a source of conflict between the A. A. U. and the associations which went their own ways—were amendments offered by second vice president Syd Halter of Winnipeg.

First of the Halter resolutions, to be presented at the convention's opening Nov. 18, would amend the definition of the word "amateur" in Canada and the definition of the international federation governing the sport in question. As an alternative to this Halter will propose that no one shall lose his amateur status by action infringing on amateur rules in Canada but permitted by the international governing body of a sport.

These amendments, in effect, would give the international bodies direct say as to whether an athlete has violated the amateur code. This previously was decided without consultation of international rules.

British Champ Impressed By Canuck Boxer

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Nov. 1.—Winding up training for his bout Wednesday with Norman Baines of Cardiff, Al Delaney, 21-year-old Canadian heavyweight, today went several fast rounds with Tony Stuart, British amateur heavyweight champion.

Stuart was impressed by the speed and ringcraft of the batter from Oshawa, Ont., and at the end of the workout at a London gymnasium declared him "the best man I ever fought, barring Max Baer."

Delaney's favored right hook often found its mark and he demonstrated the speed he is relying on to counteract Baines' 30-pound weight advantage.

As they headed for the showers, the amateur, who has sparred with most of the leaders in the boxing business, including Baer, Tommy Farr and Walter Neusel of Germany, predicted a bright future for Delaney.

Against Baines, Delaney apparently will rely on the aggressive tactics and right-hand barrage which recently won him a technical knockout over Harry Stahl, after spotting the Dutch champion 20 pounds.

Saskatchewan Protests Raid By Pro Teams

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) SASKATOON, Oct. 31.—Protest against annual raids by professional teams on the amateur teams of this province was made Saturday at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey Association.

A committee was appointed to seek some kind of working agreement with the National Hockey League to safeguard interests of amateur clubs.

The professional clubs will be asked to hold their training schools in the spring. Each player seeking permission for a professional trial would be asked for a $12 application fee.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will be requested by the S. A. H. A. to pass a ruling to force amateur players trying out with professional teams to return to their original amateur clubs if they do not sign a professional contract.

Form Speed Line For Providence

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 1.—Jackie Keating and Doggie Kuhn, a pair of hockey veterans from down east, are assured of berths in the International-American League for another season.

Casting a speculative eye over his Providence Reds today, Coach Fred (Bun) Cook announced the Saint John, N. B., citizens and Sammy McManus, another puckster who has seen much amateur service in the Maritimes, will form his "speed" line as all three are light in poundage and fast skaters. The trio worked as a line for part of last season and finished high in the ranks of scoring units.

Cook, starting his first season as a manager—he formerly was the southpaw on New York Rangers' famous triple threat line—has not yet decided on the complete makeup of his team pending further shuffling by Boston Bruins. Reds are the farm club for the Bostonese and expect to get plenty of high class material from the National League outfit.

Two of the smartest little guys in the business, Eddie Wiseman and Tommy Anderson, form the nucleus of another forward line. Deke Klein, who failed to hold on with Amerks last season, and Charlie Mason, once with Rangers, may complete the attacking forces, but Dutton says he is dicker for an unidentified winger who would add enough strength to make his club a championship contender.

Red's front line material compares favorably with any in the circuit. His unit of Art Chapman, Sweeney Schirmer and Lorne Carr seems headed for another big season, with Sweeney shooting for his third straight league scoring title.

That headache to net minders, Nels Stewart, will pivot another line which should pack plenty scoring punch. Jack Shill, speedster who never seemed to get enough work with Leafs, and the veteran Joe Lamb will be Stewart's wings.

Acquisition Of Day And Gallagher Adds Punch To Lowly Amerk Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Red Dutton dipped into the National Hockey League grab-bag and came up with a smattering of veterans and youngsters he hopes will bring new glories to those struggling orphans, New York Americans.

Sport fandom would like to see Red's "keep punching" boys come through this campaign and win the Stanley Cup, a prize that has evaded Dutton and all previous American bosses. However, the way the cards are stacked, chances of the team, temporarily controlled by the League, are none too dazzling.

Despite financial handicaps, Dutton thinks he has developed a stronger club than that which finished in the international section basement last winter. He picked up four bargains in the league mart. They will supply the only new faces, as an amateur school operated in Calgary did not produce a rookie considered ripe for the majors.

The player who will probably decide the Americans' fate is Earl Robertson, Regina boy who has knocked at the door of the big time for years and finally made a brilliant entrance when he replaced Normie Smith in Detroit Red Wings' nets last spring in the Stanley Cup finals.

Jack Adams, Detroit manager, sold him to Americans "for a song" because he wanted to see Earl get the chance he earned. But Robertson will have to prove his worth before harsh goal critics—the cash customers at Madison Square Garden.

Defence was Dutton's big worry last season. Happy Day, veteran former captain of Toronto Maple Leafs, and Johnny Gallagher of Detroit are additions Red hopes will give Robertson good protection.
