BELATED NEWS OF A TRAGEDY

NORTH SYDNEY, Jan. 29—The facts of a tragic incident, which resulted in the death of a resident of Island Point, Boularderie, on December 31st, 1910, have only just come to light and were made public by the police authorities yesterday. It appears that on the night of December 31st a crowd of men assembled at the house of a prominent resident of Island Point, and there ensued a general jollification, the cup that cheers being passed freely and the advent of the new year royally celebrated. Shortly after midnight a quarrel arose among those at the festive board, in which one of the participants was Angus McDonald, a prosperous farmer of the place. The row was quieted by the more sober of the guests and McDonald left the house between one and two o'clock on new year's morning. On their way home several of his late companions called at his home a few hours later, but were told he had not come home. His friends becoming anxious, a search was instituted and about two o'clock that afternoon the lifeless body of McDonald was found lying on the shore about a mile from the house. No inquest was held as there was no coroner within many miles. The real cause of death will ever remain a mystery. Foul play was suspected by many at the time.

BRIDGETOWN WOMAN IN SORRY PLIGHT

ST. JOHN, Jan. 29—Mrs. Elizabeth Wezal, of Bridgetown, N. S., who at first gave her name as Mrs. White, is in a terrible condition in this city. She is penniless and is now being sheltered by the Salvation Army. She was turned back Wednesday last by the United States immigration authorities, who refused to let her go on to visit a sister in Portland, Me., on account of her lack of funds. She had only one dollar and her ticket. On her return to St. John the I. C. R. police detained her. She was placed in a hotel but as no one would become responsible for her lodging, the proprietor ejected her on Saturday. That afternoon and night she walked the streets in a severe gale and snow storm, and when found by the police at four a. m. on Sunday, was suffering fearfully from the cold. She was taken to police headquarters and later to the Salvation Army Home for Women. No word has been received from her relatives.

TETOTALERS BECAUSE HOUSE NUMBER CHANGED

MIDDLEBORO, Jan 27—Residents on several of the most prominent streets in this town find themselves forced to be teetotalers even against their wishes on account of a recent change in street numbers.

On several of the important streets of late there has been some trouble over the irregular system of numbering residences and so the selectmen renumbered the streets, giving each householder a consecutive number. These numbers were then declared to the only authorized ones.

Some of the residents have since then sent to Boston for consignments of liquor at the same time unthinkingly giving their old street number as the place for the goods to be delivered. No expressman can legally deliver this sort of goods to a house unless the address on the directing tag is correct, and goods arriving here which bear the old street numbers are being withheld or sent back for better directions, since the law forbids delivery otherwise.

LLOYD'S BLACK YEAR FOR SHIPWRECK

LONDON, Jan 25—The year 1910 was rank as one of the blackest in the history, of Lloyd's, blacker even than last year which was one of the worst since the inception of the great maritime institution.

A close perusal of the list brings back the astonishing fact that the more prominent losses of the year alone accounts for no less a sum than fifteen million dollars. The minor casualties, however make up in number what they lack financial importance, with the respect that they swell the total approximate.

SKULL AND BONES AS WARNING TO AUTOISTS

SAN JOSE, Cal Jan 27—"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth for a tooth and life for a life," is the inscription appearing on huge signboards along the mountain road between San Jose and Santa Cruz. It is intended as a warning to speeding automobiles.

A device of skull and crossbones makes the warning more vivid. It is said that the mountainers and ranchers of the district have threatened to take the law into their own hands to the speeding nuisance is not abated.

FINAL ARBITERS OF QUEBEC BRIDGE

OTTAWA, Jan. 29—The government has appointed H. W. Hodge, of New York, one of the best known engineering experts on the continent, and M. J. Butler, ex-deputy minister of railways and canals, and now general manager of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company, to finally settle the difference of opinion among the board of engineers in charge of the construction of the Quebec bridge.

General designs, involving basic principles of bridge engineering on the record-breaking scale of the new bridge, have been under consideration for months past by Messrs. Modjeska, Vautelet and MacDonald, the engineering experts entrusted with the carrying out of the work. They have been unable to agree on some vital questions relating to the plans for the long central span.

The bridge itself is in many respects the largest and most important engineering work of its kind ever attempted. On the decision of Messrs Hodge and Butler will depend the solution of problems in which bridge engineers the world over are interested.

BURGLAR POSES AS STATUE IN A BANK

PITTSBURG, Penn., Jan 27—Notified by burglar alarm that thieves had broken into the storerooms of the Fidelity Loan Company on Federal street, where almost $50,000 worth of gems and valuable jewelry are kept, police, detectives and a private watchman ransacked the building fos almost two hours.

Then Policeman John Keenan, who had been stationed on the second floor of the building, where an artist has a studio, idly tapped a sheeted statue with his mace. He hit the statue's funny bone, and with a yell it cast aside the sheet and started for the door.

Keenan had just enough self-possession left to rap the statue on the head as it reached the door. The statue, which had been standing on a pedestal for two hours, turned out to be named Fred Fitch. He is now held on a charge of burglary.
