The many friends of Captain and Mrs. Finlayson will be grieved to learn of the death of their daughter Gertrude. For sixteen weeks she has suffered patiently, exhibiting a trust in God which was comforting to the anxious family, and an example to all who from time to time were privileged to see her. She more than a year ago, united with the Baptist Church and was much interested in the work of the Young People's Society and Sunday School. In view of her prolonged and weary weeks of suffering the line from Whittier seems appropriate:—"Thou hast the best that Heaven itself could give thee—rest."

A GOOD audience attended the service last night at the Central Christian Church and listened to a fine sermon by Evangelist Whiston. His subject was "The Auction" and he showed how the world, Christ and Satan were all bidding for the soul, that Christ had already paid the ransom and it belonged to him. He said that to be perfectly happy one must know three things that Christianity only could impart, viz: his duty, his destiny, and the fact that God loves him. To-night the Evangelist will speak upon the "Greatest sin in the world," and will sing. There will be only two meetings more. Be sure and attend them. The offering to-night is to pay Mr. Whiston for his services.

L. H. DAVIES.

The Carnival of Nations, under the direction of Prof. E. McQuarrie, assisted by Miss Helen Macdonald and pupils drew a large and fashionable audience to the Opera House last evening. The general plan of the entertainment was to open successive numbers of the performance with the participants arranged in tableau at the back of the stage, while the orchestra [Prof. Vinnicombe's] played a national air. National costumes, colors and favors distinguished the nations represented.

MISS WILLIAMS of Moncton, arrived by the express train last evening, and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sharp for a few weeks.

MR. D. A. McLEOD, Bonshaw, who recently completed his first year at Auburn Seminary, N.Y., is spending a few days in Boston, and will arrive home in a few days.

The first number was the Grand National March in which about forty took part, bearing banners and performing various graceful evolutions. Then Miss Isabel McDonald in cap and plaid danced the Highland fling with good effect. The Housemaids at Home, Misses Eugene Hornsby, Ethel Blanchard, Jacqueline Hornsby, Blanche Toombs, Ida Byrne, Winnie Ryan, Helen Mitchell, Nora Waddle and Winnie Wickwire made a very engaging tableau and danced gracefully after. The sword dance, seldom given by feminine dancers, was very prettily done by Misses Helen Warburton and Ellie Gillis. In the Dutch Clog which came next Messrs. Peter McDonald, W. L. Harvie, Will Brehaut and Harry Harvie, were so successful as to be awarded the first encore of the evening. The Banjo Duet of Miss Annie Murphy and Prof. McQuarrie, was a pleasing number. The Japanese Revet, in which Misses Isabel McDonald, Gladys Peake and Lois Taylor took part, served to recall the Three Little Maids at School. The Spanish Tambourine Dance was participated in by Misses Bessie Vinnicombe, Mary Bayfield, Helen Palmer and Laura Mitchell. In Hispania Miss Helena McDonald won very hearty applause, and Prof. McQuarrie received a curtain call as Jack Tar. After intermission came the Highland Ballet, in which ten Misses and Masters danced with supple grace. After an Irish Jig by Messrs. Harry Davie, Peter McDonald, W. L. Harvie and Will Brehaut, Miss Helen Warburton won a very hearty encore for her singularly graceful dancing. The Sailors "en porte" Ballet brought out ten members of Miss McDonald's classes, who danced and pulled ropes in sailor fashion. The Character Sketch and Hoedown of Mr. W. L. Harvie and Prof. McQuarrie received an encore, that could hardly have been due to the dialogue. "Ye old time Minuet," in which Miss Ella Sutherland, Miss Daisy Douse, Miss Helena McDonald, Miss B. Hornsby, Miss Amy Earle, Miss Nora Reid, Miss Maggie James, and Miss E. Farquharson took part, was worthy the hearty and prolonged applause accorded that stately and graceful performance. And then came the Burlasque Cake Walk, or rather cake dance, in which Prof. McQuarrie made an admirable drum major. There was lots of fun, and the house was evidently pretty closely divided as to who was entitled to the cake. Just One Girl was given in chorus followed by the National Anthem. The carnival was pleasing and creditable throughout. It will be repeated tonight.
