Then began the distribution of the unusually large number of presents from the brightly lighted tree. The number of times the teacher, Miss Daisy Waterman, was called upon by Santa testified to her popularity in the district. Murchison, for providing such a pleasant entertainment.—Mrs. John G. MacRae has gone to Commercial Cross to attend the funeral of her mother Mrs. Fraser.

BELATED VESSEL ARRIVES.—Another belated Prince Edward Island produce vessel arrived here yesterday, says a Halifax exchange. It is now six weeks since the brig Marion G., Captain Landry, left P. E. I. bound for this port with her cargo of potatoes. Had it not been for the wrecking steamer Bridgewater, she would probably have hibernated much longer at Petit de Grat where she had been seeking shelter from the storms. The Bridgewater towed her in yesterday, taking her up to DeWolf's wharf where she is discharging her cargo. The produce was shipped by Poole and Thompson of Montague.

THE HAZEL GLEN.—The schooner Hazel Glen, which was reported ashore last Wednesday in these columns about two miles east of the St. Peter's Locks, was towed here Monday by the tug Maggie M., Capt. Alex. Gordon, says a Sydney exchange. The schooner, which is the last to pass through the canal this year, is bound from Georgetown, P. E. I. with a cargo of produce. She was taken to South Sydney by the tug, where she tied up for the winter. She sustained no damage.

ANOTHER VISITOR.—And lo, a little squirrel has come forth from his winter lair to pay Charlottetown a visit and incidentally to interview the weather bureau as to conditions for breaking up his home in winter quarters. The little chap perched comfortably on a gatepost in the west end of the city contentedly munching away at some food stuff which he held in his forepaws. He was quite at ease and very amiable till some mischievous boys, for want of something better to do, disturbed his serenity by trying to catch him. It was quite a chase and master squirrel did his ancestors justice in the way he dodged and climbed to elude his tormentors. Finally he reached the friendly arms of a big tree and scampering to the topmost branches seated himself and defiantly challenged the youths below to "come catch me if you can."
