PLAY ENJOYED

—On Tuesday evening, May 19th, the Mayfield players presented their play "Farmer Haskins" in New Glasgow Hall under the auspices of the Mayfield Institute to a large and appreciative audience. From the first of the play which opened with an outdoor scene at the home of Farmer Haskins, till the end of the play there was a real thrilling story and the players certainly excelled themselves in their different parts. Following is a list of the cast: Timothy Haskins, Ira McDonald; Aunt Hetty (his wife) Mrs. Blair Andrews; John Haskins, (his son), David Johnson; Huldo Thorne, (his niece) Thelma Johnson; Tildy Haskins (an old maid), M. S. Harold Toombs; Bill Higgins, (courting Tildy), Archie Dickson; Selma, (a servant) Marguerite Houston; Rube, (a hired man), Leo Dolron; Charles Cheswick, (the villain), Davis Moffat. The different musical numbers between the acts were well rendered. During intermission ice cream was sold when Mr. Garnet Proffit in his usual capable manner entertained the audience with both vocal and instrumental numbers. The play was a decided success from start to finish. Miss Ruth Dickson was the organizer of the evening.

SUDDEN DEATH

Tryon, this Province, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hood of that place in his early days he taught school at Augustine Cove and was subsequently employed with the Summerside Pioneer, where he developed a lifelong fondness for newspaper work. He came to Charlottetown in the early 90's to undertake the management of the Guardian Publishing Company in the early days of its history and remained with it until 1913, when he disposed of his interests to the new proprietors.

Mr. Hood was a thoroughly practical business man and under his management The Guardian made great progress. He had the successful editors "nose for news" and was continually on the alert for the latest information, both local and foreign. Under his management and the editorship of the late Mr. J. E. B. McCready, The Guardian gained a wide reputation for being a first-class and up to date daily.

In the latter years of his connection with The Guardian Mr. Hood was in comparatively poor health, and it was largely on that account that he and his partner, Mr. F. R. Newsom, decided to sell out.

After leaving The Guardian Mr. Hood joined his brother in the boot and shoe trade in Calgary, and remained there for three years. Subsequently, still in the search for better health, he went to California and resumed his newspaper connection. He went on various monthly and weekly publications, but never sought to become directly responsible for newspaper publication.

Progressive and enterprising, Mr. Hood while a resident of Charlottetown took a very keen interest in local institutions, although he never actively took part in public affairs. He is survived by his widow who resides in Oakland, California, and three daughters, Mrs. William Creighton, Oakland, Mrs. S. D. Mitchell, Calgary, and Mrs. Ernest W. Beer, Charlottetown, also one sister, Mrs. J. W. Callbeck, Summerside, and one brother, William H. Hood, of Calgary, to all of whom sincere sympathy will be extended.

WATCH SALESMANSHIP

WASHINGTON, May 27. (U.P.)—George Marshall, lawyer of Marlboro, N. S., was called recently by county police to question three young Newark, N. J., men who had been arrested when 28 watches were found on them. After convincing Marshall that they merely were dealers in second hand watches, the men sold him a watch and departed.

ROTARY

ROTARY CONVENTION

Morning Session

With Rotarian W. E. Fletcher, of New Glasgow, and formerly of Charlottetown, presiding at the piano, the first business session was opened with the singing of O Canada, the "Ode to Newfoundland," and "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

President Palmer extended welcome on behalf of the local Rotarians expressing appreciation of the fact that Charlottetown had been selected as the host city.

Premier Lea in his address of welcome spoke of the splendid appearance of Prince Edward Island at the present time. He was not one of those who believed "far away fields looked green." Nowhere he saw fields as green as those in Prince Edward Island. The Premier made some humorous references to the strenuous duties which are imposed upon any government.

Rotarian Mayor Prowse in a brief and witty speech welcomed the delegates to the city and invited them to visit City Hall.

President B. W. Roscoe of the Kenville Club on behalf of the visitors expressed sincere appreciation of the warmth of the reception tendered them. "We have found the gates of the city not merely ajar but wide open," he said. We had heard a great deal about Prince Edward Island and our realizations have exceeded our expectations."

Conference Convened

In convening the conference District Governor Smith read a number of communications. These included a greeting from Paul Harris, Rotary's founder, who sent greetings—"May the saddest day of your future be happier than the happiest day of your past." Also greetings from Almon E. Roth, International President, Chesley R. Perry, Secretary, Dr. Otto Bohler, of Vienna, Governor of 73rd District, Bruce Richard of St. John, Governor of the Fourth District, Bernard Archibald, Houlton, Maine.

Secretary J. M. Murley read a letter of greeting from the Catholic Women's League.

Rotarian J. H. Norton, member of the Canadian Advisory Board, then presented the visiting Governors and Past District Governors, viz., John Cass of Halifax, whom he termed the father of Rotary in the district, Charles Burchill of Halifax, Walter S. Grant of Charlottetown.

He also made fitting reference to Don MacRae, who was absent from the conference but who will be remembered as the author of the Sixth Object of Rotary. Don is a native of Prince Edward Island.

C. J. Burchill extended the invitation for next conference to be at Halifax.

H. W. Roscoe invited on behalf of Kentville.

District Governor Smith thanked them and said this would be finally determined at the District Assembly of Presidents and Secretaries to be held later in the summer.

Greetings were received from Charlottetown Council 824 Knights of Columbus.

Address by International Director

Will Taylor, Director of Rotary International, of Springfield, Illinois, then gave his address in the course of which he said that friendship is the finest thing in Rotary. Without friendship there would be no Rotary.

Discussing the Sixth Object of Rotary, the speaker said it was by no means a visionary ideal, to encourage and foster the advancement of understanding, goodwill and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service. "We need not worry about when there is to be universal peace. We have to do our little bit every day in order that the object be attained."

What Rotary Is Doing

But all those outward organizational activities, however meritorious, are neither the principal nor the best illustrations of Rotary's philosophy of service. Rotary's real field of action is to be found in the daily social and business life of every member.

Rotary's philosophy is helpfulness, friendliness, unselfishness, consideration of others, and the willingness to do for others what we would wish them to do for us under similar circumstances.

And Rotary has set itself to the task of ennobling this principle in the hearts and minds of the secular leaders of the world, not as a religious tenet, but because of its own inherent merit as a principle of living.

We as Rotarians are committed to its practice in our daily lives—in the home, where the head of the family should dispense not grudgingness nor tyranny, but kindness and love; in business, where not only must crookedness be banished, but truth and justice and fair dealing must control; in our social and community life, where arrogance, suspicion and selfishness must be discarded for friendliness, trust and benevolence.

If I am a Rotarian simply because it helps me socially, or because it facilitates fortunate business contacts, or even because a reward of heaven may be held out, my Rotary is a mighty poor one—not worth having. But, if I am a Rotarian because it helps me to live my best, inspires me with sympathy and tolerance towards my fellowmen, and causes me to be anxious to make a contribution to the public welfare, then my Rotary is worth something. If we do not combine a conscious and an unconscious, living of responsibility towards our fellowmen, we are paupers indeed, and have not yet grasped the fundamentals of true Rotary.

We, who hold membership in Rotary, are not true to our colors unless with our singing and praise, we combine a practical religion of sympathy, tolerance, mutual helpfulness and brotherly love and friendliness to all mankind everywhere, a seven-day-a-week and a twenty-four hour day religion that works and helps our fellowmen, be he white or black, rich or poor, high or low estate.

For the wonderful co-operation I have received I feel a debt of gratitude and I frankly state it causes me regret to relinquish the best job I have ever held. I hope, to some extent at least, I have won a place in your hearts corresponding to that which you have won in mine. In that event I shall never be forgotten for I assure you the friendship and love you have shown me will always be a spring of inspiration in my life.

A Creditable Showing

The attendance for the first ten months of the year averaged 88.04 per cent, a highly creditable showing indeed, particularly when we take into consideration how difficult it is in serve, to help those less fortunate than himself. That very fact proves that good emanates from practically all people if the opportunity is presented in the right way. In that act alone, each man demonstrates the divine qualities within him and serves his God.

The greatest thing in Rotary is still and always will be love and friendship big and broad enough to take in every living thing that breathes and walks and unless we have gained in that breadth of love our Rotary year has failed and much of the service rendered has really come to naught.

The sun's brightness is reflected in the flower which turns its smiling face to the sun. And the nearest approach to this in human life is witnessed in our most intelligent and loving acts. The wise thing to do is always the loving act. In our relations with our fellow men we have been enriched and made more happy. As we serve humanity we serve God, for God must be served through service to His people.

Friendships

Rotary keeps friendship fences in constant repair.

"Friendship is that indefinable thing that binds men together, that contributes to the joy of living, and adds to the pleasure of service. Take friendship out of the world and you have robbed the trees of life of its choicest fruit and left for the harvest, 'nothing but leaves.' Who would be happy must have friends.

"The widening circle of friendship means a widening field of service. If we would live the lives in Rotary which we are privileged to do, the opportunity to make new friends both in and out of Rotary, is limited only to the contacts which we may make.

"Rotary has undertaken to bring together in common purpose, the nations of the world—to compass them with an arch which shall be all inclusive and the keystone of which is the friendships which arise from Rotary purposes and Rotary contacts. It is the aim of every Rotarian to leave the world better than he found it.

"With friendship planted where violence and distrust grew before, the brotherhood of man will be approaching a reality and the task we pass on to our posterity will be rendered easier of accomplishment."

I am to day not only what I willed myself to be, but to a very great extent what you, my friends, have made me and may I make hold to hope that you, too, are partly what I have helped you to be.

In A Friendly Sort O' Way

When a man ain't got a cent, and he's feeling kind o' blue, An' the clouds hang dark an' heavy, an' won't let the sunshins through.

It's a great thing, O my brethren, for a feller just to lay His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way! It makes a man feel curious, it makes the teardrop start, An' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region of the heart; You can look up and meet his eyes; You don't know what to say; When his hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound with its honey and its gall, With its cares and bitter crosses, but a good world, after all. An' a good God must have made it—leastways, that is what I say. When a hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

—James Whitcomb Riley
