Critical Of Civil Service Commission

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP)—J. E. Hamel (BP-St. Maurice-La Fliche) said today in the Commons he opposed the granting of salary increases to members of the Civil Service Commission, declared that body had been a "fiasco" from the time of its establishment and charged it had not given a fair share of positions to French-speaking Canadians.

The French-speaking member spoke on a resolution to a bill that would provide for the increase. It would also give statutory form to orders-in-council establishing veterans preference in the civil service.

The resolution was later adopted and the bill based on it given first reading.

Bonshaw Farmer Loses 12 Cattle By Poisoning

Mr. Stephen McCleod, a prominent dairy farmer of Bonshaw has lost 12 dairy cattle within the last three weeks from fertilizer poisoning.

When the first two cows died about three weeks ago, Mr. McCleod was at a loss to understand the reason and summoned Dr. O. S. Nordlund, veterinary surgeon, who stated the cattle had had access to potash in some form.

As the cattle continued to die, Mr. McCleod had the stomachs of some of the dead cattle examined by Dr. George Elshoff of the Provincial Laboratories who confirmed Dr. Nordlund's diagnosis.

Mr. McCleod then recalled that he had placed a quantity of fertilizer in one of his fields and had covered it with bags preparatory to spreading it later.

The fertilizer had a heavy potash content.

Commenting on the incident yesterday, the Hon. W. F. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, said farmers could not be too careful about depositing fertilizer in fields to which cattle had access.

Many of the cattle at this time of year, the Minister said, had more than the usual desire for salt, and that Mr. McCleod's cattle had likely been searching for such a mineral when they ate the fertilizer.

in responsible positions in the management of Government affairs.

Premier Jones referred to the "enormous" sums collected within the last two years by way of the health tax on tobacco and liquor—over two million dollars. Only a few years ago, the total provincial revenue was about $850,000, he said, while now it was around four and a half million.

That was one reason why he wished to have men big enough to handle such large sums efficiently and constructively.

The Premier commented on the summer school classes now being conducted at Prince of Wales College. Through those classes, he said, the Government expected to reduce by 50 per cent the number of permit teachers for the coming school term.

He had been accused of having enforced standard time throughout the Province, the Premier said. As a matter of reason why he had not taken any initiative in the matter, personally, he had been opposed to daylight saving time but his opinion had also been the opinion of the Government as well. "I was opposed to daylight saving time," the Premier added, "because I knew 99 per cent of the country people were also opposed to it."

Referring to the tourist trade, the Premier said such a trade was one of the major sources of income to the Province and should be looked after well. People coming here, he said, from the United States expected to have good meals, modern toilet facilities, and other conveniences to which they were accustomed. He warned those catering to tourists to have up to date equipment, and to serve good, well-cooked meals if they expected to have the same tourists return.

Welcomed Delegates

Mayor E. Earle MacDonald welcomed the delegates to the City at the opening morning session. His Worship paid tribute to the work being done by the Women's Institutes throughout the Province.

"No meetings held in our city are more important to the community," the Mayor said, "than those held by the Women's Institutes."

Before concluding his address, the Mayor said "I would ask you all to feel the same as I do about some places being on daylight saving time and others not."

If we could possibly get together and have daylight saving time all over, in my opinion a greater provincial feeling would result."

The Mayor ended his appeal by saying that "our citizens cooped up all day in offices and shops that extra hour in the evening."

At noon the delegates were tendered a luncheon at the Charlottetown Hotel as guests of the Department of Agriculture. His Honour Lieut.-Governor J. A. Bernard briefly addressed them and expressed the hope that their conferences in the City would be the most successful of their kind.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session was a busy one. The provincial President, Mrs. Herring submitted her report which appears elsewhere in this issue. There were interesting addresses by the Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. W.F.A. Stewart, W. R. Shaw, deputy-minister of agriculture, by Mrs. Earle MacDwan, culture, by Col. E. W. Johnston of Long River.

Mr. Stewart congratulated the delegates on the 34th anniversary of the founding of the provincial organization and assured them his Department was at all times willing to do what it could to further the work of the Institutes.

Mrs. Matthews, an English woman who had married a Canadian solider overseas, gave an interesting talk on her experiences since coming to Baitic. The generosity and consideration given her by the residents of her husband's community had been a revelation to her, she said. Mrs. Matthews mentioned the trouble she had had in learning to sleep soundly in her new home whose quiet at night was for a time more frightening to her than the crash of bombs and the roar of aeroplanes to which she had become accustomed in her English town. She spoke of the friendliness to her of the Women's Institute in Baitic, of their having asked her to join their organization, and of the help which in so many ways they had kindly bestowed upon her.

Evening Session

Addresses were delivered at the evening session by Mrs. A.O. MacMillan, Dominion President (it appears elsewhere in this issue), Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Mary Donald Deans, Keene, N. H.

Mrs. Deans, who spoke on economic conditions in Haiti, was born in Quincy, Mass. Her mother was a native of Prince Edward Island and her father was from Scotland. She was educated in Scotland and the United States. From the University of California she received her M.A. degree in History.

She taught school in Arkansas, lived for 20 years in California, and where she taught History in the San Pedro High School, one of the Los Angeles senior high schools.

Since 1936 she has been an instructor in History in Keene Teachers' College, Keene, New Hampshire, from which she had three years of absence lately, two years 1943-45 she taught on one of the out-islands of the Bahamas and 1945-46 in Haiti.

The summers of 1927 and 1945 she spent travelling in Europe, 1928 in Alaska, 1938 in West Indies, 1940 in Mexico.

Haiti is desperately poor, Mrs. Deans said, and the condition of poverty is reflected in the bodies and minds of the population. She referred to Leslie Roberts' book, "Lydia Bailey," which she said gave an accurate account of the conditions at the present time despite the fact that the background for Roberts' novel was laid during the struggle of Toussaint L'Ouverture against the armies of Napoleon.

There are large plantations in Haiti, Mrs. Deans said, but they are owned by large corporations. Some of the finest coffee in the world, she stated, is grown there and Haiti was of great assistance to the Allies during the war since the sisal plant from which rope is made was produced there in large quantities.

Haiti is a land where one waits, Mrs. Deans said. That habit of waiting has become a part of the psychological makeup of the Haitians and will continue to be part of their makeup until such time as improvement in their economic conditions gives them better health and stamina to make their country the prosperous one it could be.

Life memberships in the Federated Women's Institutes were presented by Mrs. A. C. MacMillan to Mrs. L. R. D. Foster, Marshfield, Mrs. John MacGuigan, Stanley Bridge, and Mrs. William Mutch,

Early Adoption of India Bill Forecast

LONDON, July 3 (Reuters)—A few words spoken by officials and a bow of assent by Prime Minister Attlee tomorrow will launch one of the most historic of all British parliamentary measures—the bill to transfer power to the 400,000,000 people of India.

The bill creating two new dominions—the Union of India and the Dominion of Pakistan—will be law in just over a fortnight's time. July 20 now is the target date for royal assent to the bill.
