An attempt to clarify the Libyan battle situation is made on this map. The heavy black lines suggest the British battle-front. In reality there is not a continuous line through the desert and raiding forces on both sides are active but not to the degree that they were formerly. The British seem to be getting the upper hand, asserting control and enforcing a degree of order. The oblongs on the map suggest enemy forces which appear to be strongest in the triangle represented by Tobruk-Gambut-toward from Tobruk but perhaps not sufficiently to prevent enemy shell fire from reaching the middle line of the corridor. Her from either side. Unless the fighting forces are more evenly matched still, the general area is believed to be the decision will be reached before enemy reinforcements by sea or air could be brought from southern Europe in sufficient quantity.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the frightful suffering of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

To meet these enormous needs, funds have been raised in various parts of the world. Her Majesty

James Hilton's "Rage in Heaven"
On Local Screen

Robert Montgomery, Ingrid Bergman Co-Star in Tale of Love and Revenge

James Hilton, author of "Good-bye, Mr. Chips" and "Lost Horizon", has contributed another fascinating story to the screen in "Rage in Heaven", starring Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman, and coming today to the Prince Edward screen.

It is a suspenseful thriller, based on a "perfect crime". With Montgomery at his best in the powerful role of a man destroyed by his own emotions.

Montgomery plays Philip Monrell, whose inferiority complex ruins the happiness he could have with his beautiful wife, portrayed by Miss Bergman. Convinced that she really loves his best friend, with George Sanders in the role, he plots a crime that will remove his rival.

Hilton has tossed all formula aside in building his story to an amazing climax, with one of the most surprising screen endings of the season.

Lucile Watson, Oscar Homolka, Philip Merivale, Aubrey Mather and others are featured in the supporting cast. The film was directed by W. S. Van Dyke II, director of the famous "Thin Man" pictures, "San Francisco" and other hits. It was produced by Gottfried Reinhardt, who brought "Comrade X" to the screen.

A VISIT TO SANTA CLAUS — Starbright's Magic Wand

"First we shall go to the home of Mrs. Mouse," said the good fairy.

Soon they came to a little hole at the foot of a big tree.

"We are too big to go in there," cried June.

"I'll fix that," said Starbright.

She waved her wand and they became as small as mice, and in they went.
