Islander's Sad Fate in Newton Mass—The Result of a Collision.

The following dispatch from an exchange tells of the accidental death of an Islander. THE GUARDIAN has made enquiries concerning Mr. Edmund Taylor and gleaned the following particulars:—Mr. Edmund Taylor was a son of the late Mr. William Taylor of Hamilton, Lot 18. He left the Island about twelve years ago. He was a steady industrious man and was about 40 years of age. Three sisters survive him who reside at Taunton, Mass. THE GUARDIAN deeply sympathises with the relatives in their sudden and sad bereavement.

NEWTON, Mass. March 7.—Edmund Taylor, a teamster employed by D. Warren & Co., expressmen, of Newton Lower Falls, was thrown from his wagon on Tremont street this evening by a collision with a Boston elevated electric car and almost instantly killed. Several stories are told by the witnesses of the accident. It was shortly before 7 when the Commonwealth A. v. car, which left Newton for Boston at 6.42 struck the heavily loaded express wagon driven by Taylor, on Tremont st., near the corner of Pembroke.

The wagon was headed towards Newton, and the car struck the wheels on the right side, throwing the vehicle toward the southerly curbstone. The horses started violently at the shock, and turned abruptly towards the side of the road. Taylor was thrown from his seat on the side away from the car and was cragged nearly 70 yards, being evidently entangled in the reins. Those who witnessed the accident thought that it was a bale of goods which had fallen from the wagon and Taylor's condition was not discovered for some time.

When his body was found he had been dead for several minutes. The injury, which resulted fatally, was a fracture of the skull. In addition to this, the marks of several less serious injuries were found on the body.

The electric car was in charge of C. S. Brown, conductor, and John F. Anderson, motorman. Anderson states that the wagon when struck was directly in the middle of the tracks. In this statement he is contradicted by several passengers, who state that the wagon was on the right hand track coming out. Taylor's body was taken to station 1, where it was viewed by medical examiner Utley. It was later turned over to a Lower Falls undertaker.

Taylor was 40 years of age and was born in Prince Edward Island. He was formerly employed by Richard Dennison of Weston and had been in the employ of the Warren company at Lower Falls for about 10 years. He was well liked in Lower Falls and was held in high esteem by his employers. He was unmarried and boarded on Washington street, opposite Grove. His only near relative as far as is known is Miss Ella Taylor of Taunton.
