

AGED PAINTER RECEIVES HONORS.

Sidney Cooper, the veteran English painter, now in his 88th year, recently travelled from Canterbury to Windsor to receive a decoration from King Edward. Although Cooper's pictures are ridiculed by some critics, four of them were shown at the Royal Academy this year, and three of them were sold for $5,875.

Agonies of Rheumatism Banished by Paine's Celery Compound

The Only Medicine
That Can Save Pain-Racked Sufferers.

A Marvellous Cure After Use of Seven Bottles of the Great Compound.

Paine's Celery Compound, has absolute proofs that it has effected complete cures in 97 per cent of the cases of rheumatism in which it has been used. The worst sufferer is healed, crutches thrown away, and the poor cripple of yesterday becomes the vigorous man or woman of today. Mr. Wm. Morissette, of Roxton Pond Que., writes thus:
Having been given up to die some time ago by some of the best doctors in the United States, I came to Canada last autumn terribly ill, and had lost all hope. Suffering agonies from inflammatory rheumatism, I was strongly urged to use Paine's Celery Compound. I gave it a trial as recommended, and the first bottle did me so much good I continued with the medicine until I had used seven bottles, when I found myself perfectly cured; indeed, I never felt better in all my life than at present. I never felt better in all my life than at present. I use every possible means to tell others of Paine's Celery Compound, and will always recommend it to those troubled with rheumatism."

Pickling Season.

The pickling season has arrived and like many other duties the pickling of them is postponed from time to time and at last the anxious housekeeper is face to face with the fact that the season has come and gone and those toothsome dainties so dear to men's palate are beyond their reach.

The pickling season only lasts a short time and the time to put them down is when the material to make them is at its cheapest. That season is now, not next week.

Every housekeeper should make their own pickles, you know then what you have, much of the imported article is decidedly unwholesome.

We have a full line of cucumbers, small white onions, cauliflower, green tomatoes for chow chow, ripe tomatoes, red peppers, mixed spices &c. Onions wholesale and retail, and any quantity to suit small retailers, also a full line of vegetables including sugar-corn, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, beets, carrots, butter beans, squash, cucumbers (large for slicing) &c. at Gay's market stalls—Saturday from 6 to 10 evening only.

PUBLIC PICNIC

To Sir Louis Davies at Kingston

ADDRESS AND SPEECH

Hundreds Join in Tribute to the Retiring Federal Minister.

The village of Kingston was en fete on Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the picnic in honor of Sir Louis H. Davies, who had signified his desire to take leave of his constituents preparatory to his retirement from political life. Many carriages drove out from Charlottetown while from the countryside in every direction the people gathered in hundreds. A gentle slope on the farm of Mr. William Croker had been selected as the place of meeting. Here a platform had been erected for the speaking and for the fine band of the 4th Regiment which was in attendance and discoursed sweet music at intervals during the afternoon. Near by were refreshment booths where the inner wants of all could be supplied from time to time as occasion required. Over each and all of these structures floated the national colors, gently swayed by the afternoon breeze. Light clouds tempered the heat of the sun and made the temperature just right for comfort. Far along the line of the road to right and left were the carriages in which the well-to-do electors had been conveyed, with their wives and daughters to the grounds. It was a splendid concourse of the solid yeomanry of West Queens that had assembled.

After the band had discoursed a number of favorite airs Sir Louis Davies, Lady Davies, Premier and Mrs. Farquharson, various members of the Local Government and others took their seats upon the platform. Among those present on the platform or near at hand THE GUARDIAN noticed the following:

- Hon. D. A. McKinnon.
- Hon. D. Farquharson.
- Hon. A. Peters.
- Hon. Jas. Richards.
- Geo. Hughes, M. L. A.
- Dr. Douglas, M. L. A.
- J. F. Whelan, M. L. A.
- Hon. B. Rogers.
- A. W. Owen, Ottawa.
- W. F. Tidmarsh.
- Oliver Mason, Southport.
- Walter Matheson.
- Horace Hazard.
- Dan. McLeod.
- R. Bearlston.
- Major Stewart.
- Thos. Campbell.
- John Balderson.
- Daniel Fraser.
- Silas Crosby.
- Ewen McMillan.
- Murdock McLean.
- Ewen Campbell.
- J. B. McDonald.
- Dwight Foster.
- John H. Bell.
- George McLeod.
- Ewen McLeod.
- S. F. Blanchard.
- Sheriff Robertson.
- F. J. Nash.
- Murdock McLeod.
- T. B. Rieley.
- Major Weeks.

It was after 4 o'clock when the formal proceedings of the day began and Mr. Hugh McMillan of New Haven, took the chair. After a brief introductory he called upon Hon. John Balderson to read the following address which was listened to with close attention:

ADDRESS.
To the Hon. Sir Louis Henry Davies, K. C. M. G. Minister of Marine and Fisheries.
Sir,—On behalf of the electors of Southern West Queens, we welcome you to Kingston to-day.
The joy of this occasion however, is fraught with sorrow owing to your approaching retirement from public life and the fact that we now greet you for the last time as the honored representative of West Queens.

Your career of nearly thirty years of public life has been one of marked success and rapid rise. Striving always in the best interest of your county and your native Province in particular, you have secured to Prince Edward Island a more equitable proportion of the expenditure of the Dominion and obtained for it greater recognition than it ever before received in its history. Indeed it is not too much to say that by your eloquence rare ability and magnetic personality you have shed lustre upon your native land and have placed your own name high on the scroll of eminent Canadians.

Early in your public career, as Premier of this Island you framed and placed on our statute books statesmanlike measures the benefits of which we and our children are reaping to-day. Since entering the wider field of federal politics and becoming a Minister of the Crown your ability as a statesman, your fame as an orator and your integrity as a man have won the admiration and confidence of the Dominion and its Parliament, and notably that of your confederates in the Cabinet, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Prime Minister of Canada.

On the larger questions of international importance we were proud to note that upon you was conferred the distinguished honor of being a representative of this broad Dominion and of sitting in conference with the greatest jurists and statesmen of the Empire and of the United States of America. Although engaged in these great questions you, Sir, never lost sight of Prince Edward Island, but industriously and indefatigably fought for our rights while laboring and aiming to the end that Canada as a whole might grow and prosper, that her resources might be developed and protected and that she should continue her onward march until she takes her place amongst the foremost nations of the world—always the bright jewel in Britain's crown.

In the zenith of your career we are called upon to bid you farewell. You have been faithful to your stewardship, you have brought the name of Prince Edward Island into prominence abroad and the confidence reposed in you by our people has been amply justified, and all, irrespective of party or creed acknowledge your great talents and your devotion to your country.

Your elevation at the close of your political life to the Bench of the Supreme Court of Canada, the highest tribunal of justice in the country, is a fitting tribute to your worth and service—we therefore unite in tendering our sincere felicitations and wish you, Sir Louis and Lady Davies, many years of continued happiness. We trust that you will spend each succeeding summer in your Island home and assure you that you will ever live in the recollection of your friends in West Queens.

The conclusion of the address was marked by loud applause. Just as Sir Louis stepped forward to reply he was intercepted by little Miss Mildred who presented him with a handsome bouquet followed by a like gift to Lady Davies, Premier Farquharson and Mrs. Farquharson. The applause was hearty when Sir Louis stepped to the front of the platform. He was in fine form and has seldom spoken more happily than in the half hour of his reply to the address. His remarks were non political, couched in his usual graceful diction and made frequent reference to the fidelity with which the electors of Queen's County and more recently of West Queens had stood by him throughout the thirty years during which he had been their representative. Laughter and applause punctuated his address from beginning to end, and there was a touch of almost pathetic interest as he closed, thanking his lifelong supporters for their hearty support and continued fidelity, and announcing his intended retirement from political life.

Premier Farquharson proposed three cheers for Sir Louis, which were very heartily given, followed by "one more" which surpassed the others. Then followed a series of eight short speeches, not one of which exceeded ten minutes in length and all of which were highly eulogistic of Sir Louis' great services and brilliant career embodying also regret at the severance of political relations which had been so long and so happily maintained. Premier Farquharson was the first speaker and his faithful supporters in the West River district gave him three rousing cheers as he closed.

Attorney General Peters, Hon. D. A. McKinnon, M. P., Dr. Douglas, M. L. A., Horace Hazard, Esq., Hon. Jas. Richards, Mr. James McLean and Mr. Cyrus Crosby followed, all of whom were generously applauded. Cheers for the King, for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and for others followed, and then the band again had its innings while the guests proceeded to the tables where a capital collation was served. The evening shades were falling before the company separated, all quite prepared to vote the picnic one of the most enjoyable they had ever attended.
