New Premier Of France Had Varied Career

By CARL HARTMAN
PARIS, Oct. 16 (AP) Jules Moch, naval engineer, lawyer, resistance leader, pilot, Sunday painter and policeman extraordinary, today added "Premier of France" to his list of occupations.
A convinced Socialist, Moch (rhymes with "Duck") holds undisputed first place among the Communist pet hates in France.
This stems from his two years in control of the French police, as Minister of Interior. A close associate said recently:
"The boss runs the police on a military principle—the more force the less bloodshed."

N. S. Frowns On Flag-Waving To Attract Tourists

By Rae Correll
HALIFAX, Oct. 16 - (CP) - Nova Scotia Governor, Sir ear-tuned to mutterings from south of the border, is out discouraging excessive American flag-waving in the province during the tourist season.
The action was not prompted by unfriendliness toward United States visitors. Instead, authorities are taking a dim view of indiscriminate flying of the Stars and Stripes because some Yanks are complaining about it.
Director Tom Courtney, of the N.
S. Information Bureau, said the issue may come before sessions here next week of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus.

Suggests 15 Million People Leave Britain

By J.M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(Associated Press News Analyst)
If the United States really wants to help Britain permanently, the Population Reference Bureau suggests she might provide ships to remove a third of the Island's people to other parts of the Commonwealth.
The Bureau, a non-profit private organization of American scientists which makes a continuing study of population problems, does not approach the idea as a fantasy.
The movement of 15,000,000 people would not be easy, it says, "but it would be much cheaper to move a 140-pound person once than to move some 1400 pounds of food-plus other raw materials - every year to support that person if he remains in Britain."
The Bureau thus adopts a belief that is gaining widespread acceptance. It is that Britain is not likely, ever again, to be able to support her population.
Once she has made it once accustomed, or even to continue to support it in the emergency manner which is followed now.
Britain grew to world eminence because of an early monopoly on the tools and skills which produced what we have come to call the industrial revolution.
As her population grew it was forced to seek new means of support, and as they were found the population grew. But the world is no longer the place for pioneering that it was 200 years ago, competition has overtaken Britain, and her economy threatens to become more and more insular, since her natural resources at home are slender.
The idea of emigration has received attention in Britain since the war, but has been discouraged by the cost to people who have been sent out of their surplus funds, and by restrictions on the amount of money which can be taken from the country. And the Government has feared the country might be robbed of skilled labor.
Migration would, the report says, improve both the living standards of those who leave as well as those who stay, and make the United Kingdom more nearly self-supporting. The Commonwealth would be strengthened in its outlying parts.
From the American standpoint, it is claimed, billions of dollars in capital aid and natural resources could be saved, and such friendly countries on the United States perimeter as Canada and Australia would be built up.
Any such movement will be a slowly developing thing. Things Director Tom Courtney, of the N. S. Information Bureau, said the issue may come before sessions here next week of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus.

For some time, the annual stream of Americans into Canada, has signaled the appearance of Old Glory on hardware stores, ham- burg stands and city halls from coast to coast. When the last visitor goes home, the bunting disap- pears.

Widespread use of the U.S. flag outside its own country acts on some Americans like a red rag to a bull. They feel embarrassed. Some regard the act as a patronizing insult to induce the Yank to part with his money. Others say Can- ada has no right to fly their flag in such a manner because it is not done through patriotism.

There are, however, those Amer- ican who say the practice makes them feel right at home. They like it. Still others counter with the statement that they don't want to feel that much at home—if they did they wouldn't take a vacation to get away from it all.

The Bureau maintains the ad- vent of Old Glory into a window- full of men's shirts or watermelon is simply an expression of friend- liness. The same goes for those signs welcoming tourists. None will call it a promotional idea.

The Provincial Government is at- tempting, with some success, to stop the whole business through various publications directed at hotel and cabin owners. They argue that you wouldn't find the Union Jack flying from Boston City Hall on ordinary occasions; therefore, why should Canadians fly anything but their own banner?

Store-keepers maintain the use of that is the previous use of that sign welcoming tourists. None will call it a promotional idea.

One official flying from Boston City Hall on ordinary occasions; therefore, why should Canadians fly anything but their own banner?
