Gandhi Adopts Role Of Pacifist

GENEVIA, Dec. 12—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi in making a farewell address today said the League of Nations lacked the necessary sanctions to enforce its decisions as demonstrated by its efforts in the Manchurian controversy.

Speaking at a gathering organized by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, he suggested that the League adopt his methods of non-violence as a means of achieving its aims.

Switzerland should be brave enough to dispense with its army, he said, and thus give the world a real object lesson in disarmament. He cited the case of Belgium during the great war to show that no army could save a nation from invasion by stronger forces.

When asked from the audience how workers could obtain justice without violence if capitalism resorted to force, he replied: "If only Labor will recognize that capital is helpless without labor, labor will then come into its own. We have come under the hypnotic influence of capital and think of it as the only thing on earth. This is a fallacy.

"When Capital wants Labor to say 'yes' Labor should roar 'no' even though the workers should be obliged to bare their chests to bullets and breathe poison gas. In the words of the Bible: "You cannot save yourself unless you are prepared to lose yourself."

Cunard S. S. Cancel Building Of Ocean Liner

LONDON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The decision of the Cunard Steamship Company to suspend construction on the giant 73,000 ton liner by which it was hoped to regain the blue ribbon of the Atlantic, caused great disappointment through Britain today.

In explaining its action to shareholders, the company issued a statement saying it was not even earning the depreciation covering on old ships and that the "decline in passenger and freight traffic seems to have no limit and the outlook for 1932 is very grave."

Work on the new liner had already been begun at Clydebank and it was scheduled to be launched in February. It was to have been the largest and fastest afloat and was to have cost £4,500,000. It was to have been luxurious and complete in every detail, even to a stock exchange board.

Disappointment at the suspension was more than sentimental. There were 3,000 workmen employed in its construction and thousands more, comprising entire towns in that locality, were engaged in the manufacture of fixtures.

"This will be the last straw," said a ship building authority. "Already 70 per cent of the Clydesiders are idle and now practically all will be."

New York Plan To Be Submitted

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—(By The Canadian Press)—Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York Power Authority, told the St. Lawrence society last night that the U. S. federal government after many months of controversy and negotiations with the state, finally had recognized the importance of adjusting the issues between them before completing an International Treaty on the St. Lawrence Power project with Canada.

Mr. Walsh said New York was entitled not only to the right to utilize the power but to the right to use it on an economical basis and in accordance with an economically sound plan.

"Our plan," he said, "requires only a single flight of locks and furnishes a maximum of sailing in a pool instead of in canals where vessels must reduce speed. The plan also elimates the hazard of building a dam in the swift channel of the river by building it on dry land and bringing the river to it.

"The New York plan would save $70 000,000 as compared with the lates alternative plan and would mean more power."

Stars Of The Baseball Kingdom

(By Canadian Press)

CHICAGO, ILLS., Dec. 14.—For the first time since Ty Cobb accomplished the feat in 1917-18-19, the American League has a repeater as its individual batting champion—Al Simmons of the Philadelphia athletics.

The official averages of the junior circuit for the 1931 campaign just released, give Simmons a leading mark of 390 for 128 games, better by 17 points than the average that gave him the 1930 title and the best since 1925 when Harry Heilman of Detroit, had 39. The record of the Amercan League champions' siege gun includes an even 200 hits, 105 runs, 329 total bases, 37 doubles, 13 triples, and 22 home runs.

While Simmons repeated as the individual leader, a great share of the batting glory went to the great New York Yankee pair, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Ruth, in his eighteenth season under the big top, enjoyed his greatest season. He finished second to Simmons in the individual list with an average of 373, tied with Gehrig in home runs with 46 scored 149 runs for second place in that department, and hit safely 199 times for 374 total bases. It was the tenth season during which his total bases exceeded 300, the enth in which he hit 40 or more homers.

Gehrig landed fifth in batting with a mark of 341, and set a new American League record of 184 for runs batted in, along with leading the scores with 163 runs, tieing for the home run title, and collecting the most total bases, 410.

Earl Webb, Boston outfielder, a former National Leaguer making good in the American in a big way, also set a new record for both major leagues in two base hits.

Another Yankee star, outfielded Ben Chapman, crowned into the list of select performers by stealing 61 bases, the best mark since Cobb collected 96 in 1915, as well as scoring 120 runs and driving in the same number. Roy Johnson of the Detroit Tigers, led in three base hits with 19, and George (Mule) Haas of the athletics topped the League in sacrifices with 19.

The Yankees won the team batting title with an average of 297, just one point better than the mark of the Cleveland Indians.

Ed Morgan of Cleveland was third in batting with 361 and Gordon (Mickey) Cochran of Philadelphia fifth with 349.

Congress Worried About War Debts

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12 (By the Canadian Press)—Congress found itself with the war debts issue on its hands last night, placed there in a presidential recommendation for relief to European debtor nations.

Sending the moratorium up to Capitol Hill for approval, President Hoover said "the present economic emergency" necessitates further "temporary adjustments" in amounts owed this country.

One of the first to differ with him was Senator Borah, foreign relations committee chairman. He lost no time saying another revision "on a basis of capacity to pay would about wipe out the debts."

Late in the day Representative Collier informed the President there is little chance for the moratorium to be ratified by December 15, the next due date on debts. He is the Democratic chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which first examines the proposal.

Canada Gradually Shows Improvement

(By Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—While the world lags commercially speaking the Canadian situation shows improvement and there is an amelioration of the depression in Great Britain according to the United States Department of commerce.

In its weekly survey of business conditions the department says Canadian retail trade is larger, manafacture of agricultural implements is more active and lumber prospects brighter.

"The demand for industrial chemicals is good. Christmas hardware trade is active. Conditions in the used car market are good and demand for replacement parts continues. Dairy and creamery equipment is moving well."

The report says that since the suspension of the gold standard in Great Britain trade and production show some improvement and that the textile steel and engineering industries are better. Building activities show more than a seasonal increase.

Parisian Lawyers Mending Roads

(Canadian Press)

PARIS, Dec. 14—There were gay scenes on the highways of Montpellier, the principal city of the Herault, when the younger members of the Montpellier bar went forth armed with picks and shovels and worked as ordinary road menders. They elected to do this instead of paying local rates, which they hold to be excessive—thus exercising the right of every French citizen—a right inherited from feudal times—to pay certain levies in kind instead of in cash.

This novel protest against ever-increasing taxation was a picturesque affair. The association of the young lawyers of the city had addressed letter to its members explaining exactly what would be expected of them. The administration it was pointed out, only furnished the protective glasses worn by its flint breakers. The barristers, therefore under these instructions, provided themselves with spades, pickaxes and hammers, and reported for duty clad in stout boots and leather gaiters. Moreover, they also brought with them their "victuals for the mid-day repast," and consumed them on the scene of operations at the Cafe Pont-du-Jour.

Yap Island Has No Gold Worries

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 14—Bankers have discovered at least one country that is completely unperturbed over the gold standard, bimetallism and fluctuating paper currency.

The Chase National Bank has just received for its collection of moneys of the world two samples of currency from the Island of Yap This tiny island in the Pacific is on a stone currency basis. This money is known as "fei". While it is somewhat inconvenient to carry while shopping, it is lasting and not easily stolen.

Of the three pieces of fei obtained by the bank, the prize one is 26 inches in diameter and weighs 120 pounds. This particular piece of money is said to be 200 years old, and it is big money in Yap. It will purchase an 18 foot canoe, and is almost enough to purchase a wife.

Such money is not hidden or hoarded in Yap. The native often proudly displays it in front of his house.
