SCOTT ACT IS NOW MAKING MONCTON DRY

Not a Drunk Arrested for One Week, Longest Period for Some Time—Seven Dealers Fined in Last Three Days

MONCTON, Nov. 20.—(Special)—That the recent brace up in local Scott Act enforcement has had some effect is evidenced by the fact that for exactly one week not a single drunk has been arrested.

This is the longest period for some time the police court has been entirely free of drunks. This morning two more fifty dollar Scott Act fines were imposed, making a total of seven in three days.

DISCOURTESY OF THE RAILWAY STEWARDS NOTED

And United States Court Make Them Pay for their Brutality

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—A passenger was ejected from a car of the Union Traction Company, Chicago, some time since for failing to produce a transfer ticket. On account of the crowded condition of the car the transfer was jostled from her hand and fell from the car. A number of witnesses informed the conductor that the passenger had a transfer, but she was forced from the car by the conductor who assailed her with offensive epithets. The jury in the lower court gave the ejected passenger $1,200 damages.

The case was appealed the Supreme Court of Illinois, where it was urged that the verdict was excessive. The Supreme Court declined to take such a narrow view of the case, and held that the plaintiff was entitled to recover damages for insults as well as the actual cash loss sustained. The Court ruled that the passengers of a public carrier are entitled to courteous treatment and that it is the duty of the carrying company to see that its employees give this sort of treatment to its passengers.

ALAS, POOR DUNS.

A man with a brain like a hare Thought the Guardian's just judge to scold, In what he did write He showed up his spite And signed himself Duns Scotus there.

Monday, many rank things he did say, But he was at so spiteful next day: So he wrote a P. S. Contradicting his mess, And he felt's now like hiding away. A Limerick, written for fun, "Duns Scotus" has never yet won; So he thinks he knows more Than the judge, and says "this shall be done. My dogs in the manger be fewer In our fair town, and may newer Comeptions be tried To show Duns Scotus lied, And make his blue countenance b'lier. T. T.

TREASON OF FRENCH OFFICER ESTABLISHED

Lieutenant Ulmo Proved to Have Sold Secrets of French Navy

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The treason of Ensign Ulmo, of the French navy, who was arrested at Tonkin, on Oct. 25, on the charge of being a spy, and who, it was announced, subsequently had confessed, is now considered to be firmly established. There is no longer much doubt that he made several trips to Germany and delivered documents to the Chief of the German spy service at Brussels, which will necessitate a complete revision of the French navy and military signal codes and plans for mobilization. Nevertheless the incident is not likely to lead to diplomatic complications with Germany, as spying is a recognized institution in Europe.

PROHIBITION THAT PROHIBITS IN FINLAND

No One May Keep Alcoholic Drinks In Their Houses.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Finland furnished this week a striking example of the effect of universal suffrage combined with vertical control of a socialist theories. Its Legislature consists of a single chamber of two hundred members. Fifty-six percent of the voters at the last election in the towns and fifty percent in the rural districts were women. Nineteen women were elected members of the Chamber. The Social Democratic party elected eighty members and it has other sympathizers. It has just passed a drastic act for total prohibition of spirits, wine, beer, and alcohol, which may be kept only for the use of Russian troops. Even the use of wine for communion service is forbidden. No one may keep alcoholic drinks in his house unless he can prove that they were in his possession before the act was passed. The police have full rights of search, and the penalties vary from a $20 fine to penal provision for three years. There is no provision for loss of capital in breweries, distilleries or private houses.

THE ENGLISH SHOP GIRL GETS SOME PRAISE

According to the American Retailers Association She is a Superb Article

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Leonard Barber, who recently investigated the condition of shop assistants in England for the American Retailers' Association, declares that the girl behind the counter in England is patient and obliging and greatly superior in every way to her American sister. The English girl is always willing to explain the merits of an article. It is stated that a great change will shortly take place in American shops, and that they will be remodelled on English lines. Mrs. Barber criticised the English shops on some points. She said the counters were left almost bare and the methods of paying for purchases were very primitive.

Hurd, who is about fifty years old, is in the hands of a physician. When Hurd appeared in Fair Ground last spring with a woman and two children he was practically a stranger among the townspeople. THE SYMPATHY SWINGING TOWARD SIR PERCY SCOTT

In His Reprimands by Lord Beresford Over Famous Paint Signals.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Although there have been no fresh developments of the Admiral Lord Charles Beresford-Rear Admiral Sir Percy Scott incident the matter continues to be discussed, and has given rise to quite a crop of rumors and canards. The latest is to effect that Lord Charles Beresford threatened to send in his resignation if Sir Percy Scott were not forthwith removed from his command. The sole foundation for this story is to be found in the fact that Lord Charles arrived in London yesterday from Portland, but, seeing that neither public nor press are at all inclined to treat the matter as very serious nor of first rate importance, it is exceedingly unlikely that the commander in chief contemplates any such heroic action.

FAIRYLAND

Strong Program Tonight The Opera House was well pleased last evening when the pictorial programme of five numbers was presented in a clear brilliant light, that brought out all the details with wonderful effect. The scenes in the story of "Returning Good for Evil" were impressive and contained a moral that is bound to have an influence for good. "The Onion Field" was a humorous sketch that produced roars of laughter. "Disciplining Humanity"—described the use of methods aimed to better existing society conditions. It was instructive and entertaining. "Searching for Rooms" depicted the embarrassing predicaments of a prospective bridegroom looking for a home. "Fooling the Motorist" was another comedy presenting the troubles of an automobile man. A new illustrated song entitled "Way Down East," will be sung by Parker Hooper. The pictures were highly praised by all who saw them. They formed a pleasing combination of the dramatic, pathetic, and humorous.
