

NEW ACT WONDERLAND To-night

Bates & Ernest IN THEIR Burlesque Opera

This is the original and star act of these comedians. The singing and dancing is simply immense. We guarantee the closing of this act will create a mild sensation so don't miss to night. Something new for tomorrow.

New Picture Program

The Bargeman's Child

This is a most beautiful and pathetically runs a whole reel and is all beautifully tinted. The scenery along the canal is simply grand. This is only a new picture and is made by the renowned Film Pathe Freres.

Tramps in Clover.

is an exceedingly clever comedy and is bound to keep you laughing from start to finish.

Foot Ball Craze.

This is a great picture of love and jealousy and college life and the big football game. Worth the price of admission alone.

Felling Big Trees.

A most instructive and interesting picture.

New Illustrated Song

"T'AS WHAT THE ROSE SAID TO ME." A new song just out and meeting with great success Sung by MR. AUSTIN TRAINOR with orchestra accompaniment

Ladies, white lawn waists. That these garments are right—in style and price is fully shown by the way they are being bought up, our early shipments being more than half sold. They are made in newest designs, three quarter sleeves and trimmed in late and embroidery effects. McGougan & Wright Summerside. 3-5drl1.

The C. M. B. A. Branch 215 Summerside, held a social and dance in their hall Monday night. About fifty couples were present and a most enjoyable time was spent. The first lady's prize for dancing was won by Miss Zita Durant, and the second by Miss Doyle, gentlemen's first prize was won by C. L. Perry, and the second by Samuel Cameron.

Linens. This is the department for close buyers as we buy our lines direct—and in quantities that command rock bottom prices. You will do yourself an injustice if you buy these goods without first looking over our values in bleached and unbleached table damasks, towels, toweling, table napkins, table cloths, butcher, fronting and embroidery linens. McGougan & Wright, Summerside 3-5drl1.

The death occurred at the residence of her sister, Mrs. McKay of Summerside of Miss Mary Ann Kelly in her 80th year. Deceased was the misfortune to fall down stairs about a week ago breaking her hip, but on account of her vast age she was not able to overcome the shock and death resulted yesterday. She leaves to mourn her brothers John O'Leary and one sister Mrs. McKay of Summerside. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon.

Fairyland in Summerside is getting more popular all the time as a place of amusement. One can go on at any time get a good seat and enjoy himself for an hour at a very small cost. The pictures shown are the very best procurable. The machine used to produce them comes Edison's latest patents. The curtain has been treated to a coating which makes it more wear and altogether Fairyland is one of the best equipped houses in the Maritime Provinces. Tonight Miss Cassie Clifford will again delight the audience with her catchy songs and dances. Mr. Whitney will again sing Down in the Old Cherry Orchard the latest and most popular song of the day. The slides used are the best seen here. Get the habit, come to Fairyland.

The sudden and unexpected death is announced of Mrs. Fred McKim Amherst, N. S. Mrs. McKim, although in rather poor health for some time, was still able to be about the house and retired last evening as usual about nine o'clock. About 4.30 Monday she awakened her husband complaining of a severe pain and shortness of breath and before he could summon any assistance or render any aid, passed away almost immediately the cause of death being from heart failure. Mrs. McKim's maiden name was Miss Agnes Crooke, she was a native of Summerside, but her mother and two sisters reside in Allison Mass. One brother James Crooke resides in Amherst on La Plancher St. and another brother resides in San Francisco. She was married to Mr. McKim last July and at the time of her death was only twenty-four years of age.

MILLINERY NEWS

We have just received from a leading Toronto firm several cases of new Millinery goods, in Shapes, Ribbons, Plumes, Wings, Flowers, etc. Besides we have opened up a large shipment of English millinery goods of all kinds. These goods are, we think, the most beautiful we have ever received, and Charlottetown ladies may expect something unusually nice the coming season in the millinery line.

In this connection we wish to announce that we have secured the services of Miss Agnes M. Walpert a refined and talented lady, who has had successful charge of several important millinery depts in the larger Centres.

She is now attending the millinery openings abroad, where we have secured for her the privilege of spending a few weeks in copying the latest Parisian, and other important models, for our trade. She will also select and purchase the latest novelties in millinery and millinery materials, after which she will proceed to Ch' Town, where we expect her to arrive in a few weeks time, after which she will be ready to cater to the millinery wants of our customers.

In the meantime Miss Flynn our capable first assistant milliner is in charge, and will be pleased to attend to all immediate requirements in the Millinery line in a pleasing and satisfactory manner.

Money Saved on DAINTY WALLPAPERS

You will find among our Wall Paper Remnants, papers suitable alike for the decoration of the parlor, the hall, dining room, library, den or sleeping rooms, and any or all of these can now be obtained at less than actual cost. How can we do it? Simply because our sales during the past year have been phenomenal and all these lines have been cleared out—down to these last few rolls—at a small profit thereon and we are willing now to sacrifice the remaining lots, which contain from 4 to 11 double rolls each with borders to match, in order to have empty bins, for an enormous new stock, which we will tell you of later. These remnants are being rapidly picked up, but as there is not an undesirable pattern or quality in the lot, the last will be equally as desirable as the first.

They will remain on sale until all are cleared out. Of course there is always a larger choice for early comers, and for this reason we council promptness in selection.

Our remnants in dress goods, muslins and all other lines, will now be confined to the centre counter, leaving the main counters face for the display of our elegant new stock.

There are many really desirable "snaps" among these remnants suitable for many different purposes. Embrace this chance to secure them.
