Moncton Team Undaunted By Defeat

OTTAWA, March 21.—(Dud) James, pilot of the Moncton Maroons, was far from downcast following his team's loss to Brookville Magedomas 6-3 here Saturday night. "We will do better on Monday night; you can be sure of that," James said as he was looking forward to the resumption of the series in the first round of Allan Cup play.

The players were in excellent spirits and were whooping and cheering while getting into their street clothes following the game. Yvon Goud, centre-ice player on the second line was telling Bob Malenfant to be careful while the latter was under the showers. "Better watch the sticking-plaster on your back," Goud shouted. Malenfant had a lot of tape draped around his back following a recent injury.

"Kenny Carroll, captain of the team, said he had nothing to comment on the game. He admitted, however, that they (Brookville) had a nice team."

"The Maritimers were not downcast and would not admit they had lost the series."

"Monday night it will be different," yelled Babe LeBlanc, a pint-sized forward, as he disappeared into the showers. He seemed to say what all the other players merely had in their minds.

REFUSES

German newspapers assailed a speech in the Chamber of Deputies by Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France in which he brought out that France has secured from Great Britain more precise guarantees of military help in case of aggression than she had before. The press called this the "snake in the grass" of the Locarno program and "a direct step backward towards Versailles."

minister at Paris, today was instructed by the Ethiopian government to ask the French Foreign Office for an explanation of Foreign Minister Flandin's recent allusion to peace prospects during his speech in the Chamber of Deputies. (M. Flandin said revival of the "Stress Front," now will be realized, thanks to the opening of peace negotiations recently effected in Geneva. In our opinion these negotiations will bring about a rapid and simultaneous cessation of hostilities in East Africa and the lifting of sanctions.)

Reports reaching here yesterday said 27 women and children were killed in an Italian air raid on Irza Alem, northwest of General Graziani's base at Neghelli.

Claim Successes

Despatches from the Northern Front announced Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa, directing the guerrilla fighting in the Tembele, had scored successes over the Italian forces in the Warri Valley. The two commanders staged a surprise attack on the Italian positions, inflicting heavy losses, the reports said.

Other reports from the north said the Emperor was leading his troops in an offensive against the Italian forces in the Wabeg area. The Emperor's forces had succeeded in concentrating a strong force behind the Italian lines.

and friend in Europe henceforth and until after the next war. "The Empire is not on my side," continues Lord Beaverbrook. "The Dominions are not with us. They would not come with us into the Locarno Treaty. There is no prospect of their taking part in European commitments more burdensome, more binding, more certain to end in disaster than Locarno. 'God save the Empire and protect us from scheming, foolish politicians at home and abroad. If we make this alliance we commit ourselves to war—near or remote, nevertheless inevitable—and to that war we shall march without the Dominions, without the brothers whom we forgot but who never yet have forgotten us in our hour of peril.'"

Berwick Apple Warehouse Burned

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
BERWICK, N. S., March 22.—Fire swept through the apple warehouse of P. A. Parker and sons, one of the best equipped in the Annapolis Valley, here today, causing damage estimated at $21,000. Other property, valued at $500,000, was endangered by the fire.

Death Toll In Floods Menace

leaders here agreed "the worst was past." Fair but cold weather was predicted for New England, and the flood division of the weather bureau said this should end major flood troubles there.

Waters Recede

BOSTON, March 22.—(A. P.)—Flood waters in New England, except in the Saco River area, receded slowly today, leaving unestimated damages and scenes of desolation in their wake.

The Saco River, continuing its rampage, ripped away two spans of the Somerville bridge between Biddeford and Saco in Maine. Elsewhere the recession of the floods, brought action to avert pestilence.

The known dead increased to 23. The body of a man, well-dressed and about 40, was found in Lowell.

Medical officers reported no signs of an epidemic. Drastic regulations were put into effect, however, to prevent one. Persons were not allowed to return to their homes until the local board of health had given permission.

Precautionary Measures Taken

PITTSBURGH, March 22.—(AP)—Rivers climbed again today as relief agencies used every resource to halt disease and suffering among homeless thousands in this steel center.

Water, paradoxically, continued to be the greatest need. Flood stages halted pumping stations. There has been no drinking water for four days.

Many sections of the city are without water for fire fighting. Electric power is off. All homes and business places are using candles or lamps. Only enough electricity is available for street lights.

The new rise in the rivers, expected to reach the flood stages of 25 feet, came from a driving blizzard over the water-head of the Ohio.

But reaching the flood stage merely would slow up the big task underway—rehabilitation from a 45.9 foot flood which originated in the city of 700,000, killing 58 in the metropolitan area, forcing 50,000 from their homes and causing damage estimated at $25,000,000 or more.

Relief agencies sought to immunize thousands exposed to typhoid, dread aftermath of floods. Serum is available for 400,000.

Slowly but surely, life returned to the industrial center. Transportation services crept about on a partial schedule. Communications were restored in part. Some industries cleaned away mud and debris and prepared to start operations again.

needed for a revival. The Charlottetown corps has a splendid record in the number of officers that have left here to carry on the work in other fields.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the service was opened by Major Stevens. Major Keith took charge of a dedication service in which Major Stevens and Mrs. Stevens' youngest son, Ian Kenneth, was dedicated to the Salvation Army.

Major Godden gave the sermon comparing the progress of Moses and the children of Israel during their forty years in the wilderness to the progress of the Salvation Army in Charlottetown during the past fifty.

At the three o'clock service Major Keith was the speaker. He spoke on the work of the Salvation Army and read a list of officers who had gone out of Charlottetown. In that connection he mentioned Prof. Hawley, who composed a song, "From the General down to me."

In concluding his address Major Keith exhorted the comrades to keep their trials and difficulties and carry on with faith in an ultimate victory and give a whole hearted service to God.

The series of anniversary services closes tonight with a "birthday service."

The End Of Vision Uncertainty

Lack of knowledge and uncertainty and neglect are responsible for every case of visual error that CONTINUES. To take advantage of facilities for improving vision, which exist everywhere, means the end of worry and uncertainty and the beginning of visual comfort and better general health.
