

There is No Dodging It.

Swift and Noiseless it comes when you least expect it.

Unless the system be fortified against attack, any person—who is naturally weak chested—cannot hope to escape. There is no dodging the consequences of sudden change in the weather, damp feet or a draughty room, such an unfortunate is struck on every occasion—he cannot dodge them like a robust man does. All these dangers, however, may be avoided by the use and aid of Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure. This medicine proceeds, in the beginning, to build up and strengthen the entire system and purifies the blood. A perfectly clean and permanent cure is thus rendered possible. The sore, irritated, delicate fibres,—the membranes—will not heal until the wound is made healthy.

A Neglected Cough May Carry You Off Take Shiloh To-night To-morrow All Right.

Every time the Shiloh Cure is used it effects a cure: this result is guaranteed. The druggist has instructions to refund the purchase money in full if it fails to do so. Read what Mrs. E. Wilton, of Plainville, Pa., says:

DEAR SIR,—“Some six years ago I sent you a testimonial on your Shiloh Consumption Cure, and I do not think of using anything else as I find it answers in almost anything. In fact, as our family is prone to sore throats and have weak chests, they will not hear tell of any other thing but Shiloh's Cure. It has no equal in our family as some of them always have the worst of colds, but they are soon cured with the wonderful Shiloh Cure. We are never without it. My little ones cry for it. If you think this is worth printing, do so, or refer any one to me and I will gladly answer them in Shiloh's praise—or anything you think I have left out in its praise—as the more you praise it the better it will suit me. I am, your humble servant, Mrs. E. WILTON.”

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is sold in Canada and the United States, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 a bottle; in England, 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d. and 4s. 6d. S. C. Wells Co., Toronto.

A KNOWING ONE.

“There's nothing like 'em—I say there's nothing like 'em,” said Harry (who has a trick of interrupting and repeating himself,) putting down the paper.

“Like what?” said Donald.

“Nothing can touch 'em—I say, nothing can touch 'em.”

“What are you talking about?”

“I know—I say, I know what I'm talking about all right.”

“It's more'n I do,” said Donald.

“Nobody knows better—I say, nobody knows better about 'em than I do.”

“I wouldn't doubt it,” said Donald “not for the world, but what the deuce are you talking about?”

“About Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—I say I'm talking about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.”

“What about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?”

“Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the finest medicine for the digestive organs that was ever invented—I say Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the finest medicine ever invented.”

“What are Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?” asked Donald.

“Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets? Don't you know what Dodd's Dyspepsia are? I thought everybody knew about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.”

“What are they good for?” asked Donald.

“Why, Dyspepsia; what do you suppose—I say what do you suppose Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would be good for?”

“Is that all you know about them?”

“That's just about enough for me—I say that's just about enough.”

“What are they made of?” asked Donald.

“Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets? Blessed if I know—I say I'm blessed if I know what they are made of.”

“You're a lobster,” said Donald.

We may say here that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are composed principally of Pepsin and Diastase, the two great natural digestants, mixed with sugar.
