In a recent issue of The Montreal Star, appeared the following: Mr. Howard of England, more lately of Indian Point Farm, Prince Edward Island, is in Montreal to-day on his way to revolutionize the growing of English oats in the far west. Mr. Howard says it is a mistake that English seed will not produce good results out here. It is simply absurd and he's going to show the people how to do it. Mr. Howard first had experience in growing English oats in this country down in Prince Edward Island, and he turned out such fine crops that he has counted as many as 100 oats on one stalk. That is going some, but he expects to beat it when he turns the sod at Regina, where he intends to locate. This gentleman with all the oat experience hands out the following advice to farmers generally throughout the country. It is "free gratis, for nothing" and he hopes that it will prove of benefit to the public. The subject whereas, Canadian farmers are accustomed to sow two bushels and one peck of seed to the statute acre, they are away off in their reckoning. They should sow four bushels to the statute acre. This, according to Mr. Howard, prevents the oats from stooling and brings along a rattling fine crop.

The Mill View Debating Society met last week. Seymour Weatherbie was called upon to occupy the chair. The Secretary J. R. Monaghan read minutes of the previous meeting which were adopted. Very pleasing to the society was the presence of such a number of visitors, and doubly so was that they took part in the discussion, which was very lively and was one of the most successful of the debate meetings. The subject under debate was which is the stronger passion Love or Hatred. Daniel McEachern opened in favor of hatred and he in a very clear manner showed it to be the stronger passion. He was supported by J. A. Drake, Frank McPhy and J. R. Monaghan. C. W. Sheldon ably responded and clearly showed love to be a stronger passion than hatred. He was supported by A. J. Hynes, David Bert, Chas. McKenzie and William Coady. After several bright points were brought out and thoroughly debated the chairman gave his decision in favour of hatred. A vote of thanks was tendered the chairman for his able and impartial decision and conduct in the chair. The subject for next meeting was chosen and is: Which endures the greater hardships the soldier or the sailor, moved by Chas. McKenzie and seconded by Fred C. Monaghan. This meeting then closed.

The death of the father of S. F. Tarbush of this City will be heard with regret. A despatch from Orilla, Ont., says. Jonas Tarbush, one of the pioneers of Simcoe county, died in Angus Tuesday night. He was in his 95th year, and had been a resident of Angus nearly all his life, having located in the village when he came as a young man from his native State New York. He was a liberal in politics, and in his early days was intimately acquainted with the Hon. George Brown. He leaves a wife and the following family—H. L. Tarbush of Angus; S. F. Tarbush of Charlottetown, P. E. Island; Hubert Tarbush of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Pearce of Galena, Kansas; Mrs. John F. Redell of Hion, N. Y., and Mrs. Aubrook, Midland, Ont.

The home of Mrs. David Inman, Canoe Cove, was the scene of a very happy event recently when her eldest daughter Annie was united in marriage to Duncan A. McDaniel of Long Creek. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jas. McDougall, in the presence of many relatives and friends. The bride was attended by her Cousin Miss Annie McDougall, while the groom was supported by Neil McCannell, brother of the groom after the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining-room where a bountiful repast was served. Many valuable presents were received, which testified to the esteem in which the young couple were held. At a late hour the company dispersed, after wishing Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel a happy and prosperous voyage through life.

Dr. Andrew Macphail, who delivered the address before the Canadian Club in St. John Thursday is a close friend of Rudyard Kipling. It was remembered that it was announced recently that the poet would spend part of the summer with Doctor McPhail at his home P. E. Island. When asked with regard to Mr. Kipling's visit, Dr. Macphail said he could not say anything definite in regard to the matter. Mr. Kipling was at present in South Africa and his future movements were uncertain. He had seen the announcement in the newspapers but it had not originated with him. Speaking of Mr. Kipling, Dr. Macphail who had been very closely in touch with him during his last visit to Canada, said the popular idea of his character was by no means correct. As a matter of fact he was shy and retiring and did not at all regard himself as worth bothering about. Mr. Kipling regarded himself as two distinct personalities and in expressing surprise at the fact that was made over him frequently remarked that Kipling the author was a different person from Kipling the private individual, and he wondered people did not realize the fact.
