QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS FOR AIR RAID VICTIMS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the plight of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all, places where all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them to once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth has permitted the use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims."

Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy.

Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date:

Received yesterday:
Princess Mary L.O.B.A., Craipaud, $5.00.
Searlown Women's Institute and Middleton Women's Institute, O'Leary, $5.00.
Previously acknowledged, $1,340.88.
Total—$1,355.88.

"I Thought I Was Killed"

BRITISH FIREMAN SENDS VIVID ACCOUNT OF BOMB ADVENTURE

The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims has received a letter from Britain in that describes as near an escape as a man can ever have survived. The writer, an auxiliary fireman describes being spun round "as if attached to a Catherine wheel". He concludes with a tribute to the Canadian soldiers overseas, two of whom were injured by the same bomb. The letter reads:

"I am a fireman in the Dover Auxiliary Fire Service, and during the hectic months of last summer the service worked a number of long hours owing to the fact that we were a little under full complement strength and therefore our duties were somewhat infrequent. This state of affairs led to the London Fire Brigade effecting an arrangement with the Dover A.F.S. whereby thirty members of our Brigade went to London for what amounted to a rest and a change, and a similarly thirty London firemen came to Dover for exactly the opposite reason, as at that time London had not been unduly troubled by Jerry.

We arrived at the Capital quite safely and during the week had a very fine time. On the night of the 7th of September I had been for a stroll along the Charing Cross Road, and Jerry planes had been seen in evidence, apparently diving aimlessly across the sky. I did not pay much attention, having previously heard them do precisely the same thing over my home town on many occasions. The hour was the region of 10 o'clock, and I was waiting for a bus to take me back to my temporary station when I heard a plane seemingly overhead, its engines more discernible than usual.

I looked up and at that moment saw what I supposed to be a red fireball followed immediately by a high-pitched whistling noise gradually increasing in density and volume. I threw myself flat to the pavement, having a pretty good idea, however, that I was in the matter of two seconds there was a terrific explosion and I had the impression of being spun round as if I were attached to a Catherine wheel. Myriad thoughts were running through my mind as I strove to retain consciousness, the last thought being that I was killed.

It was a horrible feeling, and on the few occasions that allow myself to think about it I get goose bumps. From information obtained I rather I was out for the space of five minutes.

Upon regaining consciousness I found myself surrounded by two or three bodies, (alive or dead I do not know) and a great deal of broken glass and debris. My first impression was one of disorientation. I was still in the land of the living and I started gingerly to feel my head and neck. For I had the idea that my skull was fractured, as a lot of blood was oozing down my neck and over the front of my tunic, but it seemed as far as I could make out that I was all right in that respect.

"LIKE DRUNKEN MAN"
I had managed to get to my feet by this time and made my way toward a beam of light which was shining into the road. I found this had been deprived of its front window in the manner of a drunken man over the wreckage and saw to my relief some live people. Two of them came forward and got hold of me. They rendered first aid with a field dressing and took me over the road to a First Aid Post where I was again treated, and taken to Hospital.

I send you this as the two people who helped me in the hospital were Canadian soldiers. They intentionally were both injured themselves by the same bomb that had laid me out. One of them had a large piece of crockery embedded in his calf and the other, Sergeant Messham, who carried a Dairy bottle in Montreal, had badly bruised ribs. I found out the latter information from Sergeant Messham, as he and I were neighbours in the Hospital in London, and again when we were transferred to an Hospital on the outskirts of London. So although my bomb caused me much pain and inconvenience I had the compensating pleasure of the crew's desire to one of a body of very fine fellows who have come all the way from Canada to help us. — Yours sincerely, Fireman, Dover A.F.S.

Forty fishermen have been charged and already some cases have been prosecuted. Fines, ranging from ten to twenty dollars, have been imposed. Mr. J. J. Larabee listed the number of cases by Counties as follows: Kings 11; Prince of Wales 1; Queens 9. A good catch has been reported so far this year but, on the other hand, prices are only fair. Canniers are bringing from 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cents a pound and those being exported to America are selling at 7 to 8 cents. The demand is only fair.

Many recruits To R.C.A.F.

"Recruiting for the Royal Canadian Air Force is progressing satisfactorily and has met with great success everywhere in the Dominion." Group Captain A. de Niverville of the R.C.A.F. Headquarters, Ottawa, said yesterday when interviewed shortly after arriving in Charlottetown on an official visit. He leaves today for Halifax, N. S. He referred to the wonderful response of the young men of Canada when a call was sent out to short white aged or 2500 radio technicians. More than this number of applications were received by eager young Canadians across the country. The first lot of radio technicians in Manning Depot, entered Toronto University last Monday to begin their 14-week course. Those who signed up for these duties in the Maritime Provinces will shortly commence their courses in several Maritime Universities.

One of the big problems anticipated by the Royal Canadian Air Force is the matter of getting sufficient air crew recruits. The monthly requirement is steadily increasing as more schools are opening. "We expect to reach the peak of our requirements soon," Group Captain de Niverville said. There are approximately 85 R. C. A. F. schools scattered across Canada at present training young men for service. A Service Flying School is located at Summerside where pilots receive their wings.

Group Captain de Niverville was proud of the type of recruits which have been joining the R. C. A. F. daily and said that they were getting "the cream of the Canadian youth."

He also referred in glowing terms to the young Americans who join the R. C. A. F. "These young men come here with two ideas in their minds—they want to fly and they want to fight Hitler," he said. Many of these recruits come from the Southern States and all of them are keen, eager youths.

There is still a large waiting list for the Air Force but a new system has been devised whereby a recruit applying to get in the service can be told definitely when he will be needed. He is told the date he is to report for duty and is given a button to signify that he has joined up and is awaiting a call. The need for tradesmen is not very great at present but there is an increasing demand for air crews.

FALLS SIXTY FEET TO HIS DEATH

John D. Macdonald, 62, real estate dealer and apartment house owner, was killed late yesterday when he accidentally plunged 60 feet from the roof of his five-story apartment house at 119 Hemlock street, Back Bay, where he also lived.

Macdonald, according to Back Bay police, had gone to the roof to make some repairs and lost his balance while working near the edge of the roof in the rear of the building. His body landed in an alley below. Residents of the apartment hearing the thud as the body struck saw him unconscious on the ground and called Back Bay police. Dr. James A. Fyfe pronounced him dead upon arrival at City Hospital.

Mrs. Abbie M. Macdonald, wife of the accident victim, was out at the time her husband plunged to his death but returned a short time later.

Besides his widow, there survives four brothers and two sisters: Roderick, New Haven, Conn.; George in the Canadian West; Norman, in Ontario; and Colville, N. S.; Wilfred, West Covehead, P. E. I.; Mrs. Robert Hatlie, California; and Mrs. Tena Mathewson, formerly of Boston, now living in Summerside.

Mrs. Macintosh and Mr. Wilfred Macdonald have many friends in musical circles here and the sympathy of their friends is extended to them in the loss of their brother.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?
These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.

During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. NEARLY 200 STUDIED
Dr. Wagner explains that the state of sleep was determined whether signs discoverable—whether they wiggled toes, or how they responded to tiny pin pricks, touches with a camel's-hair brush, or odors like lemon or violet.

NEARLY 200 STUDIED
Dr. Wagner lists the seven stages as follows:
1. The baby is sound asleep. He is absolutely quiet and he breathes very, very regularly.
2. The baby looks exactly as in stage one but his breathing is getting irregular.
3. He is still very quiet and his lips and eyelids are motionless, but he begins to make slight body movements, such as a stir of his head.
4. He is now half way between deepest sleep and complete waking. He is either very quiet or else shows slight body movements as in stage three, and his eyelids now begin to move occasionally.
5. Mouth movements are now added to the eyelid movements and the slight body stirring.
6. The baby is generally active, though his eyes are still closed and he usually shows both eyelid and mouth movements.
7. He is now wide awake, for at his eyes are open.
Dr. Wagner found that the newborn infant spends three hours out of 24 in stage one, when he is most soundly asleep, and 10 hours in stage seven—wide awake.

Sleep Intervals Short
It was noticed that the baby does not sleep soundly the three hours in succession, nor stay awake 10 hours at a stretch. In the hospital he's fed every three or four hours, and has to wake up long enough for this. But Dr. Wagner adds, he does off between times and may even go sound asleep two

Perhaps Baby Doesn't Need Sound Sleeps
TROY, N. Y., May 29—(CP)—Don't worry if your newborn son doesn't sleep at all times. A recent study has shown that they actually sleep soundly only about three hours in 24.

These findings have been announced by Dr. Isabelle Wagner, instructor in psychology and education at Russell Sage College.

According to Dr. Wagner, nature does not require that newborn babies should sleep most of the time, as some parents expect. She says it is easy to believe they are sleeping nearly all the time, since they give clear evidences of wakefulness only by screaming. But the experiments she carried out in the psychology laboratory at University Hospital, Ohio State University, show that instead of merely two stages of crying and not crying, there are seven stages for newborn infants, from soundest sleep to complete waking.

There are now liquid killers on the market to prevent grass or weeds growing in driveways. Gasoline will also do the trick. Care must be exercised to keep these materials away from wanted grass, flowers or shrubbery as they destroy all growth.

Another suitable material for driveways is common salt. Not only will a liberal application of this—about one to two handfuls to the square foot—destroy grass, weeds, poison ivy, etc., but it will also bind gravel and soil together into an even surface, keep down dust and repel frost.

QUICK BREADS

A more liberal use of wheat flour, Canada's abundant supply would not only be a patriotic gesture on the part of the homemaker, but would add nutritive value and interest to the daily menu.

The term quick breads is used to designate the type of product in which baking powder or soda is used as a leavening agent and to differentiate between it and the longer rising yeast bread. These quick breads are largely used in emergency on account of the short time required in preparation, for such foods as muffins, biscuits, popovers, scones and other cereal mixtures.

The following recipes for quick breads are recommended by the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture:

For these recipes, either whole wheat or white flour may be used.
