

Teams Ready For War Savings Drive

At an enthusiastic organization meeting held in the Old Fellow Hall in Charlottetown last night, plans were completed for the War Savings Certificates campaign which starts Monday. Over 200 workers were in attendance and received final instructions for the house-to-house canvass.

Mr. A. W. Hyndman, chairman of the Queen's County committee, presided at the opening and turned the meeting over to Mr. P. W. Turner, campaign chairman, who outlined the purpose of the gathering.

Scout News and Notices

On Tuesday evening the Charlottetown Scouters Club held its regular monthly meeting at Baptist Church hall. A tobacco party had been planned, but due to the condition of the roads it was felt that a programme of games would be in order.

musternike for the purpose of re-organizing the boys and to promote Troop Cooperation. The lack of cooperation has been the failing factor since the loss of the regular Scoutmaster. This together with the successful inspired the Scout to resume their Scouting activities with a greater enthusiasm and it is now felt that these Troops will continue to prove of great value to Scouting in the city. The activities of the Troop will be submitted frequently for the benefit of interested readers of this column.

CHARLOTTETOWN SCOUTERS CLUB MEETING

On Tuesday evening the Charlottetown Scouters Club held its regular monthly meeting at Baptist Church hall. A tobacco party had been planned, but due to the condition of the roads it was felt that a programme of games would be in order.

During the business meeting Akela Vance King gave a report on the arrangements which had been made for a St. John Ambulance Course. This course is to commence soon and will consist of one session one night a week for six weeks. Scouters who were not at the meeting who wish to take advantage of this course should get in touch with Vince King as soon as possible.

was that from an Austrian Rover Scout in Canadian interment camp because of his nominal German citizenship. None of us can think of him as gone, but as one of the few exceptional men whose life continues beyond their earthly existence through their timeless greatness. His was the outstanding quality of remaining young right up to the last as he lived with and for youth.

The Earl of Hillsborough Chapter of the I.O.D.E. which held a mixed Bridge Party at Government House on Thursday night, Feb. 6, wish to extend thanks for the hospitality to His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. LePage.

One hears of a Rover who drove an A. F. S. tender when its driver was put out of action and all reserve drivers were on duty. Of the Patrol Leaders who worked with the A. F. S. during the whole of that dreadful night, doing the work of men without thought of wear, and who were cheered by a small crowd of homeless people when they tried to save a block of houses which had been fired by incendiary bombs.

ACTIVE WAR EFFORT

Last Tuesday February 4th, Scouts of the different city troops were busy engaged in a real Active War Effort. Under very short notice Monday afternoon eighteen Scouts reported at the Legion rooms and received instructions for placing War Savings Certificates Posters throughout the city. On Tuesday afternoon the same number of boys paired off in teams, each team being given a list of stores where the posters were to be placed. With true Scouting thoroughness and speed, the posters were displayed in very short time in the most conspicuous places about the city. The following Scouts took part in this activity: 1st Troop Scouts Bambrick, Leigh McNally, Dockery Fields, 2nd Troop: Jim Palmer, Hugh Simpson, Bill Sherven, Bud Stearns, 3rd Troop: Gordon Cobb, Bob Jardine, Gordon McKenna, Don McLeod, 5th Troop: Bud Rodd, Eskine Howatt, 6th Troop: Edward Hodgson, Jack 7th: John Stiers, Rolie Cooper, er, Nell McNeill.

DO YOU KNOW THE COMPASS?

The next time you look at a compass, note that the North point is marked by a fleur-de-lis. This sign was adopted as the Boy Scout badge because a Scout is one who is able to show the way through strange country. A Scout must be able to find directions both during the day and night, and one does not always have a map to rely on. So we must use other means. During the day the sun and your shadow can be used to find direction. At 12 o'clock noon, the sun is due south (or almost due south) every day of the year. At six in the morning it is due east and at six in the evening due west. So you see we do not really need a compass if the sun is visible. Yes, we use nature as our compass. Now let us calculate some other points of the compass from the movement of the sun. It is due east at six and due south at twelve, so it naturally follows that at nine it would be south-east, (as 9 o'clock is half-way between 6 and 12, and south-east is half-way between south and east). Similarly, we reason the sun would be south-west at three in the afternoon. Note that it takes three hours for the sun to travel (apparently) from east to west-east. Now if we divide this time by two again, we should have the sun in the direction east-south-east at 7:30. Right? In the same way we find that at 10:30 the sun is south-south-east, at 1:30 south-west, at 4:30 west-south-west. We now have the southern half of the compass, and the northern points are easily found with this knowledge.

SWEDEN'S LOSSES

Up to the end of 1940 Sweden has lost in the war 99 vessels of 220,000 tons gross and nearly 500 Swedish seamen.

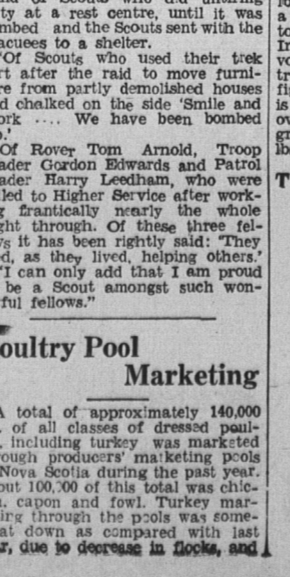

Poultry Pool Marketing

A total of approximately 140,000 lbs. of all classes of dressed poultry, including turkey was marketed through plants on a graded basis. When figures for these are complete, it is expected the total will be well over 200,000 lbs. compared with a grand total last year of 181,000 lbs.
