IF JINGO IN WHITE HOUSE WOULD HAVE BEEN AT WAR.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—"If we had had a jingo in the White House," said former President Taft, in an address at the commencement of Bryn Mawr College today, "this country would now be at war with Germany. Instead our Chief Executive is a man who appreciates his responsibility, and realizes that, considering the temper of the people, a turn of his hand would plunge us into an international conflict."

MAGNIFICENT EXHIBITION—Notre Dame Academy is at present the centre of attraction in Charlottetown, the handiwork of the pupils during the year being on exhibition. The exhibit, which is a very large one, consists of paintings in oil, water colors, china painting, pastel and charcoal work, kindergarten and manual training work, embroidery and needlework of every conceivable variety. The work, without exception is most creditable to the pupils and especially to the teaching staff of the Academy. A description would be out of the question, but all citizens interested in the finer arts and in educational work generally, should avail themselves of the privilege so kindly placed at their disposal, to see the work done by the pupils during the term. While a very large proportion of the paintings and drawings are meritorious, one piece—a china vase painted by one of the Sisters—and placed on exhibition anywhere. DUTCH THINK GALICIAN CAMPAIGN LESSENS DANGER.

THE HAGUE, via London, June 5.—The Austro-German successes in Galicia have aroused hopes in Holland that Germany, in the event of a victorious war, would turn her attention to the acquisition of territory in the east. Instead of annexing Belgium, as hinted in several German quarters.

The "Nieuwe Courant," in this connection, says: "Should Germany, at the conclusion of the war, occupy foreign territory on the western front, the position of Holland will be endangered. In her continued successes on the eastern front, however, and the possible occupation of territory, there lies the chance of a diminution of danger for Holland from a victorious Germany."

Exercises in the Sunday School were splendidly rendered by the children, the choruses, solos, recitations and other features of the programme being heartily enjoyed by all. Great credit is due Miss Blanche Dewar and Mrs. Geo. Ford for the splendid training given the children, and the event was one of the most successful in the history of the Sunday School. Quite a good sum of money was realized for Foreign Missions.

ST DUNSTAN'S CATHEDRAL—The feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated in St. Dunstan's Cathedral yesterday. At 11 o'clock there was a Solemn High Mass, celebrated by Father Herrell, assisted by Father Pius McDonald as deacon and Father Frank McQuaid as sub-deacon, while Father McLellan, D.D., was master of ceremonies. His Lordship the Bishop and Father Hogan were also present in the sanctuary. Immediately after Mass there was a solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament by His Lordship the Bishop, priests and acolytes. In the evening at 7 o'clock His Lordship the Bishop preached the concluding sermon of the triduum, which was an excellent discourse on the Most Blessed Eucharist. Pontifical Benediction followed, at which His Lordship the Bishop was celebrant, Father Pius McDonald deacon and Father L. Herrell sub-deacon and Father McLellan master of ceremonies. At the three early Masses yesterday morning great numbers received Holy Communion.

LETTER FROM ENGLAND

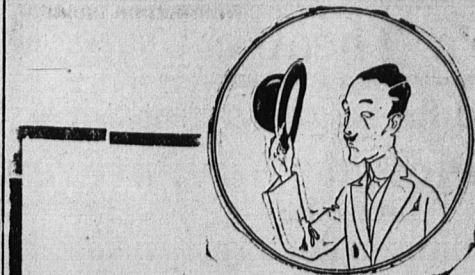

The following letter was received from Dr. Albert Sharp, of No. 3 General Hospital McGill, who is at present at Shorncliffe Camp, England, by his mother, Mrs. John Sharp, Summerside:

Dear Mother,—Arrived here about 4 o'clock Sunday morning and by the time you got settled it was time to get up again.

We left Montreal on May 6th, on the ss. Montagama and were given a great send off. We were the first troop boat to leave Montreal this year and the piers were crowded with people to see us off. We had a very fine day to begin our trip and the sail down the river was grand. We had a good trip across the Ocean and as it was a new trip for most of us we rather enjoyed ourselves. There was on board besides our unit, the No. 4 Stationary Hospital Laval, the No. 4 Stationary Hospital, Queens and the 21st Battalion. There was on board in all nearly two thousand soldiers. We saw a few icebergs on our way over and went very slowly through the ice field. After entering the gulf stream it was warmer and rather pleasant. We heard by wireless about the Lusitania going down and the ship was kept in darkness at night by covering the portholes with canvas. We were allowed on deck and when we entered the danger zone we were all served with life belts and slept with our clothes on. The lifeboats were lowered over the sides of the ship.

We were to sail to Bristol, but got word to change our course to Davenport, where we disembarked and took the train for here, passing through London at night. The night before we landed we were escorted by a flotilla of British Torpedo Destroyers which gave us a certain amount of relief and safety. Next morning we were up early to see the destroyers and it was some sight sailing into Plymouth Sound and we saw all kinds of war boats.

After reaching Davenport we had to wait for trains to come around from Bristol and we did not leave there till about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and we passed through some of the most beautiful country I ever expect to see.

Sunday afternoon some of us went down to Folkestone to see the city and it is certainly a nice place and is a favorite watering place in summer. It is just across the channel from Boulogne. A great number of the wounded are brought here, especially the Canadians, of whom you will see quite a number around the streets. I met quite a number of boys that came over before we did. I was surprised to see Jack Hazard, of Charlottetown, and a number of the other boys walk into the restaurant where a number of us were having supper. Sunday while we were having our mid-day meal we could hear the roar of the guns in France, it being only about twenty miles from here to Boulogne.

We have a nice camp here about a quarter of a mile from the shore overlooking the North Sea and it is certainly a pretty place. We are only eight miles from Dover and Sunday night some of the boys could hear the aeroplane attack on Dover and see the flashes in the sky but little or no damage was done. It is not known how long we will be here. The nurses all went to London for some special instructions and I don't expect we will see them again till we get settled in our permanent quarters.

We are under the same rules and regulations as any other soldiers. We get up at 6 a.m. and lights have to be out at 9.45 p.m. We sleep on boards and have three blankets and with our great coats sleep very comfortably. Everybody is in the best of health and happy as larks.
