BAD OLD CHEESE IN NEW ONES

Discreditable Work by Some Dominion Makers Exporting to England

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—According to a report received from Mr. MacKinnon, commercial agent at Bristol, Canadian cheese has been greatly discredited by unscrupulous manufacturers in the Dominion. A consignment of cheese was reported to Mr.
MacKinnon as containing some foreign substance in the centre. The Canadian representative was asked to inspect the importation and out of five cut open all were found to contain a cure which was unknown to the handler. Dairy Commissioner Ruddle happened to visit Bristol, and at Mr. Mac-Kinnon's request he inspected the cheese which he found to be as his opinion that the Canadian cheese maker had worked into the shipment some old spoiled cheese which he desired to get rid of.
The dairymen's association will be asked to investigate the matter.

SIGHT REGAINED, HE PRAYS TO BE BLIND

Minister, Thinking His Restored Vision is an Hallucination, Goes Raving Mad.

COLEBROOK, Conn., Sept. 9.—So firm has been the belief of Benjamin Taylor an aged minister, that his sight, restored to him after many years of blindness, was merely an hallucination of his brain, that he has become insane, and today he was sent to the State Hospital, committed by a court.
Taylor has been blind, since middle-age, and his blindness forced him to give up his vocation as travelling preacher. All the time he prayed that his sight might be restored. So great was his belief in the efficacy of his prayer that he was positive that some day he would again be able to see light and the green fields and running brooks.
Yesterday he awoke and was amazed to see the bright sun shining through his window.
"It is sight!" cried the old man, and he glazed out of the window and saw fields and trees spread out before him as he had seen them years ago, he could not believe his senses, he rushed out of the building crying to everybody that he was the victim of hallucinations. Try as his friends did to persuade him that his years of prayer had been answered the old man could not make himself believe that his sight had been restored.
For hours he prayed on his knees that what he thought was his hallucination might be taken from him and that his mind might have the old peace of darkness again.
He became violent at the end of the day and was taken to the police station.
There he exhorted on his knees. He was taken before the village court and committed to the State Hospital at Middlebrook this afternoon. Sheriff G. C. Middlebrook took him to the asylum, trying all the time to persuade the aged minister that the vision of nature he saw was real and not an hallucination.

HE KNOWS THEY ARE NOT Mrs. Benham.—The paper tells about a man who stole a head of lettuce and then went back and got another, being arrested on the second trip.
Benham.—I'll bet you can't make that follow believe that two heads are better than one.
YOU'RE ONLY HALF SICK.
But nevertheless you feel pretty "sleazy." Best prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they tone up the entire system, strengthen the stomach, elevate the spirits and make you feel better in one day. It's by cleaning the body of wastes, by purifying and enriching the blood that Dr. Hamilton's Pills accomplish so much.
Very mild, exceedingly prompt, and guaranteed in every case. Your druggist sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mantrake and Butterick in yellow boxes. 25c each or five for $1.00. Get the genuine.

THE MAJESTIC SAGUENAY.

Traversed by the Steamers of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co.

A strange combination of progress and primitiveness, of all the points of interest easily accessible to the tourist, probably less is known about the Saguenay river than almost any other in the east. Never has any adequately described the beauties of this river, which winds of one hundred miles before losing its identity in the St. Lawrence, 180 miles below Quebec, now widening as the shore line recedes, until it forms a veritable inland sea, now contracting as the rocky guardians of that seldom broken solitude push themselves forward, forcing the dark hued flood backward until it appears scarcely a stone's throw from the deck of the wholesome barrier on either side.
Words fail to convey an adequate conception of the scene unfolded before the eyes of the tourist. Nor can one grasp the picture all at once. A river it is called, though it is doubtful if it has a parallel.
Indeed it is more as though at some prehistoric period, thousands of years ago, a mighty convulsion of nature had cleft the long chain of mountains asunder, leaving a giant course into which the waters found their way while seeking an outlet to the sea.

A ride up the stream is a spectacle of such imposing magnitude that time is required to grasp it and even then the impression is incomplete. Everything is deceptive, the air, the water, the midday sun or the soft beams of the silvery moon, add to the elusiveness of the surroundings and serve to still further mystify the beholder. Here distance becomes an uncertain factor, and the eye loses its cunning.
So complete is the illusion that it is difficult to believe the wooded heights and barren crags, the bold promontories that rise abruptly from the water as though a master hand had left uncompleted the task of giving them form, are not in danger of falling into the boat instead of hundreds of yards away.

Here one is brought into close communion with the awful majesty of nature and the mightiest works of man appear primitive and inconsequential when compared with the appalling grandeur of the environments to be found here.
Even the very silence is oppressive, and the calm, unbroken solitude begets in one a spirit of reverence, an awe that is overpowering, and which increases in intensity as the journey proceeds.
The lofty cliff, the sheltered bay, the projecting rock, the seemingly never-ending chain of mountains, their almost perpendicular sides, resistant growth of fir, covered with a luxuriant growth of fern and hemlock, with here and there a massive boulder forcing its head through the mass of green foliage and adding a touch of color; an occasional waterfall pushing its way through the maze, the crystal flood rushing frantically downward, tumbling, splashing, falling over the rocks in its mad haste to lose its identity in the tide below, forms a panorama that baffles the descriptive powers of the most proficient painter of word pictures.—Len G. Shaw, in the Detroit Free Press.

The Scourge of Consumption.

Thousands are Dying—If Tired, Languid or Run-Down Get Protection Before Too Late.
No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.
Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak.—The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develop.
The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozene, which restores the blood to full strength. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and danger of consumption is destroyed.
Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells the following of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozene: "For years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead.
Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozene I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful.
My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible." Ferrozene feeds, nourishes and tones up the body.—It sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot.
—makes you feel better at once. When you use Ferrozene! Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or to N. C. Folsom, Co., Harvard, Conn., U.
S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Fall Woolens, Suits, Trowserings, Overcoatings.

We are today showing the contents of two cases of our fall and winter woolens. It's scarcely necessary to say that the fabrics we are showing are very choice.
We always had a weakness for buying high class goods and this season is no exception. We think you will say so also if you look them over.
We will be pleased to show you what is new even if you do not intend to buy.

The Pandora Reservoir

The Pandora is the only range with a reservoir stamped in one single piece of steel and enamelled. It is the only reservoir without seams, rivets or places to catch dirt. It has no sharp angles. All angles are made with rounding curves, and the whole reservoir is beautifully enamelled.
McClary's are the only range makers in Canada with a plant for making enamelled steel reservoirs, and that is why the Pandora is the only range that has a one-piece reservoir.
