Toronto Has Still A Month for Imports (Special to The Guardian) OTTAWA, June 19.—It is practically certain that Ontario will go dry on July 1st. The order in council has passed the cabinet council and now awaits the signature of the Governor General which will without doubt, be appended today. The law provides that 30 clear days must elapse after the issuance of the order in council, before the law becomes effective. The dry date will be July 19th.

George E. Loder Sentenced to Death (Special to The Guardian) PICTOU, June 17.—George E. Loder of Summerside, P. E. I., convicted of the murder of Daniel Barry of this town, was sentenced today by Mr. Justice Russell of the Supreme Court to be hanged on August 31st. The murder took place on the 30th of December at Loder was arrested at Summerside, to which place he had fled, on January 3rd and was brought to Pictou, where he has been in jail. He was found guilty of murder yesterday. After the court had dealt with several small civic cases this morning, completing the docket, Loder, who had been remanded for trial before, was brought from cell to receive sentence. The court room was crowded, as it has been every day of the court's session during the week. The prisoner showed evident signs that he was experiencing some realization of the awful circumstances into which he had brought himself, for he was haggard, his eyes red and indicating lack of sleep. The judge, who had characterized the case throughout the whole trial as one of real and emotion, now said to stand up to receive his sentence in a quiet manner, but with a nervous tremor. Asked if he had anything to say he replied in a few words that he had not. Amid the low murmur of the crowd the court room fell silent. The court room was empty when the date of his execution.

Prince County Grand Jury Denounces Government (Special to The Guardian) Summerside, June 19.—The Prince County Grand Jury among other things in their report deplored the increase of drunkenness in the province, characterizing the sale of intoxicants by the government vendors which showed sales last year amounting to $175,000 as a public scandal, the results revealing greatly in an administrative and enforcement of the Prohibition Act. It was contended that no government in a prohibition province is justified in using the profits from the sale of liquors to the extent mentioned. The jury further referred to the reckless driving of automobiles by persons who under the influence of liquor endanger the lives of people. The moral rigid enforcement of the Automobile Act was recommended.

ACADIA GETS A FINE LIBRARY (Special to The Guardian) WOLFVILLE, June 18.—Acadia has received a magnificent gift of books from Dr. M. G. Smith of Lynn, Massachusetts. There are about one hundred and fifty-nine of which are a rich and varied collection of fiction, history, useful reference books on trade and finance, with some rare volumes on travel and geography. There are two hundred and sixty-two French books, about one hundred of these once belonged to Sir Richard Wallace, the famous connoisseur and collector of the French books were the property of a French priest who once came to America to look for books relating to French colonial times.

NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL MAY BE INSTALLED AT QUEBEC (Special to The Governor-General) OTTAWA, June 17.—It is presumed that the installation of Lord Bynoe as Governor-General of Canada will take place at Quebec, inasmuch as it is anticipated that he will arrive in Canada while navigation on the St. Lawrence is still open. The Department of the Secretary of State, however, has not yet ascertained the exact date of his coming.

NEW PROBLEM IN IMMIGRATION (Special to The Guardian) LONDON, June 17.—The new United States law restricting immigration annually to three per cent of the total of each nationality already represented in the country has created a new situation for Canada. Of one thousand Italians who embarked for New York since the regulation was imposed a few weeks ago, seven hundred were refused admittance, but were finally accepted as Italy's quota for the next two months. European immigration agents report that this new law is diverting the flow of peoples to Canada in a very marked way, and has presented a difficult problem to the Canadian immigration officials, who are desirous of restricting the continental migration as much as possible, in view of present conditions in Canada. It is even said that there is a danger that this factor, in conjunction with the discouragement of many classes of British immigrants, may result in Canada receiving more Polish Jews and other non-agricultural Europeans than Old Countrymen. The only existing means of barring them is the landing money requirement, with the ordinary restrictions as to health, etc., with which many are in the face of the American attitude, are now straining every nerve to comply.

Miners Negotiate For General Strike (Special to The Guardian) LONDON, June 18.—The executive committee of the miners union which met this morning to consider the coal strike situation decided to ask for all the trades unions affected by the wages dispute to meet the miners' representatives at an early date with the object of taking national action with the miners to secure their mutual demands. Secretary Hodges of the miners said this implied a general strike if the other unions agreed. The miners this morning were given one more day within which to take the settlement steps which will insure them of receiving the ten million pounds subsidy from the government to apply on wages. Delegation of the miners executive committee in the opening negotiations for the support of other unions, however, indicates that the subsidy offer will be allowed to lapse.

PARIS, June 17.—Two months ago the Academy of European Dancing Masters solemnly renounced the "shimmy" and all its contemporaries at its annual meeting in Paris. But yesterday the convention of French dancing masters, which lays claim to being an even more authoritative body, decided that within the limits of decorum the "shimmy" might be danced, and at the same time it approved the Java and the whole collection of what are called modern dances as suitable to be taught by members of the union. These are the Shingam, which as demonstrated, appears to be a mixture of the Boston and fox trot; the gliding, which exaggerates the "shimmy" by mixing with it a dance with "three-time" music, and "Minette and Riptintin," a juvenile dance, which is likely to become the most popular of all.

Mr. Carvell Wants To Know Why (Special to The Guardian) OTTAWA, June 19.—At the hearing of the Eastern Canada Live Stock Association's application before the railway commission for 50 percent reduction in the freight stock, at which it was stated that cattle were only being from six to eight cents per pound, Chairman Carvell said, "the public would be interested to know how it is that when the farmers are only getting from six to eight cents a pound for beef the public has to pay from 66 to 40 cents for steak." W. D. Longman for the C. P. R. pointed out that while the freight rates had only been increased $120 per hundred pounds on cattle, the cost of sirloin had gone up from 50 to 70 cents a pound, and he added, "I think that this is something that should be inquired into."

Predicts Greater Future for Toronto (Special to The Guardian) TORONTO, June 18.—H. E. Blain the English traffic expert has completed his survey of the local situation for the transportation commission, and is leaving at the beginning of the week for an extended tour of the United States to study the transportation administration of a number of large cities. Before leaving Toronto he expressed his faith in the city's future. "It is today the greatest distributing centre in Canada," he said, "but it has enormous natural possibilities and one of the boldest schemes of harbor and lake that I have ever seen in a city of its size. The canalization of the St. Lawrence, despite its cost, is inevitably looming in the near future. When that is accomplished I expect to see Toronto rapidly rising into the forefront of the big cities of the continent. There is a fine spirit of belief in the future of Toronto and a willingness even to take risks in order to provide adequately for the expected developments."

Union Biggest Church Project Ever Attempted (Special to The Guardian) WHITBY, Ont., June 17.—No such advance has ever been made before in the history of the world," said Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church in Canada, on the subject of church union in an address at the Bay of Quinte Methodist conference here yesterday. "We are blazing the way through a pathless forest," he continued. "For this reason we try to know very definitely, and without any confusion, the direction in which we are going, and to have a clear conception of the goal toward which we strive. We cannot take the next step safely without knowing the ground on which we now stand, and the direction in which that step will lead us."

AUTONOMY OF DOMINIONS SUPPORTED BY COMMONS

Canadian Government Has Proposed Anglo-American Understanding and Conference Regarding the Pacific Questions.

LONDON, June 17.—The debate in the house of commons today on the agenda of the premiers' conference seemed to make one thing abundantly clear. It seemed to make it clear that there is not a responsible person or party in Great Britain who wants to see the autonomy of the dominions diminished or destroyed. Indeed, if there was one thing more than another about the debate which impressed the small group of Canadians who heard it, it was that radicals vied with Unionists, and Laborites with Liberals in emphasizing the recognition of the dominions as co-equal partners in a commonwealth of self-governing states. Even the small group of Nationalists applauded every reference made to the heightened status of the dominions.

Austen Chamberlain, leader of the house, who spoke for the government, made a speech which might well have been delivered by such stern Canadian Nationalists as Sir Robert Borden and Hon. N. W. Rowell.

After likening the empire to a League of Nations, he laid it down as an accepted principle that any suggestions for change in the existing status must come from the dominions themselves, and added: "We can assure them that anything they desire in the way of a greater part and greater authority will be held every morning and Wednesday and Friday afternoons in the hotel while on Thursday afternoon, delegates visited first the parliament buildings and later the Manitoba Agricultural college, where they had dinner and where the evening meeting, dealing with agricultural matters, was held.

On Wednesday the visitors were guests of the city at a luncheon in the Winnipeg park while on Friday the Winnipeg board of trade entertained them at luncheon in the Royal Alexandra hotel.

Among the important matters discussed at the business meetings of the convention were the establishment of a bureau of technical agricultural information, which was suggested by J. B. Reynolds, Dr. J. M. Swaine, of the entomological branch, Ottawa, introduced the subject of research.

Mr. Chamberlain, replying to the argument that the conditions which necessitated the Anglo-Japanese Alliance had passed away, said he agreed to this, but that it was necessary to have regard to conditions in the future. He refused to believe, he said, that the alliance had given rise to any misconception in the United States, except among people who were misinformed, and in any case, he declared, there was no reason for such apprehension or to misconceive Great Britain's determination to maintain friendly relations with American Kinsmen.

The most notable contribution to the debate, however, came from Sir Samuel Hoare, Coalitionist Unionist of progressive views. Sir Samuel declared bluntly that the Japanese alliance must not be renewed in its present form, and if renewed at all, must be modified and revised, and laid down as the basis of the empire's foreign policy three cardinal principles. First, an Anglo-French understanding in Europe; second, an Anglo-American understanding, and third, a conference between the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Great Britain and Japan to arrive at some satisfactory understanding regarding the Pacific.

This proposal was cheered by all sides of the house. It will almost certainly be advocated in the conference by Premier Meighen. Indeed, there is reason for stating that the Canadian government has already urged such a step putting forward such a policy as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Premier Meighen's name played no little part in the debate. It came up when T. J. O'Connor, who confessed that for him "all roads lead to Ireland," and pressing that the Irish question be dealt with by the conference, said: "The sentiment in the dominions was overwhelmingly in favor of Irish self-government and quoted a speech delivered by Mr. Meighen in Montreal on St. Patrick's Day, 1914, in support of this view. The house listened with rapt attention as the veteran nationalist quoted the Canadian premier declaring that, though a Protestant, he could not

Railway Wages Reduced July 1

(Special to The Guardian) MONTREAL, June 19.—The Canadian railway companies yesterday served formal notice on 150,000 railway employees in Canada that their wages will be reduced 12 percent beginning July 1st. Inability to meet present wages, despite every economy, a deficit of eleven million being created by the Grand Trunk this year, and the action of the United States railway board in declaring a reduction of 12 percent are given as the reasons for the proposed wage cut. The union officials complain that the time between now and July is not sufficient in which to give thorough consideration to the proposal. The railway's reply is that all union men must have known that the United States precedent would be followed. A Toronto authority states that the proposed wage cut would save twenty five million dollars yearly to Canadian railways and that the savings on the Canadian National lines alone are estimated at seven million dollars.
