Mr. Maddison was making a great hit with the audiences at the Exhibition, singing as he does, afternoon and night with full Canadian Legion Band accompaniment in front of the Grand Stand.

Again Scores Hit

Ethel May Shorey and her talented company of players scored another decided hit at the Prince Edward Theatre last evening in "The Criminal," a heavy drama crowded with tense situations, stirring scenes, with just enough pathos intermingled to put the production over in a manner which speaks highly for this popular company.

"Ethel May Shorey, playing one of the leads as Virginia Howe, appeared to excel herself last evening, in fact the entire cast, in their various portrayals elicited much favorable comment from the crowded audience. The veduville was also of a high calibre and easily in keeping with "The Criminal" one of the best brook plays ever produced on the local stage.

This always popular company of entertainers which is playing to big houses nightly, will close their engagement here on Saturday night. The bill for tonight, "One New Year's Eve," a very pretty comedy drama and an offering that's sure to please should play to another bumper house.

Last night's cast: Henry Atwill, afterwards Davis..... Fred S. Campbell..... Andrew Craig..... Frank H. Dowling..... Bob Burnett..... Harry W. Marble..... Billy Dinmore..... Chas G. Kenney..... Josephine Dorothy..... Mrs. Grayson..... Hazel E. Boswell..... Virginia Howe..... Ethel May Shorey

Real example of a system used by country merchants in handling eggs,—that is, storing them in a room where you find kerosene, onions and the like. When we know that eggs readily absorb odours, you at once see that under these conditions it is impossible for these eggs to arrive on the market in their highest state of perfection. Again to the left, the picture describes the old method used by retail merchants in selling eggs. That is, selling eggs as eggs, and in most cases a dozen was made up of good, bad and indifferent.
