ADMIRALTY COURT—The Admiralty Court met in Charlottetown at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and adjourned until 2 o'clock. Chief Justice Sir Wilfrid Sullivan presided. The case of John F. Campbell and others vs. Poole & Thompson and Salter & Sons, came up for trial. This is an action for salvage. It arose over salvage services claimed to have been performed by the plaintiffs (some 25 or 30 parties who reside near Cape Traverse) who in July 1913, claimed that they saved the schooner Sarah A. Townsend belonging to Salter & Sons, and a cargo of lumber on board, abandoned to Poole & Thompson, Montague. A collision had taken place between the steamer Cacouna and this schooner in Northumberland Straits. The schooner was on her way to Charlottetown when the collision occurred at 2 a. m. The captain of the schooner claimed that he did not abandon her, but left her to go on board the steamer to Charlottetown to obtain assistance and that when he returned next day with Batt's tug he found the plaintiffs in possession of the schooner and asserts that they refused to deliver her up to him as the master thereof. The defendants contend that the schooner was not a derelict and that the plaintiffs had no right to withhold possession of her from the master. The plaintiffs towed her into Summerside with gasoline boats and defendants contend that they were party to the necessary expenses of her being diverted from her port of destination. Mr. John F. Campbell was giving evidence when the court adjourned at 4.45 to meet at 10.30 this morning. A. C. Saunders and E. H. Strong for the plaintiffs; Johnston, K. C., for Poole & Thompson, and Bentley, K. C., for Salter, owners of the schooner.

Friday dominates the Cerna valley and the road to Monastir and Prilop. The victory also puts the Serbians in touch with the French at Baldozi, and apparently rendered a combined advance on Nogoschani, on the east bank of the Cerna, and Tebavsi, on the slopes of Seitza, the inevitable next move, comparatively easy. The Germans and Bulgarians were most strongly fortified on Chuke, as it was the last height before the plain extending to Monastir. Opposite Nogoschani, on the west bank of the Cerna, an extensive marsh forms the only remaining obstacle to an attempt at the encirclement of Kenall, where the Germans and Bulgarians are still in force, and to an advance on Monastir.

More than 1,500 Germans and Bulgarians were made prisoners among them thirty officers, and eight mortars, fifteen machine guns and several mountain guns.

Serbian military officials here are delighted over the situation. They declare that now the Monastir offensive has proceeded beyond the mountains it can be continued, despite the winter, as the cold weather and freezing of the marshes will assist the operations.

According to this information all but one of the five cars of the train left the track and rolled over a cliff. The passengers were literally ground to pieces.

ATHENS, November 14, via London, November 16.—Further details of the Serbian victory in the Cerna River region last week have been given the Associated Press by King Peter of Serbia. MRS. MATILDA M. IRVING.

At an early hour yesterday morning Mrs. Matilda M. Irving, widow of Mr. Robert F. Irving, 202 Gratton St. passed to her eternal rest. She had been in somewhat delicate health for some months but no serious outcome had been anticipated until a few weeks ago when a turn for the worse came and her physicians held out no hope of recovery. She awaited the inevitable end with the Christian faith and patience and the loving solicitude for the comfort of others that had characterized her whole life, until she fell into that "blessed sleep from which none ever wake to weep." She was born in Charlottetown and was a lifelong member of St. James' Presbyterian Church, and an indefatigable helper in all its efforts for the welfare of the congregation, the community and the world. She will be sadly missed by a very large circle of friends and the sympathy of the whole community goes out to her daughters who at an early age had been called upon to mourn the death of their father and upon whom this double bereavement in the loss of their life's stay and loving guide falls with crushing weight. There are left to mourn three daughters, Miss Mary J., teacher in Prince Street School, Miss Katherine C., of the News Department of the Guardian, and Miss Margaret, bookkeeper with the Condensed Milk Company, also one brother, Mr. James McNeill, of the Prince Edward Island Railway. The funeral takes place this afternoon, the service beginning at 2.30, the cortege leaving the home at 2.40 to the Railway Station, thence to Sherwood Cemetery.

MATTER OF OPINION.

"Mary!"
"Father's voice rolled down the stairs and into the dim and silent parlor."
"Yes, papa, dear."
"Ask that young man if he has the time."
"A moment of silence."
"Yes, George has his watch with him."
"Then ask him what is the time."
"He says it is 11.48, papa."
"Then ask him if he doesn't think it about bedtime."
Another moment of silence.
"He says, papa," the silvery voice announced, impersonally, "he says that he rarely goes to bed before 1, but it seems to him that is a matter of personal preference merely, and that if he were in your place he would go now if he felt sleepy."

Nervous Headache

Pain is a blessing in disguise.

It is Nature's danger signal to warn you that there is something wrong in the system.

While headache may result from a variety of causes, it most frequently denotes a starved condition of the nerves.

The brain is the headquarters or "central" of the nervous system. Here nerve force is consumed at an enormous rate. If there is any lack of rich, red blood from which to form new nervous energy the brain is first to feel it and the head aches.

Headaches may be stopped by powerful drugs, but that is like breaking the semaphore which warns the engineer of danger.

The only wise way is to increase the amount of rich, red blood in the human body by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thereby feed the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Not only will the headaches disappear, but you will sleep well, feel well and gradually regain strength and confidence. The Nerve Food will sharpen the appetite, improve digestion and build up the whole system.

In this way the headache will prove a blessing. It has warned you of approaching nervous collapse while yet there is a foundation on which to build good health.

ADMIRALTY AND NEW WAR METHODS

(Canadian Press Despatch) LONDON, Nov. 20.—There has been growing criticism of the Admiralty lately, owing to the recent channel raid and the increase of submarine operations. The Post, Mail and Star commented pointedly on this subject last week and the Daily Telegraph this morning in a long editorial, says that the Admiralty is strongly unaffected by changes due to the war. It adds that the nations' faith in Admiral Jellicoe is undiminished but that the hostilities have brought unforeseen developments, notably in submarines, mines and aeronautics, all of which are departments operated by Germans in the prime of life.

"It is not surprising," says the paper, "if the officers forming the admiralty board, reared in a very different school, should be somewhat impervious to new ideas in these days of naval revolution. It is perhaps inevitable that the nation should wonder whether the Admiralty would not gain were fresh blood introduced into its deliberations. Above all things the nation needs a Board of Admiralty open to new methods. Would it not be well if seamen fresh from the sea, experienced in the phase of warfare now being pursued by the enemy, were given a more commanding voice in our naval affairs?"
