Fox Exhibition At Montague Is First Of Type

153 Animals Shown At Successful Fair—Many Fine Animals, Judge Says.

Prince Edward Island's first educational live fox exhibition, said to be the first of its kind in the Dominion, closed yesterday at Montague. At the two day show, sponsored by the King's County Fox Exhibitors Association, the animals were judged from the breeders standpoint, officials said.

153 foxes, representing 34 breeders were on display. Unfavorable weather conditions and the very bad roads on the opening day, Tuesday prevented a larger display, it was said, 171 entrées had been received from 38 breeders.

There were "very many" really fine animals, Mr. W. R. Stewart, fieldman, who did the judging said last night when questioned regarding the show. The judging had been done under the group system, he explained, that is the classes were arranged in four groups according to quality, instead of the judge making publicly "the splitting" decisions and placing individual foxes in 1st, 2nd etc. positions. Under the system of judging adopted at Montague each group might consist of one or more foxes according to the quality of the animals exhibited. The judge discussed the class after he made the placing and pointed out strong and weak points in the animals from the breeders standpoint.

"Group System" of Judging

The "group system" of judging had been used very extensively and very successfully in Norway but had not been tried before in this province, Mr. Burke said. It was, however, "the coming way to judge foxes," he believed. It was "really the only way."

Mr. Burke was very pleased with the number of fine foxes on display, the judge declared although there were some of an inferior type. Many however were breeding stock which should produce the "stuff we require." That section of the country, Mr. Burke said, had only gone into the fox industry extensively in recent years.

Officials of the Exhibition Association said that not only had breeders seemed pleased with the show but visiting fur dealers expressed their belief that the experiment had been a huge success.

Mr. M. G. Reynolds, Montague, was superintendent of the show. Mr. Parvin Cass and Mr. Jack Wright, Summerside were classifiers. The managing committee was composed of Capt. A. A. Mosher, H. W. Davison, A. F. Campbell and J. J. Stewart.

Mr. George McIntyre, Montague is president and Mr. H. H. Cox, M. L. A. Morell is vice president. Mr. W. A. McLagan, Montague, is secretary. The directors are Messrs. C. E. Pratt, St. Peters, Edwin Reid, Rolo Bay, Laurie McLure, Murray Harbor North, A. F. Campbell, Montague, Lloyd Cox, Morell, Walter McKenzie, Dundas, William Hume, Murray River, and Peter Murphy, Cardigan.

Mr. W. R. Stewart, Montague, is honorary president and the honorary directors are: Hon. W. H. Dennis, Minister of Agriculture, Montague; Hon. L. H. Coffin, Montague; Hon. W. S. Wright, Summerside; Hon. J. J. Condon, Georgetown.

At the opening of the show on Tuesday Mr. L. W. Hancock of Summerside explained the system of judging.

An announcement as to his successor will be made shortly, in the meantime the agents and cashier will endeavour to continue to efficiently serve their many policyholders.

CAR CRASHES INTO POLE

A car crashed into a telephone post at the corner of Elm Avenue and Douglas Street shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Before police arrived at the scene of the accident the driver and another man, passenger in the machine, disappeared. The pole was broken by the force of the collision and the car considerably damaged.

YOUNG CHILD INJURED

A young child was knocked down by a car and injured, but not seriously it was thought, on Grafton Street near the Prince Street intersection yesterday afternoon. Last night City Police said the accident had not been reported to them. Eye witnesses to the accident said the child was picked up by the driver and driven away, apparently to a doctor's office.

BRACKLEY POINT NOTES

The farmers of this vicinity are busy grading potatoes, waiting their turn for the truck of Hughes and Sons.—The many friends of Rev. T. A. Wilson, Covehead, regret the illness of his daughter, Helen, and hope for her speedy recovery.—Mrs. John McCallum, accompanied by her daughter, Elaine, left Tuesday morning to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Compton, in Calgary. Before their departure they were given a surprise party by their friends.—The capable teacher Miss MacKenzie and her pupils are busy preparing for their Christmas entertainment.—The play "Aunt Soph a Speaks" and variety concert by the W. M. S. of this district was presented in Wheatley River Hall on Friday last to a large and appreciative audience. The players were generously treated by the ladies of Wheatley River Institute.

Calandar Sale

Junior Red Cross members all over Prince Edward Island are now busily engaged in their third annual Calandar Sale. Up to the present, Miss Bessie MacLeod, Assistant Director of Junior Red Cross, has left over five thousand calendars in the country schools on her visits to them and yesterday she and Miss Arsenault distributed almost two thousands to the Juniors of the different Branches in all the Charlottetown schools. Last year's sale was most successful—the proceeds amounted to $600.00. This sale of calendars by the Juniors made it possible for the Red Cross to hold the Crippled Children's Summer Camp at Brighton Shore during the months of July and August. In fact the Calandar Sale defrayed all the expenses of the camp and left a balance of over $200.00 for hospitalization purposes.

By all appearances an even greater amount will be raised this year as an additional supply of calendars had to be ordered to meet the demand. The Juniors are most enthusiastic about this phase of their activities which presents such a splendid opportunity for raising money for the Crippled Children's Fund which they so capably support with the co-operation of so many interested people who are always so willing to help.

Local Man Designs Vertical Brushes For Pelt Cleaning

The invention of a vertical brush for use in fox pelt cleaning by Anthony Lund of the Charlottetown Fur Sales was explained yesterday. Four of the brushes, simple in appearance and used in cleaning operations, are at present operating in the province and have been termed a "quicker and safer" method by their operators as well as experts who have inspected them.

Under the old system, after they were taken to large drums and revolved in sawdust for cleaning purposes, the fox pelts were turned inside out and the sawdust brushed off by hand, an operation which took approximately 10 minutes.

Lund's invention, which consists of an electrically driven vertical shaft with a spiral brush at the top, needs only about nine minutes for the job. The pelt is pulled down slowly over the brush just as it taken from the sawdust drum. The new system also prevents possible tearing of the pelt which often occurred when the pelt was being turned inside out to be brushed by hand.

Lund has been working around foxes for the last 13 years, learning the pelting trade while still attending school. Three years ago he began work on his new "gadgets" during his spare time, but it was not until a week ago that he had one actually in operation.

Two of the vertical brushes have been installed in the plant of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, at Summerside, and another in the Dominion Silver Fox Fur Pool, also at Summerside, besides the one in use at the Charlottetown Fur Sales.

Lund's invention, which consists of an electrically driven vertical shaft with a spiral brush at the top, needs only about nine minutes for the job. The pelt is pulled down slowly over the brush just as it taken from the sawdust drum. The new system also prevents possible tearing of the pelt which often occurred when the pelt was being turned inside out to be brushed by hand.

Lund has been working around foxes for the last 13 years, learning the pelting trade while still attending school. Three years ago he began work on his new "gadgets" during his spare time, but it was not until a week ago that he had one actually in operation.

Two of the vertical brushes have been installed in the plant of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, at Summerside, and another in the Dominion Silver Fox Fur Pool, also at Summerside, besides the one in use at the Charlottetown Fur Sales.
