The Kaiser's telegram was characteristic. "The Admiral of the Atlantic," it boomed, "salutes the Admiral of the Pacific." The Czar's reply was equally characteristic. It merely said, "Bon voyage." The Czar's message was not of a man who has been born great, or who has achieved greatness, or who has had greatness thrust upon him, but of a man who has thrust greatness upon himself.

It's good for human beings, too, in fact, is the most nutritious seed grown. Dr. Jackson discovered an electrical treatment for constipation, flaxseed removing all flavor. There is no reason for not eating it, and every reason why it should be used daily. 25 per cent. of Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal is deodorized flax seed. This meal, if not stirred while cooking, makes most delicious porridge. Stirring spoils it. It is guaranteed to relieve constipation or money back. At grocers', 10c and 25c. Try the ready cooked Roman Meal Nuggets. You may soften with boiling water, drain, and add milk or serve with hot milk. Made by Roman Meal Co., Toronto. ..*CHINESE CYCLES OF YEARS Among the many extraordinary customs of this Chinese is that of banding years together in groups of twelve called "cycles," and naming each year of the series after some animal. Thus, the first year of a new cycle is the year of the Rat, the second the year of the Ox, the third the year of the Chinese born in the year of the Rat, belongs to the Order of the Rat, and so on. "The animal," "class" of every Chinese man and woman is thus recorded, and is held to be of great importance in fortelling the future. Another curious fact about the Chinese reckoning of time is that in the Celestial Empire a child is held to be one year old as soon as it is born. With the absurd superstition so dear to the Oriental mind a baby boy is frequently given a girl's name in order to deceive the evil eye. The Chinese have an objectionable habit of making it as hard as possible to rear a male child successfully.

..*CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

..*ENLISTING ROMANCES The Germans calculated on our Colonies, at any rate, partly falling us in regard to munitions and men is an undoubted fact, and it must be with the greatest chagrin that they read that Canada alone will contribute in a very short time 250,000 men and Australia 300,000—a wonderful testimony to the patriotic spirit which binds them to the Motherland. From all outposts of the Empire men hastened to shoulder a rifle when the alarm sounded, giving up lucrative posts and in some cases travelling thousands of miles to the nearest recruiting station in order that they might "do the bit" for the old country. Perhaps the most remarkable romance of recruiting is that afforded by the case of John Eaton, who worked for the Hudson Bay Company among the Eskimos, and who was so isolated from the rest of the world that he did not hear of the war until August of 1915. When he did so, he at once decided to come to his own country and answer the call for men. A few days ago he reached his home in Edinburgh, and has now enlisted. Many thousands of miles, too, were travelled by a Scottish ship's captain, who, a few weeks ago, presented himself at the Newcastle office of the Tyneside Scottish Brigade. This captain was the owner of the schooner trading among the South Sea Islands, and leaving his wife and his possessions in the Pacific, he travelled home via Japan and Russia to enlist. There is a man in the Canadian contingent at Shorncliffe who walked all the way from Alaska to enlist at Winnipeg. When he got there he was turned down for flat feet! Then he tramped on to Toronto, and there he was more successful. A well-known Fleet Street newspaper man, who has since come to this country, is a wonderful example of patriotism to faint-hearted slackers. He gave up a post of manager in one of the biggest stores in South Africa, which was worth £2,000 a year, to join the Army and receive a shilling a day. An extraordinary case was that of Charles Davies, the younger son of Mr. Davies, the parish clerk at Bangor, who at the outbreak of the war enlisted in the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. He was discharged owing to a physical defect. Not to be daunted, he enlisted in the R. A. M. C., and was again discharged. Not discouraged, he entered a Liverpool hospital and underwent a serious operation. After leaving the hospital, his legs were encased in plaster and irons for several weeks, but he ultimately succeeded in

It's good for human beings, too, in fact, is the most nutritious seed grown. Dr. Jackson discovered an electrical treatment for constipation, flaxseed removing all flavor. There is no reason for not eating it, and every reason why it should be used daily. 25 per cent. of Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal is deodorized flax seed. This meal, if not stirred while cooking, makes most delicious porridge. Stirring spoils it. It is guaranteed to relieve constipation or money back. At grocers', 10c and 25c. Try the ready cooked Roman Meal Nuggets. You may soften with boiling water, drain, and add milk or serve with hot milk. Made by Roman Meal Co., Toronto. ..*CHINESE CYCLES OF YEARS Among the many extraordinary customs of this Chinese is that of banding years together in groups of twelve called "cycles," and naming each year of the series after some animal. Thus, the first year of a new cycle is the year of the Rat, the second the year of the Ox, the third the year of the Chinese born in the year of the Rat, belongs to the Order of the Rat, and so on. "The animal," "class" of every Chinese man and woman is thus recorded, and is held to be of great importance in fortelling the future. Another curious fact about the Chinese reckoning of time is that in the Celestial Empire a child is held to be one year old as soon as it is born. With the absurd superstition so dear to the Oriental mind a baby boy is frequently given a girl's name in order to deceive the evil eye. The Chinese have an objectionable habit of making it as hard as possible to rear a male child successfully.

..*CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

..*NEW STORY OF THE KAISER When Kaiser Wilhelm and Czar Nicholas were both bound on pleasure cruises (says a writer in the London Magazine) their two Royal yachts chanced to pass each other in mid-ocean. Now it is not etiquette to allow such occasions to slip by without an exchange of courtesies; and so, in accordance with the dictates of good form, messages were despatched by both Emperors. The Kaiser's telegram was characteristic. "The Admiral of the Atlantic," it boomed, "salutes the Admiral of the Pacific." The Czar's reply was equally characteristic. It merely said, "Bon voyage." The Czar's message was not of a man who has been born great, or who has achieved greatness, or who has had greatness thrust upon him, but of a man who has thrust greatness upon himself.

..*ENLISTING ROMANCES The Germans calculated on our Colonies, at any rate, partly falling us in regard to munitions and men is an undoubted fact, and it must be with the greatest chagrin that they read that Canada alone will contribute in a very short time 250,000 men and Australia 300,000—a wonderful testimony to the patriotic spirit which binds them to the Motherland. From all outposts of the Empire men hastened to shoulder a rifle when the alarm sounded, giving up lucrative posts and in some cases travelling thousands of miles to the nearest recruiting station in order that they might "do the bit" for the old country. Perhaps the most remarkable romance of recruiting is that afforded by the case of John Eaton, who worked for the Hudson Bay Company among the Eskimos, and who was so isolated from the rest of the world that he did not hear of the war until August of 1915. When he did so, he at once decided to come to his own country and answer the call for men. A few days ago he reached his home in Edinburgh, and has now enlisted. Many thousands of miles, too, were travelled by a Scottish ship's captain, who, a few weeks ago, presented himself at the Newcastle office of the Tyneside Scottish Brigade. This captain was the owner of the schooner trading among the South Sea Islands, and leaving his wife and his possessions in the Pacific, he travelled home via Japan and Russia to enlist. There is a man in the Canadian contingent at Shorncliffe who walked all the way from Alaska to enlist at Winnipeg. When he got there he was turned down for flat feet! Then he tramped on to Toronto, and there he was more successful. A well-known Fleet Street newspaper man, who has since come to this country, is a wonderful example of patriotism to faint-hearted slackers. He gave up a post of manager in one of the biggest stores in South Africa, which was worth £2,000 a year, to join the Army and receive a shilling a day. An extraordinary case was that of Charles Davies, the younger son of Mr. Davies, the parish clerk at Bangor, who at the outbreak of the war enlisted in the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. He was discharged owing to a physical defect. Not to be daunted, he enlisted in the R. A. M. C., and was again discharged. Not discouraged, he entered a Liverpool hospital and underwent a serious operation. After leaving the hospital, his legs were encased in plaster and irons for several weeks, but he ultimately succeeded in
