

Firemen Pull Down Tottering Walls

After a two-hour battering from high-pressure hose proved ineffectual, firemen pulled down the shaky walls of the Imperial Bank building, which burned in Toronto. This photo shows tons of masonry tumbling to the streets. Firemen used ladders to fasten long ropes to protruding beams and then pulled. Brick and stone came tumbling down with a thundering roar. The fire raged more than 17 hours. Damage was placed at $110,000. Telephone wires were sheathed in ice from tons of water poured into the building.

COLORFUL FLAMES

If you want a particularly colorful fire in the living room for the night of your party, treat the pieces of wood with the following chemicals. Should you desire blue flames, add one pound of copper sulphate to one gallon of water. For red flames, add one pound of strontium nitrate to one gallon of water. For green flames add one pound of borax acid to one gallon of water. In each case soak the wood in the solution for about three minutes and dry out in the warmth near the fire before using.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Perry and daughter arrived home from Halifax last week where they had spent most of the winter. Mr. Perry will now get his lobster fishing gear ready. Mrs. Perry is a sister of the late Early O'Hanley lost at sea a short time ago, when his ship was sunk by a submarine.

Mr. Walter Squires was in the city last week on business.

Winter car drivers are in hopes of getting their cars out again as word was received last week that the Government ploughs would in an effort to open the roads. It might be possible to break through before the snow gets too wet and heavy.

Friends here and in the city will learn with regret of the illness of Michael Cullen, Mayor, Mr. Cullen who is the oldest living person in this vicinity is in his ninety-sixth year.

Mr. Patrick Baker arrived from Halifax on Saturday evening after spending the winter there. Mr. Baker says he was quite surprised at the great amount of snow on the Island as in Halifax, the light fall had long since disappeared.

Fishermen are busy getting ready for the lobster season which is only slightly over a month away.

Mrs. Ernest Baker was in the city a few days last week visiting her daughter Mrs. Ernest Carr who was reported on the sick list for some few weeks. She is enjoying her good health again.

More hockey looms up and word had been received from the manager of the Holman's Victors that in the event the roads are not too bad, the game will be played. The teams have been decked with one game each and owing to the loss of time and expenses it has been impossible for the teams to meet again. In the event the road is opened the game will be played in the Charlottetown Forum.

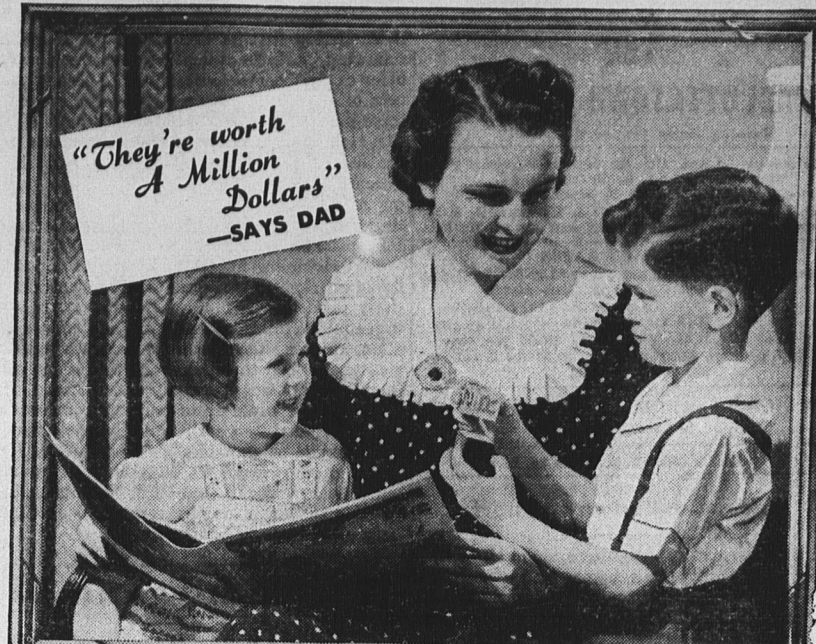

Speaking of roads, if the road is to be opened would it not be a good way to put a crew of men in each school or polling district to shovel the heavy banks, leaving the lighter places for the mighty plough.

The old Model schoolhouse which was occupied by the late Mrs. Watson is closed again. In passing the old school one wonders at the march of time. From its doors rushed young men who became the leaders in many classes. Professor Anderson, who was considered one of the best educated men in Canada carried his books to the old school. Phillip Rossiter, another outstanding figure also started at the little green school, and there are many others. Mrs. Ernest Rossiter, then Katie Clarkin, was a teacher in the old green school and a best teacher to stand behind a desk also taught in the old school when schools were few and far between. Today Model boasts one of the finest country or village schools in the province with three teachers and almost two hundred children. Two hundred men and women of tomorrow and of yesterday are now in the shoes of those who passed from the old green school on the hill to the valley of success in business, church and state, positions along with good farmers and fishermen. There are far too many in this vicinity who ignore the school and are allowed to drift along the road of life, it is time parents were wiser to the fact if today we are at war tomorrow will come and with it peace and ever increasing need for education and men of skill who can figure out ways to fight the terrible

You Can GIVE THEM FINANCIAL SECURITY for $10 a Month with the New DOMINION LIFE BUDGET PLAN

'Yes,' says many a proud father. 'I'd give all I possess rather than see my precious wife and children in distress after I'm gone.' Well - you don't need to 'give all.' You can start with $10.00 a month. You budget so much a month for Life Insurance Protection - just as you budget for rent, gas, clothes, telephone. That's The Dominion Life Assurance Company's new way of 'Life Insurance on a Budget.' And - note this, 'as sure as you live,' those monthly savings go to pile up for a Retirement Income for yourself. Just figure out the most you can budget per month starting with $10.00. (You can go as low as $5 a month.) Then fill in the coupon, and let the Dominion Life Representative discuss with you the kind of policy best suited to your own particular needs.

Seaway Opening Vast Power and Shipping Empire Will Make Communities Move

Fifteen feet of water will flow over the main street of Iroquois (LEFT) when the St. Lawrence seaway is completed, flooding 30,000 acres on the river below Prescott. Residents plan a new model community, a few miles farther back. Steeped in history is the Stormont-Dundas-Glenora area of eastern Ontario, which will be flooded to make power. This cemetery (CENTRE), in an Anglican churchyard, is near the spot where the Battle of Chrysler's Farm was fought in the war of 1812. Sorry to leave the homes where their families have lived for generations, townsmen in the tract to be flooded are happy because the completion of the seaway will revitalize the district. Besides Iroquois (RIGHT), Morrisburg and Aultsville will be affected.
