Four Million Register For Service In U. K.

LONDON, July 31—(CP)—The British government has announced that the number of men registered for service in the United Kingdom has reached four million. The registration was completed on July 29, pushing the total number of men registered since the start of the campaign to more than 4,000,000.

YACHTSMAN WINS D.S.C.
 For service in successful operations which prevented war materials from falling into the hands of the enemy. Acting Sub-Lieut. James Wake Goble of Victoria, B.C., has been decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross. A.C.N.V.R. at Easter and within a week was sent overseas.

The fact does not mean that 4,000,000 men are in the king's arms. The National Service Act covers ages from 19 to 41, the call-up actually started with those of 21. An official estimate of the percentage exempted from the conscription services is not available but it averages about 10 per cent.

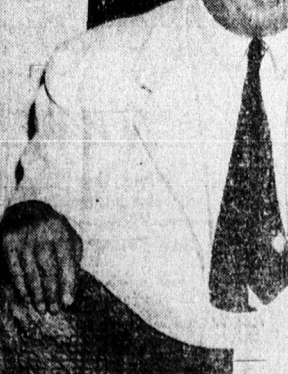

A wide range of occupations are exempted from the schedule of registration. The purpose of the exemptions is to ensure that workers possessing skill or experience required for the maintenance of essential production or essential services are not absorbed in the fighting forces to the detriment of the home front.

Of these reserved occupations there are no exemptions. A conscription objector must take his case before a tribunal. If his objections are convincing he may be exempted from non-combat service, but he must work on a farm, married men must register along with single men but in practice, especially where there are families to support, they are not liable to be called up as a single man.

Military Service Not To Interfere With Hockeyists

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP)—Service in the non-permanent active militia should not interfere unduly with professional hockey players playing on Canadian and United States teams this winter, according to available information here.

If players are volunteer members of the militia they will get their training in during the summer. If they are called up under the national resources mobilization act they may do their 30-day stretch of training any time between Oct. 1, 1940, and Oct. 1, 1941.

Says Insurance Scheme Will Assist In War

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—The government's scheme for unemployment insurance is looked upon as a definite assistance in the prosecution of the war, a defence minister, W. A. Mackintosh, economic adviser to the finance department, told the banking and commerce committee of the Senate today.

After morning and afternoon sittings in which the committee heard representations on the unemployment insurance bill from labor organizations and government officials the senators adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Mackintosh said he had been consulted by the committee on the possible effect of the measure on war financing.

The bill provides for the building up of an unemployment insurance fund from contributions of the government, employers and employees, with the government administering the scheme. Employees embraced by the plan would receive benefit payments in the event of unemployment.

It was estimated, Mr. Mackintosh said, that about $45,000,000 a year would be taken out of the financial stream by the necessity of the act but this sum would become quite as much a part of the government's war chest as if it were taken by taxation.

Two Divisions Form Nucleus of Canadian Corps

By FRANK FLAHERTY
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP)—Less than a year after the outbreak of hostilities two divisions of Canadian troops will form the nucleus overseas of a Canadian Corps under a Canadian Commander.

Defence Minister Ralston clarified the position regarding the sending of troops overseas in the House of Commons last night when he said Canada will shortly have a corps of two complete divisions and auxiliary troops in Great Britain and that for the present no troops in addition to these would be sent there.

Col. Ralston's statement does not mean the corps under the command of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton will consist exclusively of these Canadian troops or that when and if the war takes a different turn additional troops will not be sent to form part of this corps or other formations.

When General McNaughton's proposition to form a Canadian corps was announced some time ago it was stated his command would consist of the 1st division which he led to Britain last December and some British formations which would be replaced with Canadian formations later.

Part of 2nd In England

Part of the 2nd Division now is in England and the intention is to place the whole of it there. When it is there the division will be overwhelmingly Canadian even though some non-Canadian troops still form part of it.

The 1st Division now under the command of Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearke, V.C., has had more than six months' training as a division in the United Kingdom and is fully equipped in all respects for the part of the war practising the mobile tactics suitable to defensive operations against a German invasion.

The 2nd Division, under the command of Maj.-Gen. Victor W. Odlum, is also a seasoned body of troops but it will have something to learn from the 1st division. Mobilized on the outbreak of war its units trained at their local headquarters until May when they went to summer camps in various parts of the United Kingdom.

The 2nd divisional Artillery and Engineers were concentrated in the United Kingdom for advanced training in the summer of 1939 and the Infantry units were concentrated in the United Kingdom for advanced training in the summer of 1939 and the Infantry units were concentrated in the United Kingdom for advanced training in the summer of 1939.

Hull's Comment on Havana Conference

HAVANA, July 31—(AP)—The United States Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, sailing for home from the Havana conference of American foreign ministers declared last night the meeting had "cleared the decks for effective action" to meet dangers to continental security and economy.

In a statement reviewing the action of the conference, which ended with the formal signing of documents in Cuba's capital, Hull said the "American Governments have manifested their full recognition of dangers which confront them in common and have created machinery for common action."

"Instead of flinching and abandoning the spirit of unity and concerted steps for safety, they have demonstrated to the world their unalterable determination to preserve and strengthen the spirit and system of continental unity and solidarity," he said.

They have cleared the decks for effective action whenever such action may become necessary.

FIRST OF SWORDFISH CATCH WEIGHED 466 LBS.

SYDNEY, N. S.—First swordfish catch of the season was a 466 pounder taken off the historic Cape Breton town of Louisbourg by a commercial fisherman, United States as well as Canadian sportsmen are expected shortly to try their skill with rod and line against these packages of "dynamite" according to the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National Railways.

These doughty warriors of the deep are capable of driving their "swords" through the planking of a small boat as many a fisherman can testify. Michael Lerner, prominent American sportsman from New York, pioneered swordfishing with rod and line in these waters about five years ago.

Expectations are that there will be a plentiful supply of swordfish. A large percentage of the commercial catch finds its way to the Boston market, being transported in Canadian National Express refrigerated cars with the fish packed in ice in individual boxes minus the swords and tails.

Canadians Offer To Study Sites For U. S. Bases

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Several Canadians have communicated with Representative Joseph Smith (Dem.-Connecticut) to learn the United States government's official attitude toward a proposal to acquire and fortify an airplane and navy base in Nova Scotia.

Smith said today the recommendation, made to the House of representatives military affairs committee by himself and representatives Joseph Byrns (Dem.-Pennsylvania), Charles Faddis (Dem.-Pennsylvania), brought offers from the Canadian government to study sites for such a base in the event of mutual defence of the continent by the United States and Canada.

The congressman declined to name the names of persons who have written him from Canada, said, however, the correspondence would be turned over to the committee for suitable action. The letter may eventually be forwarded to both the war and navy departments and probably to the state department for consideration.

Although there is no mutual defence agreement between the United States and Canada, the three congressmen recommended acquisition of sites at Nova Scotia and Bermuda as necessary for the United States to establish bases. They suggested in a report that the sites be leased or purchased by the United States, but other members of congress have proposed they be taken as part payment of war debts.

Chairman Andrew May (Dem.-Kentucky) of the military committee, has said he favors "immediate and aggressive negotiations" to obtain such bases.

Havana Parley Terminates In 3-point Program

HAVANA, July 31—(AP)—The 21 American Republics formally presented a united front today against political and economic dangers from other continents in a large-point program which State Secretary Cordell Hull of the United States regarded with deep satisfaction despite last-minute reservations by eight nations.

The delegates signed the "Act of Havana" and supplementary agreements, although the Argentine delegation which had urged a more radical program, had anticipated need of action concerning European colonies in the New World—led seven other nations in a succession of reservations.

The delegates of Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Uruguay and Venezuela specified that the agreements be ratified by their governments before participation. Mexico, Bolivia and Peru made reservations as to minor points.

The program consists of: 1. The act of Havana declaring all the republics opposed to transferring to other non-American nations or attempt to transfer or acquire interest in European possessions in the New World. 2. Inter-American co-operation, through consultation and mutual exchange of information, to combat "Fifth Columnists" or other subversive elements. 3. Mutual effort to settle American economic problems, including market dislocations resulting from the European war, and economic integration against encroachment of European barrier systems.

The Act of Havana provides for joint administration of any foreign possession threatened by a non-American nation, but also recognizes the right of any American republic to act singly or jointly in emergency situations.

"ALL IN" SLOGAN FOR INFLA STRALGA

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 29—In a broadcast recently, Mr. Menzies, Prime Minister, announced that Australia was ready to mobilize her national resources in the same manner as Britain.

"Parliament" he said, "has been called to consider a Bill removing all limits to the recourse we may have to the national resources, modelled on British legislation giving unlimited power to tax and to take property, to direct employers and employees, and to call up and train man power. The only limit is no conscription for overseas service. Our watchword is 'All in.'"

Regarding man power and munitions Mr. Menzies said the Government had decided that 250,000 men were needed for home defense, involving an addition of from 80,000 to 90,000 troops to those already serving.

Roosevelt's Appeal is Promptly Approved

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—President Roosevelt's appeal for power to call out the National Guard for training—a proposal backed by the army—received today the quick approval of the United States Senate Military Committee.

Its action came shortly after it had heard General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, describe such an authorization as urgently necessary and add a strong endorsement of selective conscription—a proposal apparently bogged down in congressional controversy. On the latter subject, President Roosevelt declined to be drawn out at a press conference—although the committee earlier had engaged in an hour-long dispute over a Republican demand that he make his views known.

At 16 Littlewood, 21 last March, was first bitten by the flying bug two and a half years ago.
