BEST GAME SO FAR EXPECTED TOMORROW NIGHT

(Special to the Guardian). The Abbies have one of the best teams in their history and the Summerside team that lines up against them on Tuesday night will also be a team almost as good as the Champion Crystals of last year. Those who are in the know in Summerside say that the Crystals must win this game to be in the running for the Island Championship and that the fans are due for a big surprise when they see the Crystals play on tomorrow night. To find out what the Crystals are all about you'll have to see the White and Black have yet to dem-

SPORTING COMMENT

By ("TEC") THE THIRD P. E. I. LEAGUE FIXTURE

Tuesday's special train which will carry the Abegweit to Summerside where they play the Crystals in the third game of the Prince Edward Island Hockey League, will also convey, it is expected, the largest following of hockey fans in the history of the game in this province. Wherever one goes these days the first question heard is, "are you going to Summerside on Tuesday?" and invariably the answer is, "Yes, are you?"

Although fans will not soon forget last Friday's game, the coming fixture tomorrow night in the Crystal stronghold has every promise of being one of the hardest fought struggles ever played in this island province. If the westerners lose tomorrow night their chances will become very slim in the race for the title; therefore realizing this, the followers of both lineups may rest assured that the never-say-die spirit will prevail through the three sessions.

The writer has learned that Fred "Swede" Kelly contemplates performing on the Abbie defence in this game, and no doubt the good news will be received with the greatest satisfaction by Abegweit hockey fans. Kelly is a smooth, clever and hard-working hockeyist and his presence on the back line will be added strength not only on the defence but offensively as well.

THE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Officials and team representatives as well as are to be congratulated on last succeeding in forming and drawing the schedule of games to be played in the City Hockey League. The first game will be played on Wednesday night when the Rovers and Anchors cross sticks. As these teams compose some of the best stick wielders in the city, a great game is anticipated. The attention of the fans is called to the schedule which appears in another column of this issue—cut it out for future reference, as it will not be reproduced.

SHAKING UP IN THE N. H. L.

There is going to be a lot of shaking up in the National Hockey League shortly, as the teams are showing signs of settling. Ottawa is breezing along, and, having refuted the claim that they are a one-man team, there seems no reason why they should not coast through to a play-off. Ottawa have had their share of casualties, and Lady Luck certainly hasn't been with them on numerous occasions. They have earned every victory, and when the breaks went against them they fought all the harder. Such an astute hockey critic as Elmer Ferguson, of the Montreal Herald, accords little chance for any other team to head the Senators off. New York is expected to start its belated rush, although that tie by Boston looks ominous, and indicates that there is a lot more class to this year's teams than last season. Montreal would seem to be slipping from its high estate. Their heavy plugging game has taken its toll; the energy has been expended in drab endeavors to coerce the other clubs by sheer force, rather than by hockey skill, and the reaction is inevitable. The last game between New York and Canada, determined in a great measure the occupants of third position for the time being. In the meantime Boston may come riding through the field to upset many a well-laid plan. Pittsburgh is having a long rest recouping its scattered forces, and will enter the fray fresh and determined to win back the prestige that they gained with such a hurricane rush at the start of the season.

SWINGING THE AXE

Eddie Gerard has started swinging the axe in the Montreal camp. Following the lead by St. Pats, who cut Reg. Reid and Toots Holway off their payroll, Gerard has decided on a change. Brock Lowery has been given his release, while Hobie Kitchen received a surprise when he was fined $200.00 by the club. No reason has been advanced for the latter action. Maroons have taken on Holway, who was released by St. Pats, and the Irish grabbed up Dutch Cain, who was fired by Maroons. The player limit forces Maroons to cut down, and Lowery was the victim. Lowery gave great promise last season, but Dinmore has been doing most of the relief work on the line, and the Ottawa lad was unable to show his best wares. He is now with Canadians. Ottawas are the only team that stands pat, and have finished experimenting, being content to go through with their present squad, which looks enough.

"CONNIE'S" NOSEGUARD

Lionel Connacher will be one of the first men in hockey to wear a special nose-guard. He is out of hospital, after the triple operation on his nose, and attended the hockey game at the Forum Saturday night. Connacher prefers not to wear a nose-guard at all, and absolutely refuses to wear one of the kind used in rugby. So a compromise has been reached by which a smaller one will be designed for him, specially, as the nose is not set enough to withstand another blow with a stick or a collision just now without very serious consequences.

STORMS BREWING

The entry of another New York team presages some very interesting developments in the N. H. L. Certain American promoters feel absolutely sure that the N. H. I. will expand to at least ten clubs next year. That would seem to be too unwieldy and cumbersome. There seems to be something behind their confidence, although a lot of the talk that is going around hockey circles may be simply surmise. President Calder, who seems to be enamored of the expansion idea, would seem to well to take stock and survey the situation calmly. If the American element in hockey should predominate in a short while, it might seem natural to conclude that they might want a new executive, and someone tinged with an American viewpoint might be preferred. The danger exists not only for Canadian hockey, but for all its associations as well.

GRANGE MAKES HAY

California, the last hope of "Red" Grange and his financial dreams, is responding to the promoter's touch and when he shows there he will reap another harvest. Florida turned a chilled glance on the former wearer of the magic "77," but out at the coast they have made a warm response to the first overtures to show the gridiron superman there. Grange will probably finish his career for this year in a blaze of greenbacks. In the meantime, his future won't be too bad. There is every prospect of a pro. football league being launched next year. Grange gave the pro. game an impetus. While he may have to play for a paltry fifteen or twenty thousand a season after his option contract expires this year—he will be in little danger of poverty for some years to come. Grange generated the great idea, and once the pro. league becomes an actuality he will gain back a lot of his lost prestige. He has shown a lot of college boys the way to make more money than they ever dreamed of when they first donned the moleskins.

QUEEN ALEXANDRAS FUNERAL IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

The following order of service at the late Queen's funeral in Westminster Abbey is taken from the well known Illustrated London paper "The Daily Mirror" of 24th November. In the Abbey the coffin will be placed at the foot of the chancel steps. The order of service at the Abbey has been ascertained, and the two hymns were specially chosen by the King. The Archbishop of Canterbury will conduct the service. The service, which will be simple, begins at 11.30 and will occupy three-quarters of an hour. The opening sentences will be sung to Croft's setting in procession from the west door. There will be sung the dead Queen's favorite Psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd." The first hymn will be "Now the labourer's task is o'er." There will be the Lord's Prayer and Collects out of the burial offices, the Kontakion of the Faithful Departed ("Give rest, O Christ, to Thy servants with Thy saints") from the Russian Liturgy. The second hymn will be "On the Resurrection morning." The Archbishop will give the blessing and while the mourners sing Chopin's "Marche Funèbre" will be played.

The following are the words of the beautiful hymn taken from the Russian Liturgy referred to above. Give rest, O Christ, to thy ser-

CANADA EXHIBITS IN BIG NEW ZEALAND SHOW Sir Charles Fergusson, Governor-General of New Zealand, formally opened the 'New Zealand' and South Seas International Exhibition at Dunedin, N. Z., at which the Canadian Court comprises 27,000 and dignified exhibits at the exhibition. In addition to a display of natural resources and scenic beauties from all the provinces of Canada, of Canadian manufacturers. The most striking feature in the Court is the Diorama of a huge waterfall discharging over 10,000 gallons of water a minute in a fascinating setting of natural rock and natural trees, with a beautifully painted background depicting actual scenery in the Canadian Rockies. The lighting system in the Diorama is a most complicated electrical arrangement, as at changing intervals, it is diverted from broad day light to moonlight, thus providing a spectacular enchantment such as has not been exceeded at any previous exhibition.
