DUTCH PLANE

They left Bourke at 10.30 a.m. (7.20 p.m., Tuesday, E.S.T.). Just before Parmentier reached Melbourne. They were reported later over Cobar, flying slowly. Now all that is left for Turner is the $2,500 third prize in the speed race, the smallest of five prizes at stake. The Americans were not entered in the handicap race and therefore were not eligible for two larger prizes in that event. Engine trouble appeared to have dogged Turner and Panborn all the way across Australia. They thought they had their oil line fixed when they left Charleville after a slow flight from Port Darwin, but further trouble developed.

Striking Contrast

The Dutch crew and their passengers presented a striking contrast to Scott and Black, who raced into Melbourne yesterday for the $50,000 first prize and a $2,500 gold cup. All the occupants of Parmentier's big "flying hotel" were well groomed and wearing smart clothing, apparently as fresh as when they left London. In comparison Scott and Black were unshaven, dishevelled and badly in need of sleep. In addition the Dutchmen had flown at least 1,000 miles faster than the English team, making landings at almost every intermediate point on the long journey. The American team, knowing every minute was precious, came down at Charleville at 8.05 a.m. and got into the air again at 7.20 a.m. Before them lay 786 miles of flying, 600 of which would close the gap between them and the dogged Dutchmen.

QUEBEC GOV'T. MAY SEEK DOMINION AID

Taschereau Moves To Increase Price of Newsprint Sent To U. S. Publishers.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—Request to the Dominion Government to prohibit export of Canadian paper if it continued to be sold under cost price to United States publishers would be made by the Quebec Government, Premier L. A. Taschereau, stated here today. This, he said, would be the manner his Government would try to protect the paper business—one of the Province's basic industries—in the face of opposition from the American Newspaper Publishers Association to any increase in the price of Quebec newsprint.

He warned the United States publishers they must understand the situation in Quebec and realize that a moderate increase in the price of newsprint is imperative if the industry were to progress.

Commenting on the statement of Howard Davis, New York, President of the A. N. P. A. "Unless the validity and dependability of contracts made between Quebec companies are assured the Association will be advised to turn to other available and potential sources of newsprint supply," Premier Taschereau said the question of contracts with Quebec companies was not concerned. It was a matter of seeing that Canadian mills were assured some measure of profit, he declared, this in order to protect the millions of dollars invested in the industry by United States and Canadian investors.

He failed to say why United States publishers raised their hands in horror at the gesture of the Quebec Government to help its newsprint industry. "When, as a matter of fact, an industry and commerce in the United States has been subjected to governmental control through NRA codes," Taschereau said, "the Premier recalled, and newspapers survived regardless of that price, for the good of the Province and the industry, companies must increase the price moderately, for we are not going to allow our forests to be bared without profit to those exploiting them."

The Premier added: "We cannot expect the United States publishers, members of the A. N. P. A. to receive with any marked enthusiasm the move of the Quebec Government to see there is a moderate increase in the price of newsprint as warranted by the duty of the Province of Quebec to protect that industry and by increasing costs and the increasing needs of our workmen."

But the United States publishers are banded men and surely they will realize that for the Province of Quebec the newsprint industry is a business and must be run along business lines. At the present price for newsprint there is no profit for our Canadian mills. Canadian and American money has been invested in this important industry and at present prices there is no return for such investment; dividends are not being paid. This is not just. It will be wise for the publishers to understand the position of Quebec's newsprint industry than to force Quebec to ask the Dominion Government to control exports of newsprint. It will be reasonable that during the last session of the Dominion Government a law was adopted by which the Dominion authorities can prohibit exports of certain produce unless it is sold at a certain price. He hoped such action would be necessary as "a last drastic resort."

When Robert Service wrote the poem from which the above are quotations, the breeding of Silver Black Foxes was practically all confined to this Province. Today the industry is world wide, but Prince Edward Island still holds the honor of producing the finest pelts. That honor we must zealously foster and guard and the way to do it is by encouraging our Silver Fox breeders to improve their herds. Silver Fox shows are one of the best means for improvement.

mile from the highway and it is impossible to reach the spot except by the logging road. The Piccards said they were uncertain whether they would spend the night here. The Piccards also unloaded some sand ballast but said they feared to release much of the heavy load they carried for fear of injuring persons on the ground.

Barograph Guarded

Ope picked the battery up from his yard, when it landed, and kept it for the Piccards. The barograph was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Oscar Weiberg, who was instructed to guard it closely until it could be shipped to Washington to ascertain the exact height the Piccards reached. The instruments and the gondola were in perfect shape although eye witnesses asserted that the gondola continued to stop in 20 to 30 feet after the bag itself was stopped in the tree top. The gondola finally came to rest on the logging road.
