The following is an open letter received by The Dominion Fur Sales, Limited, Summerside, P. E. I.

"The Dominion Fur Sales Limited, Summerside, Prince Edward Island, Canada.

Dear Sirs—

I saw by the Island papers that you are handling Gerber's Dried Bread Crumbs.

The Island fox men will thank you after the first breeding season. We have been buying this same feed for the last six years and it is 50 percent of our cereal ration. Our production has never been below three and a quarter. We give dried bread crumbs a lot of credit.

We have yet to find any fault. We have inspected the plant many times and always find it in fine shape.

In fact we use the bread crumbs for bread pudding and for breaded pork chops or any occasion we have to use dried bread in the house.

You are to be congratulated on securing such a good product. For your information, Mr. Gerber is supplying Fromm Bros., Wexman & Co., the largest fur farms in the country, all the bread crumbs they use.

Yours very truly,
(Sgd.) CHARLES T. DUNNING."

Another car of this product to arrive soon. Orders booked off at slightly cheaper.

PROMINENT

walked out to worship in his accustomed place.

He was a great lover of flowers and took a keen interest in his garden which was one of the beauties of Summerside. He shared the love of nature with his wife who was his devoted companion until May 2, 1925, when she passed away.

Mr. Massey was also a great reader and had an excellent library. After his wife's death his books and his dog were his most constant companions. He had many other staunch friends of almost life long acquaintance, who mourn with his surviving daughter, Miss Dolores Gary Hope Massey, R.N., who is on her way from Los Angeles by plane. There was one other daughter, Mariel Alexander, who passed away 25 years ago while teaching in Montreal.

The funeral arrangements will be made later.

Great-grandson of Baron Massey

The late Hugh James Massey was born at St. Eleanor's, this Province, on June 23, 1854. He was a great grandson of the first Baron Hugh Massey of Dunleague, County Limerick, Ireland, who was elevated to the Irish peerage in 1776, and who traced his descent, through General Hugh Massey, a military commander in the Rebellion of 1841, to Hamon, one of the conquerors in arms of William the Conqueror.

On the maternal side the late Mr. Massey's great-grandfather was a United Empire Loyalist, a captain of rangers who acted as scout in the Revolutionary War in America, carrying dispatches from British soldiers to outlying troops and other isolated points. This ancestor—who incidentally made a trip on foot from New York City to Montreal in mid-winter—was given a grant of land in Prince Edward Island during the remainder of his life, dying there about 1858, at the remarkable age of one hundred years.

Mr. Massey's father, the late Hugh James Massey, was born in Tipperary, Ireland, and came to this Province about 1851. Being a man of some means, he purchased a farm and settled in Bedouque, where he resided until about 1860, when he sold out and went to London, having met with business reverses. He returned to Prince Edward Island, and died here. He married Miss Mary Jane, only daughter of the late Isaac Darby, of St. Eleanor's, and of their children the subject of this sketch was the oldest son.

When to School in Ontario

Mr. Massey's school days were spent in Ontario, returning to this Island with his parents in 1870. The following two years he spent in the Omaha, Nebraska, and then entered St. Dunstan's College, Charlottetown. Upon the completion of his education he became clerk of the County Court for the fifth circuit of Prince County, holding the position some ten years, or until it was abolished. He then became general agent for the Confederation Life Insurance Company, with which he remained seven years, at the end of that period accepting the position of town clerk of Summerside, which office he held until his death.

Thoroughly capable in the discharge of his official duties, and courteous and obliging to all with whom he had dealings, Mr. Massey enjoyed the respect and good will of all who knew him. He was a Justice of the Peace for Prince County, and a commissioner for taking affidavits, etc. He was a member of the Church of England, his fraternal relations being with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

In October, 1881, Mr. Massey married Miss Isabella R. Hope, daughter of the late Horatio N. Hope (a grandson of Admiral Lord Nelson) of St. Eleanor's. Of Mrs. Massey's ancestors it may be related that John de Hope came to Scotland in 1537, Magdalen of France, the fair young Queen of James V. After her untimely death, he did not return to France, but remained in Scotland, settling in Edinburgh, where he became a successful merchant and founder of the Hope family, which subsequently divided in descent through Henry's two sons. One son, Thomas, founded the law family of the Scottish Hopes; the other son settled in Holland, founding the banking house of Hopes of Amsterdam and Liverpool. Mrs. Massey descended from this latter branch, her grandfather, Peter Hope, having been senior member of the Liverpool house.

just and practicable way must be granted, or a sufficient share of provincial revenues must be distributed to make up any deficiencies.

The point had now been reached where the very existence of municipalities was imperilled by failure to recognize and apply an equitable, stabilized and permanent basis of relationship between governments and municipalities, the resolution was passed.

It was resolved the union "take immediate action to secure the co-operation and support of municipalities throughout Canada towards the enactment of national legislation for establishing wider powers of taxation for municipalities to relieve the burden of real property and for an equitable and stabilized basis of the distribution of the responsibilities of social or national services between the provincial governments and municipalities, and the allocation of an equitable proportion of provincial and national revenues towards the cost of such services."

A concluding paragraph which was subsequently deleted read "it being understood that in the event of any necessary legislation involving requisite amendments to the 'British North America Act' then the necessary amendment to the said Act should be included in any application to the Dominion Government."

The paragraph in regard to the opposition from Chairman H. E. Lavigne, former Mayor of Quebec, Mayor T. Lambert of Hull, Ralph McInnes, of Saint John, N.B., and Dent Harrison of Westmount, Que., Mr. Lavigne pointed out that Quebec has always been dead against tampering with the B. N. A. Act as the province considered it a safeguard for certain of its allotted rights.

AIR MANOEUVRES

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, July 23—London and the surrounding area were bombed tonight by "enemy" planes, but a defending squadron put up a valiant defense.

Londoners dashed into streets and clambered to rooftops as 180 bombers, taking the "southern" route, swooped over London at 6 p. m. In a manner reminiscent of the air raids conducted during the Great War.

One "enemy" squadron, darting toward the point marked the "northlands" the supposed seat of the government, began dropping fake bombs, taking the first toll of the day's air manoeuvres, consisting of 168 fighting planes, zoomed into the air and sped to the defense of the city and succeeded in averting the widespread panic.

Activities in Fleet Street in the heart of the business section of the city, were halted momentarily when the enemy squadron roared over newspaper plants and began dropping "bombs" which actually were smoke puffs.

The air manoeuvres will continue tonight until Friday, with the civilian observer corps and the military searchlight units participating.

Lore Not Enough In Modern Homes

(By The Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, July 23.—Dr. Paul Popenoe of Pasadena, who brings peace to troubled homes, suggests too much stress and strain are being put on affection in modern marriage.

"Love is not enough," says the director of the California Institute of Family Relations, "people need more than that to get along together. I think our youngest couples realize this and are less sentimental about their emotions than most of those who were married years ago."

Dr. Popenoe has interviewed more than 12,000 unhappy married clients at his clinic. He advises young people to go in for mutual rugged interests and not to place too much stress on romantic love.

"The main thing in marriage is for two people to have the same goal," he said. "Earlier generations had so many aims and responsibilities in common that marriage was welded with a variety of goals and interests. They had a little of everything, all bound up in a sturdy sort of love. But we have now stripped marriage of all interests except affection."

Pearls Provided Required Radium

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, July 23—How Sir Wilfred Grenfell once converted pearls into radium is another of that Labrador physician-knight's almost inexhaustible anecdotes, and he told this one as he sailed aboard the steamer New Northland for his forty-something year in bleak Labrador.

"It was in Pittsburgh," Sir Wilfred recalled, "and the women there were not only exquisitely gowned, but a number of them had long strings of pearls. Ladies, I said, if each of you would give me just one pearl from those strings on which there are so many, I could buy some radium and fight cancer at my hospital."

Sir Wilfred said it was agreed. He got the pearls, and bought the radium.

Where Exigencies Of Trade Calls Help Passengers

There is one travel service where the exigencies of ports of call and the time required to discharge and take on cargo is all to the advantage of the passengers. When the S. S. "Colborne" of the Canadian National Steamships left Montreal, Que., recently she carried a good list of vacation passengers who will go "vagrantly" in and out of the various islands in the Caribbean Sea as the ship makes her various ports of call with products of Canadian manufacture. The passengers, meanwhile, share without extra cost the additional calls or extended time consequent upon the requirements of trade. The passengers are made up mostly of those whose vacation permits them to spend over a month in travel but the cruises are also being increasingly patronized for those travelling for the purpose of regaining their health. The two ships in this service, the "Colborne" and the "Comedie", operate at low cruise fares which figure out to be considerably less than ordinary hotel rates. There are six more sailings of these "vagrantly" ships from Montreal during the present summer and fall season, August 9th-23rd, September 20th, October 4th, November 1st-15th. After that date sailings will take place from Halifax, N. S. On the trip of the "Colborne" from Montreal recently ports of call include Halifax, Bermuda, Puerto Rico, Guadeloupe, Barbados, Trinidad and British Guiana in South America.

DWARF JUST 100 GREETS FRIENDS

(By The Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, July 23—Mrs. Mary Logan, four feet tall and weighing 85 pounds, had just celebrated her 100th birthday, when she received a letter of congratulations from President Hoover.

Mrs. Logan greeted visitors at her Brooklyn home with the remark: "I'm like the cow's tail growing down." Unlike several of Ontario's younger old-timers, she has not yet produced a third set of teeth.
