SWEET COURSE IS IMPORTANT

Just once this column is going to throw sobriety to the winds and indulge in a little "sweet talk"—of the dessert variety.

While it isn't the most important part of a meal, dessert often comes close to being the most popular.

And when Junior comes in asking "What dessert are we having for dinner tonight, Ma?"—why not surprise him with gingerbread, topped with "apple snow" sauce?

The sauce is easy to make and may even be used alone as a "light" dessert, following a heavy meal. Here is the recipe for Apple Snow recommended by the consumer section of the agriculture department: Ingredients: one egg white; two tablespoons sugar; dash of cinnamon or nutmeg; one and one-quarter cups apple sauce. Beat egg white until stiff, add sugar gradually and continue to beat until mixture stands in peaks. Add spice. Fold in applesauce and chill.

As for the gingerbread part of this dessert, there are any number of recipes, but here is one a little different than the average ingredients: one-half cup butter; one-half cup brown sugar; one cup molasses; one wine glass of strong coffee; three eggs, well beaten; one teaspoon cinnamon; one teaspoon mace; one teaspoon nutmeg; one tablespoon soda; juice and grated rind of one large orange; three cups sifted flour.

After butter and sugar is well creamed, molasses is added. Sift in the spices with the flour, and add the orange juice and rind with the soda dissolved in it. Beat well and turn into a loaf tin. Bake in a slow oven.

Rich Dessert

If guests are coming for dinner and you want to surprise them with something new in desserts, here is a treat which will do those crystal sherbet glasses of yours a special credit.

Heaven's delight — ingredients: one-half pound marshmallows; one-half pint whipping cream; two cups fresh strawberries (the frozen berries may be bought at most groceries); one-half cup sugar; one teaspoon vanilla.

Whip cream until thick, add sugar and vanilla, and beat slightly. Cut each marshmallow into quarters, add to whipped cream, and set on ice for at least two hours. Stir several times during this period, and then add strawberries which have been cut into small pieces. Let stand for one-half hour before serving.

Brownies are the rich goodies destined to satisfy those "sweet-toothed" guests at the club or church social.

Ingredients: two squares melted chocolate; one-half cup butter; one cup granulated sugar; two beaten eggs; one-half cup flour; salt and vanilla; one cup nuts. Mix in order given and bake in slow oven. Cut in squares while still warm and roll in powdered sugar. (Bake in an eight-inch square tin lined with wax paper.)

ISLAND LADY PASSES—Miss Elizabeth Lang, North Tryon has received notice of the death of her sister-in-law, Miss Charlotte Lang who passed away Sunday morning in Portsmouth, Mass. Miss Lang was a former resident of North Tryon.

AIR SCHEDULE DISRUPTED—Due to a very low ceiling and poor visibility over the Charlottetown Airport yesterday, Maritime Central Airways' planes were only operating between Moncton and Summerside, as far as incoming planes were concerned. Although two scheduled runs left the local airport earlier in the day for Moncton. Yesterday's air mail and air express arrived in Charlottetown last night by train from Summerside. Airways officials said last night that the low ceiling and poor visibility seemed to be centred over the local port only, as conditions were good at both Summerside and Moncton.

KNITTING PARTY—On Friday evening the 12th inst. the members of Parkdale Institute held a very enjoyable knitting party at the hospitable home of Mrs. Edwin Cook. The ladies, thirty in number, were a happy group, as they sat chatting, knitting and sewing in the cosy rooms with an open fire-place. During the evening a reading contest took place, which was quite entertaining and each number was so well rendered that it presented quite a problem to the judges, Mrs. Rodd and Mrs. Moore. The following ladies took part in the contest, Mrs. Cantwell, "For People Will Talk"; Mrs. Cook, "A Sneeze"; Mrs. Parent, "A Welsh Classic"; Mrs. Lumsden, Parkdale Institute; Mrs. Hickox, "The Awakening Flowers"; Mrs. Hudson, "The Dead Pussy". The judges brought in the verdict that Mrs. Parent and Mrs. Hudson were equal in points so they drew for a prize, which was gracefully presented to Mrs. Hudson by Mrs. Rodd. Mrs. Bertram, the musical member of the entertainment committee, then conducted a sing-song in which all heartily took part. The evening closed with a very dainty lunch, enjoyed by all present, served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Moore.

Personals

Mr. Arthur Avarad and Mr. Maurice Blake spent the week end at Mount Allison University.

The many friends of Miss Ione Johnston, student at Prince of Wales are glad to hear she has recovered after having an operation for appendicitis in the P. E. I. Hospital.

Mrs. Stanley Herring of Hamilton, Ont., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jardine, Upper Prince Street, and other friends throughout the city. Before arriving in Charlottetown she visited her daughter, Mrs. Bruce McKendrick, and Mr. McKendrick of Dartmouth, N.S. She expects to return home the latter part of this week.

PREMIERS DUPLESSIS AND DREW

Premier Drew spent the week-end in Quebec City. It is not believed the premier's trip was successful as far as obtaining additional power from the Beaubarnois. It is quite true that even the deputy minister of the Hydro branch of Quebec province spent some time in Toronto where he conferred with officials of Ontario and that subsequently Premier Drew met Premier Duplessis on several occasions in Quebec, but it is most unlikely that Quebec can at the present time dispense with any of its power notwithstanding the friendly relations between the two premiers. On the eve of an election Premier Duplessis would certainly not want platform speeches describing him as having given in purely to content again the anti-federal relations of the two premiers.
