Says High Ride Beastly Boring

(Canadian Press) LONDON, Oct. 6.—"Insufferably boring" was the phrase used by Captain Cyril Uwins to describe his sensations while flying in the stratosphere more than 8 1-2 miles above the earth. The occasion was the attack on the world's altitude record made by Captain Uwins in a Vickers "Vespa" aeroplane fitted with a Bristol "Pegasus" engine and despite the coolness with which Captain Uwins regarded the entire proceeding, the flight was one of the greatest in aeronautical history. Captain Uwins climbed for about two hours in the "Vespa". The whole time he was fed with oxygen and his clothes and even his goggles were electrically heated. At 45,000 feet, the height recorded by the instruments, no man could have lived for a moment without these appliances for the thermometer registered more than 100 degrees of frost and the air was so thin that death from oxygen want would have followed if the artificial supply had failed. Captain Uwins, who was less excited about his achievement than anyone else, stated after he had descended that he would have gone on climbing and believed that the aeroplane could have gone higher except that the petrol supply was coming to an end. According to his instruments Captain Uwins exceeded by an adequate margin the world's altitude records but before official confirmation of a new record is possible the sealed barographs carried on the flight have to be inspected and tested by the National Physical Laboratory and their readings have then to be corrected for atmospheric pressure and density.

Says Conditions Make Presidents, Not Vice Versa

(Special to the Guardian) MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 7.—Business has definitely turned the corner and even now there is noticeable evidence of this, declared Roger W. Babson, noted economist, statistician and business expert of New York, when passing through Moncton this afternoon via the Canadian National Railways enroute from Halifax to New York. There is lots of easy money at low interest rates and this will stimulate building, he remarked. 1934, he stated, should see business back to normal and it does not matter which President is elected in the United States. Conditions make Presidents, not Presidents conditions, he continued. Commenting upon the Maritime Provinces he was greatly impressed with their tremendous natural resources and feels there is a great future before this part of Canada. This has not been his first visit to the Maritimes, he having made several visits to those provinces previously. He has also visited the Canadian West and spoke highly of the service rendered by Canada's National Railway system.

EAT CELERY FOR HEALTH

It is doubtful if any of the common vegetables can compare with celery as an aid to general health. Most physicians agree that as a blood purifier and for ridding the body of toxic substances, this vegetable is in a class by itself. Like most leafy vegetables, the purpose of celery in the diet is not to provide heat or energy, but rather to furnish the vitamins, minerals and other secondary food so essential to good health. As a source of minerals, celery ranks high among the vegetables, being particularly rich in lime and magnesium. For this reason it is a great blood regulator and tends to combat any tendency to excess acidity. Celery is also a valuable source of vitamins, being one of the best for vitamin B.—Dominion Fruit Branch.

Royal Marriage Set This Month In Saxe-Coburg

COBURG, Germany, Oct. 7.—(C.P.)—Date of the marriage of Princess Sibylle of Saxe-Coburg and Prince Gustav Adolph Oscar of Sweden, eldest son of the Swedish Crown Prince, has been set for October 20. Invitations are being sent to the parents of the beautiful 24-year-old bride to nearly all crowned heads of Europe. The Prince of Wales, former Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria and his son, the Crown Prince of Norway, the former German Crown Prince Wilhelm and Crown Princess Cecile and about 30 other German Princes and Princesses are on the long list of invited guests. King Gustav of Sweden has announced that he will personally accompany his grandson to Coburg. The church ceremony will be held in the little chapel of Coburg castle, Coburg castle, popularly known as the "Veste," where the Swedish-Coburg wedding will be celebrated. It is attractively erected on a hill above the town. The "Veste" is one of the finest medieval strongholds in Germany.

Only about 100 years ago the Coburgers' name was almost unknown to the outside world. But following the marriage of Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and Queen Victoria of England his family increased in prominence, the house became powerful. The early history of the Coburg castle is lost but it was a fortified place even in the remotest times. In the 30 years' war General Wallenstein besieged the castle but it was defended successfully by a Swedish garrison. Perhaps the most beautiful part of the castle is the "Fuerstenbau" (Princes' building) which is still used as winter residence by the Ducal family and also contains a huge hall and marvellous reception rooms.

To Observe Birth Of Its Founder

(Special to The Guardian) TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Joining with associations in all parts of America and in many other parts of the world, the Toronto branches of the Y.M.C.A. will next week commemorate the birth on October 11, 1821, of Sir George Williams, who founded the organization. A Founder's

Day is to be held with a program that will emphasize the universal extent to which this youth movement has grown.

George Williams, at 23 years of age, started in a humble lodging the little organization which has steadily grown since until it now counts millions of all races in its membership. Queen Victoria later knighted him for his services.

A petition signed by 200 boys, employed on 11 different transatlantic liners, who find Y.M.C.A. buildings offering them a welcome in far-flung ports, has been presented to the Prince of Wales asking His Royal Highness to speak a week from today to the youth of the world. Then, too, it has been arranged that the present George Williams—a grandson of Sir George and who is now head of the firm where his distinguished grandfather began as a lad—will also perform a similar function.

In this city there will be a dinner in the Central branch auditorium on the night of Tuesday, October 11, and at which Canon A. P. Shatford of Montreal will be the principal speaker.

No Unemployment In Booming Town

PASCALIS, Que., Oct. 7.—(By the Canadian Press)—On the sloping shores of Lake Bonnefoud, a neat, orderly mining town is taking shape. More like a summer colony than a booming mining town, Pascalis is a community of attractive bungalows surrounded by a magnificent growth of silver birch. With the completion of a highway from Seneterre on the trans-Continental railroad it is hoped Pascalis, already commercial centre of the rich Pascalis-Louvicourt gold area, will become an important unit in the string of Quebec's hinterland towns.

Less than four months old, Pascalis has made a rapid but orderly appearance. A branch of one of Canada's chartered banks, an assay office, hotel, Chinese-operated cafe, bakery, shoe repair shop and three general stores are among the town's commercial units. Pascalis too has that indispensable adjunct to every mining town—a poolroom. Particularly attractive are the bungalows. Made of peeled logs, hewed from the neighboring bush, these homes are of quality that suggests permanency. In Pascalis there is no unemployment. Mining men compare the development with the early days of Rouyn. Planes carrying prospectors and supplies

Burned Baby Has New Hand

(Special to The Guardian) COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Oct. 7.—Because modern surgery can perform miracles, 18-months-old Doris Johnson will have a new hand.

He found there were quite a few doctors of that sort. So Beth-El agreed to aid, and Doris was brought here.

The baby went under ether, and the surgeons split the tiny fingers apart, broke the twisted bone and reset it straight, and, one by one, made the twisted little fingers whole again. Soon they will perform another operation. Skin will be grafted on the hand and fingers to hide the scars left by the flames, and in another year or so, no one ever will be able to tell that Doris once had no hand.

The Johnsons are not wealthy. They did not have money to pay great surgeons for operations.

Lameness prevented by Minard's.
