Synthetic Rubber Production Starts

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 9—(AP)—More than 950,000 tons of synthetic rubber will be rolling out of new United States plants by Nov. 1 next year, a war production board report on butadiene to the American chemical society disclosed today.

Butadiene forms three-fourths of the synthetic rubber and styrene the rest. Only two or three days are required to complete the transformation from butadiene to rubber.

The report, made by Dr. Albert L. Elder of the W.P.B., showed that butadiene production will be scattered through seven states, 11 cities and towns and one Canadian city. It will be divided among 12 companies.

The report did not include Dupont's Neoprene, Standard Oil of New Jersey's Butyl and Dow chemical thiokol.

"Swamp Water" At Capitol, Summerside

"Swamp Water" is from the pen of Vereen Bell, and is one of the most unusual serials the Saturday Evening Post ever published. It is the story of the people who live in the strange country near the awesome Okefenokee Swamp of Georgia. This is a refuge for the hunted, but few of those who go into the swamp to hide ever get out of it alive. Into this dread wilderness goes Ben Ragan' dog Trouble, and Ben follows his pal into the swamp against his father's wishes.

There he not only finds his dog, but also a hunted criminal, Tom Keefer, who is hiding in the swamp. Tom has been able to live, hunt and trap there. But he will not let Ben leave Okefenokee for fear he will turn him in. Ben convinces Tom of his loyalty, and they form a partnerhip to hunt and trap.

This arrangement gets Ben into even more difficulties. His father is angry at him for going back into the swamp, his girl friend Mabel is angry because of the attention he pays Tom's daughter Julie, and the Dowson brothers decide to put him out of the way because they fear that he has learned that they committed the murders for which Tom was convicted.

Ben straightens things with his father, takes care of his women and settles matters with the Dawsons in an exciting chase through the alligator-infested waters of Okefenokee.

Luxembourg Steel Workers Go On Strike

LONDON, Sept. 9—(CP)—Workers throughout steel-producing Luxembourg were declared today to have gone on general strike in protest against the incorporation of the Grand Duchy into the German Reich and in defiance of Nazi warnings that convicted strikers would be sentenced to death.

The Ministry of Information said this was 'the first occasion in which a general strike has been ordered in German-occupied territory, and gains additional significance from the fact that Luxembourg ranks among the 10 largest steel producers in the world."

(Andre Wolff, Commissioner of Information of Luxembourg at Washington said the strike was the answer of the workers and people of the Grand Duchy to an order by Gauleiter Gustav Simon Aug. 30 which incorporated Luxembourg into the Reich and declared her youth would be conscripted for German military service.)

"The strike," said the ministry, "clearly and eloquently refutes the spate of lying German propaganda which claimed that Luxembourgers had voluntarily acquired German citizenship and volunteered for service with German forces."

vegetables was one of the features of the exhibition and the excellent quality of these exhibits is worthy of special mention. However there was a slackening off in the classes for housekeeping and fancy work with a big decrease in the exhibits as compared with last year.

High Quality

The livestock classes maintained the usual high standard of quality and the number of entries was about the same as in 1941.

Mr. Alex McClumpha, Bay Fortune walked off with the honors in the classes for Draught Horses when his exhibits won the Male and Female championship. He was given plenty of competition from Messrs. T. J. Kickham, Souris West and W. H. Townshend and Sons, Rollo Bay, however. Both these exhibitors displayed some fine animals in the show ring and it was only after considerable difficulty that Mr. John B. Roper, Sherwood, the judge, was able to pick the winners.

The prizes for the light horses were evenly distributed among the numerous exhibitors, all of the breeders sharing in the prize money. Mr. Roper also judged these classes.

Interest In Beef

Due to the beef shortage in Canada, the Shorthorns and any beef breeds, which were paraded in the cattle ring, came in for a great deal of attention. People who were unfamiliar with the breed formerly, took the opportunity of looking them over yesterday. The first prize for the male Shorthorn went to an entry of Mr. Earl Kennedy, Kingsboro. Other principal exhibitors were: Messrs. W. H. Townshend and Sons, T. J. Kickham and James Gordon, New Perth.

The Holstein classes brought out some choice animals and the various sections were keenly contested. However, Mr. Douglas Aitken, Fortune Bridge, succeeded in walking off with top honors in both male and female classes. He had the champion male of the show and also the champion female. The runner-up in the competition was Mr. Preston Bryenton, Mr. L. K. Lockerby was the judge of the beef and Holstein exhibits.

Ayrshire breeders displayed their finest cattle at the Fair and many favorable comments were heard about the various exhibits. W. C. Lewis and Sons, St. Peter's Bay, had the Champion Male, Brent Stead, Bay Fortune the Champion Female and other main exhibitors were Messrs. Edwin Reid, Rollo Bay; Jerome McDonald, Little Harbor and Duncan H. Coffin and Son, Bay Fortune.

The golden Jerseys and Guernseys were judged by Mr. L. W. Roper, who placed the Ayrshires also and in this class Ernest Underhay got the majority of the prizes and took all the championships. Mr. Edison Rose, East Baltic, made a good showing with his entries.

The sheep classes were well filled and competition was keen. The Champion market lamb belonged to Mr. Alex Hamilton, New Perth, who was a leading exhibitor. Other prominent exhibitors included: James A. E. MacDonald, Little Pond, John Norton, Annandale and Ernest Underhay. The judge was Mr. Lyle Boswell, Marshfield.

In the swine classes the champion bacon hog was owned by Mr. Alex Hamilton; the champion Yorkshire male belonged to Mr. Frank McAulay, Souris Line Road and the champion Yorkshire female to Duncan Coffin and Sons. Mr. H. W. Clay, Charlottetown Royalty was the judge.

In the poultry classes the main prize winners were: Mrs. Edison Rose, East Baltic; Edwin Reid, Rollo Bay and Joseph Neale, Bear River. Mr. F. A. Driscoll, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Charlottetown, was the judge.

Germans had fallen.

Only at Mozdok did the Russians report successes, and these were still indecisive. The Russians for two days now have been trying to annihilate a Nazi force which crossed the Terek River to the south bank of the road to Grozny some 60 miles away.

The communique said that "under the blows of our troops the Hitlerites were forced to retreat," and that one unit had destroyed three tanks, seven guns, and killed 200 Germans.

But the big momentous struggle still was near the Volga River.

"German planes are literally hanging over our front line, bombing our positions" on the southwest face of Stalingrad, a dispatch to the government newspaper Izvestia said. Yet here, four successive assaults by enemy tanks and motorized infantry, representing German, Italian and Rumanian reserves, failed to make headway.

Paratroop Commander Is Killed

OTTAWA, Sept. 9—(CP)—Maj. Hilton D. Proctor of Ottawa, first commander of a Canadian paratroop unit, died Monday in line of duty at Fort Benning, Ga., while making his first parachute jump, it was announced today.

A month ago, with 26 other Canadians, the 31-year-old officer went to the United States parachute school for intensive training aimed at providing a nucleus of skilled personnel for the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion to be formed at Shilo, Man.

He was dropping from one plane when another transport aircraft snagged his newly-opened parachute in what American investigating officers called a "freak accident" and fell to his death.

There was no let-up in training. His men continued jumping that day and the next.

And today it was learned that a second parachute battalion is to be formed. National Defence Headquarters said Maj. Donald R. Williamson of Brantford, Ont., formerly of the 1st Battalion, Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles, has been promoted to rank of Lieutenant-Colonel to command it.

Maj. Proctor's command fell temporarily to Maj. R. F. Routh, 28, of Montreal, second-in-command of the Fort Benning party.

ALLIED BOMBERS

tion at 7:30 p. m. and Budapest went silent soon after except for code messages telling what to do in an air raid.

Bratislava and Prague went out about the same time as Budapest. Other continental stations also were reported off the air.

It was the second attack of the war on the Hungarian capital. Russian bombers raided Budapest last Friday night and left fires raging in the city.

Russian and British bombers launched a whipsaw bombing campaign several weeks ago, the R.A.F. lashing at German territory from the west and the Russians bombing east Prussia, eastern Germany, and occupied Poland.

Two Canuck Squadrons

At least two Canadian Squadrons participated with the R.A.F. in the attack on Frankfurt, the sixth nocturnal raid on Germany proper in the first eight of September's lengthening "bomber nights."

The R.C.A.F. today announced the adoption of the practice of issuing communiques on the work of its squadrons. The first communique said:—

"Last night R.C.A.F. bomber squadrons formed part of a strong force which attacked objectives in the Rhineland, particularly Frankfurt. Many large fires were started.

"Aircraft of the Canadian fighter squadrons also carried out intruder operations over enemy territory."

The communiques will be supplemented by weekly summaries of operations.

The raid on Frankfurt, the 35th of the war, apparently was of the "standard three-figure order," meaning more than 200 planes went to the attack on the Rhineland, from which seven bombers failed to return.

Large Fires

Large fires were set in Frankfurt and the nearby Rhineland, some 400 miles from the nearest British bases, which apparently testifies that with longer nights the bombers can strike deeper into enemy territory.

One of the R.C.A.F. squadrons was led by Flt.-Lt. David Williams of Vancouver, recently decorate with the Distinguished Flying Cross, who, with his navigator, Flt.-Sgt. Mick Turnour of Saskatoon and Vancouver reported heavy searchlight concentrations near the target area.

On the Rhineland raids, the German radio broadcast a DNB dispatch declaring "material damage was caused in residental districts of some towns" in western Germany.

Increasing Tempo

Coincident with the announcement of the latest of almost nightly attacks under improving conditions, an R.A.F. spokesman predicted the United States flying fortresses, after their "excellent start" will carry out the daylight, high-level precision assignments on an increasing scale.

The commentator forecast "deeper penetration to more vital targets" by the big American bombers and added that "neither the German press nor radio has been allowed to tell the people that American aircraft are attacking them in the west now."

London had a daytime air-raid alert, but it ended with the passage of enemy planes flying high over the Thames Estuary. There was no incident reported.

Two of several German planes raiding elsewhere in England were shot down last night. Some dropped propaganda leaflets which authorities suppressed.

units in Guadalcanal was continuing. Marines were reported seeking out and attacking Japanese detachments which fled to the jungles when the initial American landing was made and which may have been reinforced since by small numbers of troops sent in by the Japanese from time to time "under cover of darkness."

Shoot Down Flying Boat

Another disclosure of the communique was that on Sept. 5 a navy patrol plane shot down a large Japanese four-engined flying boat northeast of the Solomons. No details of this engagement were given, but the loss of the flying boat brought to at least 123 the number of planes which the Japanese have had destroyed in Solomons fighting to date.

Jap Main Base

The little island, which is about four miles wide by six long, and heavily wooded, lies more than halfway on the route to Kieta, a Japanese-held point on Bougainville Island. Northwest of Kieta is the Japs' main Solomons base of Buka.

Up to the time of the attack on Gizo, so far as has been reported, the American force at Guadalcanal has been occupied entirely with defensive operations against Japanese bombing attacks. While these operations were in progress, the work of securing American positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area was going forward and presumably the development of a bomber base on Guadalcanal airfield was undertaken.

In Memoriam

L.A.C. MACINTYRE JOHN C.

A host of friends in this Province and particularly in the eastern section were shocked and saddened when the news was flashed around that John MacIntyre had lost his life in an air crash near Armstrong, Ont. on Wednesday, August 12th while en route to his former home on a short leave of absence.

Deceased was the youngest of a family of eight. A son of the late Angus C. MacIntyre and his wife nee Mary E. McLellan, both of whom having passed to their eternal reward, leaving John C. at an early age to the kind and loving care of his eldest brother Stewart, who watched over his tender and adult years with a parental and fraternal devotion which matured into a close bond of affection and comradeship, now sharply severed by the hand of fate.

Mr. MacIntyre was for some years a valued employee of McKenzies Garage, Souris, a methodical, painstaking and clever workman, coupled with the characteristic family inheritance of courtesy and gentlemany conduct, sober, industrious and capable, much regret being expressed by those he had served so well when it was learned that he had joined the R.C.A.F. in January 1941.

In connection with his duties in the Air Force the same qualities of mind and heart had endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, his new found friends in the service have expressed their great grief at his tragic passing, and in many ways have shown the depth and sincerity of their sympathy.

In 1938 Mr. MacIntyre was married to Miss Dorothy Creamer of Souris, P. E. I. but after two years of happy married life his youthful wife was called to the great Beyond, leaving a daughter, Joan, who is being tenderly cared for by her grand parents Mr. and Mrs. George Creamer now of Halifax, N. S.

The remains of this gallant defender of liberty and democracy were brought home for burial accompanied by Lac. R. G. Hall, R.C.A.F. Winnipeg.

On August 18th the funeral procession moved by motor hearse from Charlottetown to East Point escorted by members of the Home Guard and Veterans of the Great War, and were rested at the home of his brother Stewart where friends gathered to pay their respects to the honored dead and condolences to the bereaved ones.

On Wednesday morning August 19th the funeral was held at St. Marys Church, Souris. An escort party from the R.A.F. station, Charlottetown were in charge of the funeral procession.

The pall bearers were members of this unit.

A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. D. P. Croken, Souris, who also officiated at the grave.

The following clergy were present in the Sanctuary Rev. R. J. MacDonald St. Columba, Rev. Finlay Mullally, Sturgeon, Rev. George MacDonald, St. Margarets, Rev. Basil Croken, St. Teresa, Rev. A. L. Sinnot, Rollo Bay, Rev. Leonard MacDonald, St. Charles, Rev. Eric Robin, Tignish and Rev. Leonard MacKenna, Souris. Rev. Bernard Gillis Charlottetown, assisted the choir.

At the conclusion of the services at the grave a final salute was given by a firing party from the R. A. F. Charlottetown, followed by the sounding of the Last Post, as the flag draped casket was being slowly lowered to its resting place.

The following immediate relatives are left to cherish the memory of a kind father and loving brother who gave his life for his country.

Daughter Joan, already referred to, also three sisters and four brothers: (Emma) Mrs. W. J. Harris, East Lake, P. E. I. (Emmeline) Mrs. L. A. MacDonald, Halifax, N. S. (Nellie) Mrs. Emmett Greenan, Brae, P. E. I. W. Stewart Dept. of Transport, East Point, P. E. I. Donald F. and Leo A., Charlottetown, James A., R. C. A. F. MacLeod, Alberta.

The mortal remains of this young hero are interred in the soil of his native land that he loved so dearly giving his life for the preservation of its ideals which we all cherish. Each day it would seem as though the planes from nearby training centres as they pass overhead, continue to echo his funeral dirge. May we hope that in happier days to come, when peace is restored to mankind, that the ships of the air, in passing over on peaceful errands will chant a softer requiem in rythm with the thanksgiving prayers of those who have survived and who are pledged to remember the gallant ones who offered the supreme sacrifice, in order that we might continue in the enjoyment of liberty, happiness, and Christian principles.

Eternal rest grant unto him O Lord and let perpetual light shine upon him.

1,500 Attend Big Fair At Alberton

Agricultural Show Is Opened By Lieutenant Governor B. W. LePage.

Lieutenant Governor B.W. LePage officially opened the annual agricultural exhibition at Alberton yesterday. Other speakers included, Premier Thane A. Campbell; Hon. W.H. Dennis Minister of Agriculture; Dr J.A. Clark, superintendent of the Experimental Station at Charlottetown; Mr. George Barbour, member of the Legislature for the second district of Prince; Mayor Wilfred Tanton of Alberton; and Mr. A.D. O' Brien, president of the Alberton Exhibition Association.

The attendance was large, an estimated 1,500 persons making the rounds of the live stock pens, the show rings and the other displays.

Cattle exhibits were down from last year in numbers but the quality remained high. There was an exceptionally fine herd of herfords owned by Mr. F.C. Ramsay of Montrose, who for the second successive year carried off the largest number of awards in the cattle classes.

Mr. Hudson Lowther of Albany had an exceptionally fine showing of holsteins.

Entries in the horse classes likewise were not as numerous as last year but the quality was probably better. Here again Mr. F.C. Ramsay carried off the largest number of awards, repeating his performance of last year.

Poultry exhibits increased in numbers and quality over the 1941 display. Mr. A.F Darnell of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Poultry Services, Charlottetown said the quality this year on an average was better than last year. He said the stock was "early hatched and showed better development."

Mr. E.A. Holland of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, judged the entries in eggs. He said the quality was good and exhibitors displayed a creditable familiarity with grading.

Entries in the sheep classes were larger and the quality was better than a year ago. Entries in hogs were down. It was explained farmers were shipping the animals as soon as they reached marketable age.

Judges included: Horses, L. Chappell, York; cattle, Prof. W.A. Reid, Provincal Department of Agriculture; and S.C. Wright, also of the Provincial Department; sheep and hogs, S.D. Irvine, Dominion Department of Agriculture; vegetables, roots, grains and flowers, Prof. Reid, seeds, Dr. J. A. Clark, Charlottetown: cooking, Mrs. Allison MacLean, Summerside, handicrafts, Miss Mary MacDonald, supervisor of the Women's Institutes, Charlottetown.

Dr. Clark said a display of mangle seed was the best he saw in the province this year.

A special display of turkeys drew considerable interest. In one pen were white holland turkeys and in another broad-breasted bronze turkeys. They were shown by Mr. Herbert Matthews of Alberton who specializes in the birds. He told visitors to his exhibit today he has 1,000 turkeys at his farm.

Another special exhibit was a display of platinum fox pups shown by Mr. George D. Warren of Howland.

No Gov't Comment On New Party

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 — (CP) — Government sources declined to comment on the statement of Maxime Raymond (Lib. Beauharnois-Laprairie) in Montreal today that he would lead a new political party, but observers here saw considerable significance in the development.

Mr. Raymond, one observer said, is a member of one of the wealthiest families in Quebec Province. He is a brother of Senator Donat Raymond, long a force in Liberal politics in that Province.

Maxime Raymond, first elected as Liberal member of the House of Commons for Beauharnois-Laprairie in 1925, has been re-elected at each succeeding general election. He was one of 11 Liberals who voted earlier this year against the bill giving the Government power to conscript manpower for overseas military service by order-in-council.

However, Mr. Raymond remained in the Liberal party during last session when Lucien Lacombe, Liberal member for Laval-Two Mountains, crossed the floor of the House Jan. 29 and started what he called the "Canadian Party."
