CURED IN 1885.

Mr. David F. Mott wrote us from Spring Valley, Ont., in 1885. He said:—I suffered from impure blood and had over 500 boils, but since taking BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS I am entirely cured, and can recommend it to any person troubled with bad blood.

CONFIRMED IN 1901.

Mr. Mott writes us from 62 Broad St., Utica, N.Y., under date of Dec. 31st, 1901. He says:—Some time ago I received a letter from your firm, saying that some years ago you received a testimonial from me, stating that I had over 500 boils. Yes, sir, I had, and I must say that I have never had the re-appearance of one since I took the course of your BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. I thank God that I have had good health ever since, for I was a great sufferer. I wish B.B.B. a world of success, which it surely deserves.

EXPERIENCE OF A GIRL FROM CANADA

In Searching for a Friend in Brooklyn

INSTEAD OF BROOKLINE

Maud Barr, of London Ont., Miss. takes the New York City for the one in Mass.

Brooklyn, Jan. 23.—The Eagle says:—She's a pretty little country maid, in the words of the one time popular song and she struck this big city last night. Everywhere she found everyone very kind to her, else she might have had more adventures and more troubles than she really did encounter. Maud Barr is her name and she has just turned her 19th birthday. She formerly lived at 535 Torbet Street, in the little City of London, Ontario, but things were not very lively among the Canadians, so she decided to emigrate to the hustling States.

A friend of hers, Mrs. Mary Kelly, lives at 92 Marion street, in Brookline, Mass. Mrs. Kelly wrote to her Canadian friend and said that if she would come on no doubt she would find something to do. Maud decided to try it so she purchased her ticket for Brooklyn and boarded the train. Somewhere on her journey, and she doesn't know where, the conductor told her to change cars. She did so and after waiting a while someone about the station with a loud voice announced a train for New York and Brooklyn.

Maud has lived in Canada all of her nineteen years, and she had never heard of Brooklyn it sounded so much like Brookline that she gathered up her bundles and piled into the car. The conductor didn't say anything to her about her ticket and when the train finally stopped Maud was in the Pennsylvania depot in Jersey City. She was told to take the Annex boat to Brooklyn and did so. Over here she said that the policemen were all very kind and took much pains to tell her how to get to Marion street.

At 11 o'clock last night Maud walked up the steps of 92 Marion street and rang the door bell, expecting to see the smiling and welcome face of her friend who was to look out for her and find her a position in the hustling States. When the door bell was answered it was a strange face. No, they didn't know of Mrs. Kelly; they had never heard of her and didn't think she ever lived there.

This dumfounded Maud and she told her story, pulling out her friend's letter to prove it. Then it was discovered for the first time that she had struck the wrong town. She was advised to see the police, as they might help her out. So picking up her bundles again she started out on the streets of a strange city, with no one to care for her and walking aimlessly.

Soon she encountered Patrolman Perry of the Ralph-avenue station. He was considerate and sympathetic, and after the girl had told him her story and pulled out the letter again, he took some of the bundles and then escorted the strange young woman down to the Ralph-avenue station house. A charge of vagrancy was entered against her more for form's sake than anything else, and then she was sent to the Gates-avenue station, where there is a matron.

This morning Maud was arraigned before Magistrate Naumer in the Gates-avenue court and again she told her story and pulled out the letter to show why she was in Brooklyn and not Brookline. The magistrate immediately suspended sentence on her and turned her over to the tender mercies of Miss Anna V. Roome, the probationary officer. Miss Roome had a heart to heart talk with Maud and soon discovered that the Canadian girl was willing to stay in Brooklyn if she could get a position. So to-day she went home with Miss Roome, where she will be well taken care of until a good position can be found for her or until she hears again from her friend in Brookline.

SUCCESSFUL MINING ENTERPRISE

Of Eastern National Copper Company.

DEVELOPMENT OF WORK

Proves the Existence of Large Ore Bodies in the Cheticamp District.

The first annual meeting of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Company's office, 26 Prince Street, Halifax. There was a large representation of shareholders, and complete satisfaction was manifested over the conditions of affairs at the Company's valuable property at Eastern Harbor, Cape Breton.

This enterprise was inaugurated less than six months ago, and development work has been progressing steadily and rapidly ever since the organization of the Company in which parties belonging to various parts of the Maritime Provinces are interested. A vast deposit of ore, carrying copper, gold and silver, is being partly developed, the present operations being intended to obtain a block of ore estimated to contain at least 167,000 tons and bearing values of from ten to twelve dollars per ton and higher. A slope of 200 feet is now being driven through the deposit, the men working in pay-ore from the time this slope was begun.

The President of the Eastern National, Mr. James Reeves, presided at the meeting. In his report he said:—

"Development work was promptly commenced at the mines in September, immediately following the organization of the Company and the taking over of the property, and has been carried on uninterruptedly up to the present time. In order to advance the work more rapidly a night shift has just been added to the day shift in the sinking of the exploration slope.

"Considerable time has been occupied at the mines in the erection of necessary buildings, making roads, and preparing timber. From the latest report of the Superintendent, the buildings are now practically all completed and hereafter the force will be able to concentrate their attention on actual mining operations. Notwithstanding the difficulties and delays of mining in a country where the facilities are temporarily so inadequate as they were at Cheticamp at the beginning of the work, very fair progress has been made in the sinking of the slope, which has now reached a depth of nearly seventy feet, and we have the satisfaction to know that so far the work has not only proved that much of the plan of development, but has even done a little better for us. Later on we hope to be able to attack the deposit from another point and in every other way it will be endeavored to bush the present plan of development to completion. We believe we have an excellent property, and while there is still a prospect, yet it is not a prospect because as I have pointed out, some sixty-five feet of depth has been proved, and every day it is diminishing the distance yet to be proved.

"From the statement of the Secretary-Treasurer, which will be submitted to you, it will be seen that the Company has ample funds to carry on the development work in a vigorous manner. We are glad to acknowledge the interest which the people of these Provinces have shown in this undertaking, and it might be remarked in passing that it should be a gratifying circumstance to us all to find that the amount of money which has been going out of these Provinces for years past, to aid in the development of mines, and industries in foreign countries, is not so great as formerly, and that our people are commencing to appreciate the fact that they have just as good opportunities at home as abroad for the profitable investment of their money, and they have this advantage in participating in a home enterprise, that they are near to the management and are able to judge for themselves to a large extent as to the merits of the various propositions which come before them. The mineral and industrial wealth of the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland is very great indeed, and there is no occasion for one dollar being sent abroad for investment."

The various reports were passed and the Board of Directors was re-elected, as follows:—James Reeves, R. J. Leslie, John Strachan, James Reardon, Fred P. Ronnan, W. R. Dunn, John W. Ragan and T. J. Locke. After the general meeting the directors met and elected the following officers:—
President.—James Reeves.
Vice-President.—R. J. Leslie.
Secretary-Treasurer.—J. W. Ragan.
Managing Director.—W. R. Dunn.

NEURALGIA.

THIS DISTRESSING COMPLAINT IS DUE TO IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course you become weak, vitality gets down low, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain.

Neuralgia haunts out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is hard to drive it out. But by using the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to return. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts a good quantity of Fowler's Solution, and then bind on a hot flannel cloth. This local treatment will be found very efficacious, but must be followed by a course of Ferruzone treatment. Ferruzone quickly strengthens the system, so that further attacks may never be feared. It makes the rich red kind of blood, that gives strength and vigor to weak constitutions and puts them in good shape to resist neuralgic attacks.

"This combined treatment of Ferruzone and Ferruzone in Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Rheumatism, is marvellously effective, and cures after all else has failed. Because of the unique success of these remedies, we have no hesitancy in endorsing their use to our readers. All druggists sell them.
