CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

(Continued from page 9.) amounted to nearly one hundred thousand when they went out in 1891. This should be deducted from the hundred and seventy one thousand dollars of debt when they went out. The Conservatives added twenty thousand dollars to the revenue; they gave away no claims; they established claims that have since been produced. There was nothing on which to reckon compound interest, as Mr. Pridham, Summerville, 5, Wm. Schurman, collected no taxes, except eighty two thousand dollars under an act passed in 1891 by their predecessors. The present Government collected more taxes last year than the Conservatives collected in twelve years, and still the Province is going back fifty thousand dollars a year. The highest expenditure of the Conservative period was two hundred and seventy three thousand dollars. The Liberals had never once got down to that figure. It was charged that the Opposition were unpatriotic to mention the debt. Was it more patriotic to increase the debt? He charged that the Insane Hospital was made a political machine. Why were there one hundred questions asked? Because the Government kept back information and would not call the public accounts committee.

EVENING SESSION.

The House resumed at 8:35 o'clock. MR. MORSON resumed his speech on the budget debate, dealing with comparisons between the Conservative and Liberal Governments. He held that in twelve years the Conservatives were only responsible for two hundred and seventy seven thousand dollars, while the Liberals had gone behind yearly an average of over forty three thousand dollars a year since 1891. They collected in taxes last year eight one thousand dollars. Their added deficits were eight hundred and seventy thousand dollars. He asked why the Assylum receipts fell off in deficit years. PREMIER HAZZARD said it was purely accidental, and that in one year friends of a patient paid up arrears of six hundred dollars. MR. McLEAN—They were notified to pay up. MR. MORSON resumed, quoting The Patriot's prediction of a year ago that there would be a handsome surplus. The fact was a deficit of fifty one thousand dollars.

HON. MR. HUGHES followed. He had been said to and his colleagues would not have been elected if the people had the ballot. out the ballot vote in the federal election showed two hundred Liberal majority in the city. He justified charging permanent new works to capital, with a saving of fund. This was the practice of all Governments and municipalities. He spoke of the Asylum, the Infirmary, court house, public library. The steel bridges and concrete pavements as a credit to the Province. There were also the farmers' institutes, the Seed Fair, six thousand dollars a year for exhibitions and the fruit show. He argued that the Government was doing the best possible for the country.

MR. ARSENAULT was amused at the charge of ancient history thrown across the floor, while every speaker on the Government side went back in the past. This Government had rolled up a debt of eight hundred thousand and taken as much more from the people in taxes. The Government, like the individual should live within its income. Five hundred and fifty dollars were expended in his district on the eve of the election. He would not object if it was spent in the proper way and at the proper time. We should have got twice as much. Money was spent for rights every five years ago and the roads not yet opened. No one objected to the grant to the Battledieu Fund, but the Government should have got authority from the House. He spoke considerable length.

MR. LAIRD claimed the Government and the House were responsible to the people. He found the Opposition were shy of going back of 1891. He claimed there were good schools before the Liberals came in. They gave the people free schools. He enlarged at length upon the political sins and mistakes of the Conservative party. He spoke with great energy contrasting the records of the two parties to the credit of the Liberals, and calling forth rounds of cheers and laughter.

MR. McDONALD A. J. said he had been a Liberal of the old school, whose principles were those of the Liberal Conservative party today. The last speaker, Mr. Laird, in defending the expenditure, talked like an old Tory. The party in power rolled up the debt. The claim for non-fulfillment of the terms of union was first made by the Conservatives who claimed five millions. Premier Pridham sold out the claim for the interest on one million. Mr. McDonald reviewed the financial record of the two parties at length and spoke strongly on the lands about to be given away to the big Provinces. The time when independent men sat in the House, but now the Government supporters were like a flock of sheep. (Laughter) He argued that the interest actually paid shows the debt of about a million dollars. MR. McMILLAN followed at eleven o'clock paying a tribute to the late adjournment of Dr. Douglas, his colleague, and the late Hon. Matthew Smith, who at ten o'clock tomorrow.

After general business, the election of officers for the ensuing year was held as reported recently.

GIORGIO. In reply Mr. Lightizer wished to thank the meeting and stated any little he had done had been a pleasure. He said, there are others who have done as much and more, Mr. Foster, but the meeting wouldn't listen to it. Before adjourning Mr. Foster wished to say a few words. Our increase in members he said, was sustained, our show was certainly a success—but what has been the increase in our active members? Have we awakened any more interest in the farmers of P. E. Island in the past? We must try and get in closer contact with them. He would suggest that a committee visit the meetings of the different institutes in the vicinity of the City and lay the matter before them. Try and arouse some sympathy in our movement. The meeting considered the suggestion a good one and it is likely that an effort will be made to make such visits in the near future. A resolution was passed unanimously, thanking Dr. Robertson for the use of the room in the P. W. C. for our meetings during the past seven or eight months. Meeting then adjourned.
