Saints Can Earn Bye Into Finals With Victory Over P. W. C. Team Tonight

Needing a victory or a tie if they are to break their existing tie with the Army and at the same time earn a bye into the finals for the City Hockey League title, the Saints Dunstan's Red and White squad tonight tackle the old rivals P. W. C. in the final scheduled game of the league.

Out of the running as far as a play-off spot is concerned, Prince of Wales nevertheless will be out in full strength to hang a defeat onto the Saints if it is at all possible. As far as league honors are concerned there is nothing for Prince of Wales to worry over but they will consider it plenty honor if they can hang a defeat on the University boys. The same applies to the S.D.U. team; that is how keen the rivalry is and always has been between the two and that is why tonight's game is very apt to be one of the hardest fought and most-openly played encounters of the entire league.

Saints will be gunning for the tie or a win. Either one will put them in the finals and their followers are confident that whether it be the Army or Navy they will ultimately meet, their team can come through and add the City League title to their trophy collection.

Game will get underway at 7.45.

Island Sister Helps Fight Disease In New China

MARYKNOLL, N.Y.—Cooperating with health authorities in a fight against a recent cholera epidemic in Kweilin, Free China, four sisters of three different missionary communities nursed the victims in the local cholera hospital until the disease was brought under control, according to word just received here from Miss Joan Romanello, M.A., of Kweilin, who revealed how the sisters, one Dominican, a Sister of Charity and two Maryknollers, continued missionary work with their nursing, baptizing never less than ten dying patients each day.

"The sisters spent two full weeks at the cholera hospital," Monsignor Romanello wrote. "On duty from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. Under their good care many of the patients recovered. They used saline solutions as injections.

"The missionaries baptized ten or more patients a day. This included the cases that came to the hospital were too weak to be moved. However, when word got around to the people in the slum areas, the patients came earlier stages and many of those were saved. The epidemic is now practically over and the sisters have returned to their normal mission work."

Due to the influx of refugees from bombed areas, the population of Kweilin has increased from 50,000 to 400,000 in the recent war years. In an effort to alleviate the sickness and suffering resulting from lack of food and over-crowded conditions in the thickly populated slum areas, the Maryknoll Sisters have established two medical dispensaries in the city where patients are received twelve hours of the day.

Likewise two new doctors' schools have been opened, one at the North Gate and one at the South Gate of the city, to take care of the increasing need for instruction in the Catholic religion.

Stationed at the Maryknoll Convent in Kweilin are Sister Mary Paul Reading, S.M., Sr., Rose Victor of St. Louis, Mo.; Sr. M. Clement of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Sr. M. de River of Prince Edward Island, Canada; Sr. M. Dorothy of Kokomo, Ind.; Sr. Cecilia Marie of Hong Kong; Sr. St. Dominic of Berwyn, Ill.; Sr. M. Christelle of Omaha, Neb.; Sr. Gabriel Marie of St. Paul, Minn.; Sr. M. M. and Sr. Antonia Marie, M.D., of Stockbridge, Mass.

The names of the individual Sisters who were engaged in nursing the cholera epidemic, were not mentioned in Miss Romanello's letter. She was, however, told that Antonia Marie, a physician, was one of the two Maryknoll Sisters on duty at the hospital.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP)—Soccer will be a great unifying instrument in the future of the world, the keenest football follower in the War Cabinet told a luncheon prior to a match between representatives of Holland and Belgium.

"It is a game which unites great crowds in democracy," added A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, who in his younger days guarded goal for West Country.

He said it was a great regret that during his tenure of office at the Admiralty, the navy was unable to field a soccer side as the other services. The First Lord, turning to youthful reminiscences, spoke of the days when he "walked three miles and paid two pence at the gate" to see Charles Wreford Brown play. Brown, present at the luncheon, was a great Cornishman player and was capped for England in the 1890's.

Every speaker at the luncheon voiced the opinion that the match to follow would be the last Holland and Belgium would have to play on British soil.

A new ground running at Preston, Lancashire, has been named Station Buffet, and thereby has a tale.

Preston track officials purchased the dog, pay all the upkeep costs and race entry fees. Every penny the dog earns will be turned over to the manager of the Preston railway station, so that men in the fighting services won't go without refreshment.

Hence the name—Station Buffet.

A boxer who bends six-inch nails and steel bars with his bare hands and who, with a one called about his neck, allows himself to be the centre-piece in a full-scale tug-of-war, will compete in the coming National Fire Service boxing championship in London.

He is Company Officer C. N. Greenfield, of Wombell, Yorkshire, 36-year-old heavyweight. He has boxed as an amateur for 19 years and never has been knocked out.

Even this tug-of-war act, with men pulling all-out, leaves him perfectly composed. Apart from boxing, he holds two British weightlifting titles.

An avalanche of ticket applications followed the startling concession that an attendance of 10,000 will be allowed for an England-Scotland international soccer game at Glasgow's Hampden Park April 22. The previous wartime police limit was 80,000 at Wembley, London.

The concession takes the gate allowances back to pre-war days and raised hopes that the Southern League Cup final in April will find the allowance raised to the capacity 100,000.

The accepted crowd record for Britain came at a 1907 Scotland-England game at Hampden Park when 149,547 "queezed" through the turnstiles.

New Political Party in Quebec

QUEBEC, Feb. 15 (CP)—Formation of a new political party in the provincial field, with the avowed purpose of seeking a "national" support, was reported reliably tonight.

Leaders of the new party, according to a report, are Rene Chalouit, member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Lotbiniere; Dr. Philippe Hamel, Quebec dentist and a former member of the Assembly and Paul Gouin, former leader of the action Liberales Nationale, which effected an alliance with Union Nationale shortly before the latter party won the 1936 Quebec general elections.

The three men, who ceased to participate in activities of the above mentioned party, will issue a statement to the press here tomorrow morning, according to Rene Chalouit, who declined to elaborate.

LONDON (CP)—British housewives are hard at work knitting "invasion" vests. ### Land Settlement In Northwest

Areas in the Canadian Northwest whose agricultural possibilities have not been explored, except to a very limited extent, are found in the Mackenzie Basin, the Liard-Nelson areas, the Northern Interior Valleys in British Columbia, including the Parsnip and Findlay Valleys, and certain areas in the Yukon. It is known that successful agriculture can be grown in all these districts, but as the production of field crops as a basis of livestock development, comparatively little is known except in a few districts in the Yukon and a very few areas in the Mackenzie Basin.

Many people have allowed their enthusiasm and wishful thinking to turn their thoughts toward land settlement in this north country. Edmonton seems filled with this type of enthusiasm, and statements abound as to the large number of Americans, who contributed so splendidly to the construction of the highway, airways, and war industries, who are reported anticipating settling on agricultural land in the various valleys mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Nivin, Fredericton, N. B., are guests at the Queen Hotel.

Mr. George V. Fraser, recently connected with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Charlottetown is leaving today for Montreal. He has severed his connection with the Board and has accepted a position with the British United Press news service.
