PLEASANT SURPRISE.—Mrs. F. L. Lague of Crapaud had a real pleasant surprise on Sunday afternoon, August 9th when her nephew Sergeant Pilot Robert Coffman of Lakona Park, Maryland, U. S. His training period has been in Canada and his arrival at Charlottetown Saturday night, is of much interest to his many relatives here. Sergeant Coffman was accompanied to Crapaud by his friend Sergeant Pilot Earl Linkletter formerly from Northern Ontario. Sergeant Coffman is a great grandson of Mrs. John Macdonald of Crapaud.

CUTCLIFFE — BOLGER NUP-TIALS.—St. Augustine's Convent Chapel, Rustico, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, June 17th, 1942, of Miss Dorothy A. Cutcliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock Cutcliffe, Hunter River, P. E. I. to J. Ernest Bolger, R.C.A.F. Dismouth, N. S., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bolger, Hope River, P. E. I. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence Peters, P.P., who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass. The Altar was tastefully decorated by the Sisters of the Convent with lovely spring flowers which during the Mass rendered beautiful hymns assisted by the girls of the convent. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bolger. A delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to the immediate families. Soft music was sweetly played by Mrs. W. A. Cutcliffe, Charlottetown, sister-in-law of the bride. After congratulations and good wishes had been expressed the bride and groom left on a short honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Bolger have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

REMEMBERED BY FRIENDS.—Neighbours and friends from the surrounding country, and friends from Charlottetown, waited on LAC. Ernest Bolger, and his bride at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bolger, Hope River, on Wednesday evening, July 15th to extend a welcome to his bride and wish him good luck in his career in the R. C. A. F. Mr. John L. McGuigan, who was chairman for the evening, after a few remarks called on Mrs. Walter Reid who read an appropriate address expressing their love and esteem for him and assuring his bride a warm welcome in the community. At this point J. Damian McGuigan presented them with a purse of money. In replying the groom expressed his sincere thanks and appreciation for the many kind words expressed to him and his bride, saying it would make his work of doing his bit for his country all the lighter knowing he had so many kind friends at home wishing him well and giving such a warm welcome to his wife. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies. All departed wishing Ernest a safe return.

Her bridesmaid was Miss Jean Gunn of New Glasgow, sister of the groom. She was smartly gowned in a Queen's blue sheer in street length, with matching felt hat and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of snap dragon in pastel shades. The groomsmen were Mr. Peter Falconer of Hopewell, Inverness, and Mr. James Macdonald, Inverness, both following the ceremony, the bride party motored to the Norfolk Hotel, New Glasgow where a delicious wedding supper was served. Later the bride and groom left by motor on a short honeymoon trip to the groom's former home and other points in Prince Edward Island. On their return they will reside for the present in Stellarton.

COBB — WENN.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, July 22nd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Cobb, Millburn, when their daughter, Dorothy Christina, was united in marriage to L. A. C. Leonard Wenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wenn, of King's Lynn, Norfolk, England, by the Rev. W. A. Paterson, B. D. The couple were married under a beautiful arch of maple leaves and roses while an electric light in the background shone through the leaves. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride entered the room on the arm of her mother, attired in a floor length dress of pink georgette over satin with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Duffy, two children and Miss Marie Walsh have returned to their homes in Bronx, New York, after visiting their mother and grandmother Mrs. Patrick P. Duffy, Fort Augustus.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST POLIO.—Recent research tends to prove that one means by which infantile paralysis is spread far and wide is the common house fly. Long suspected of being connected in some way with the spread this deadly disease, the fly is branded a carrier by investigators at the University of Cincinnati and Yale. Last summer during polio outbreaks, thousands of flies were trapped in the danger areas. Solutions made from these were given to monkeys in feedings or injections. Down came the monkeys with polio. As a result of parallel investigations by the Ontario Department of Health, Dr. John T. Phair, chief medical officer says: "We have found polio virus, which was still highly potent, four months after we had collected the flies, killed and preserved them." In reviewing what is now known of poliomylitis, Harold J. Kirby, Ontario Minister of Health points out that the disease may result from and take the goods the gods provide for you. Just remember that you are older now than you were when you had your adolescent love affair, and that you probably have very few thrills left in your system. Anyway, thrills are the poorest thing in the world to rely on, because they can't last in marriage. They perish inevitably in the wear and tear of every day life. But the good sterling qualities that attract you to this one girl last. Any grown man who thinks that he can love again the same way he did as a boy feels himself. We see the glory and the circling wings only once, and then it is through young eyes.

tried to think of Evan but, tonight his image seemed dim and remote. She realized that the memory of him failed to stab her with its accustomed pain. "Here's the spot," she said, halting. "Isn't this gorgeous?" Monty gazed about him, drew a deep breath. "Yes, it's beautiful. I used to dream of scenes like this back in — back in prison." He paused, glanced up at the star-spangled sky. "You don't know what all this means, Miss Blakemore, to a man who —" Impulsively, she reached out and caught hold of his hand. "I do know. And please—won't you stop calling me Miss Blakemore? Call me—call me Anne." He turned and looked at her, his dark eyes shining in the moonlight. She felt his hand tighten upon her own. "Anne . . ." he whispered huskily. (To be Continued) contact with those actually suffering from it; from contact with carriers who probably never had the disease; and by exposure to the excretions of both polio cases and either direct or through the medi-carriers. This exposure may be in the form of contaminated water or flies.

At the event of poliomyelitis occurring in any community, Health Minister Kirby advises the following procedure: Keep all children away from crowds; wash fruit, tomatoes and uncooked vegetables before serving; boil all water which is not adequately chlorinated; and all milk which is not pasteurized; caution against bathing or swimming in contaminated water; destroy all flies.

Over the past years many are the ways that have been devised to trap the wily fly with varying success. The poison dip lures some to an early grave but is liable to spill or be consumed by pets. The old-fashioned sticky pad appears to be a perfect landing field to the soaring pest . . . until he alights never to rise again. However, this pad often catches the unwary passer-by in its dangling coils. The swatter is still an old standby but it requires patience and a great deal of elbow grease to make but a small killing. Every thing considered, perhaps, insecticides are the most satisfactory and generally accepted means of ending the fly menace today.

Large sums of money and competent research specialists have been devoted to make insecticides efficient fly killers. For example, scientists of the Mellon Research Foundation were employed to perfect Fly-Tox. Insecticides act on the principal that flies breathe through pores in their bodies. A fine mist of the chemical is blown into the air by means of a spray gun, and kills every fly it touches. Fly-Tox, however, is not so effective in making the insecticide succeed in making it harmless to humans and proof against staining wallpaper and fine fabrics.

But the main fact to remember if these late findings regarding flies and polio are correct, is kill that fly. Kill him by whatever means you wish as long as you do kill him.

Story In Life Is Cause Of Uproar

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—(CP)—C. D. Jackson, general manager of Life Magazine, today expressed surprise at a report from Detroit to the effect orders had been given to tear from the Aug. 17 issue of Life five pages before permitting copies of the magazine to cross the international border to Canada. Martin R. Bradley, United States collector of customs at Detroit, said he had received the orders to remove an article captioned "Detroit is dynamite" before allowing the copies to go to Canada. The order arrived too late, Bradley said Saturday, to stop the transportation of 100,000 copies of the magazine to Windsor, Ont. Jackson said: "Heretofore peripheral censorship by the Bureau of Economics has never included Canadian shipments. It has been understood that Censorship would be exercised equally, with special emphasis on restrictions in the circle outside the territorial United States and Canada.

"On Tuesday, we submitted copies of this week's Life, which is published on Friday, to the Bureau of Censorship. We went over the Detroit story word by word and phrase by phrase, making certain changes. But at no time was the Canadian question broached."

Shipments Held Up Jackson said he understood shipments had been held up temporarily at Seattle, entry point to Vancouver, and at Bendina, N.D., entry point to Winnipeg, but that the Bureau of Economics had telegraphed releases.

He said that it had been definitely determined that Canada was not within the restrictions of peripheral censorship, and was at a loss to explain the action.

Bradley said at Detroit that no explanation was forwarded from Washington as to just why the portion of the magazine was banned.

der. He said further that in several cases Friday and Saturday customs officials stopped persons carrying copies of the magazine to Canada, and tore out the five pages before returning the magazine.

Defends Detroit DETROIT, Aug. 16—(AP)—Labor leaders vigorously defended Detroit today against the criticism hurled at the city and its labor relations in the current issue of Life Magazine.

R. J. Thomas, President of the United Automobile Workers-C.I.O., declared that "workers in Detroit's war plants are as patriotic as those any other place in the country, and they are willing to do as much for the war as anyone."

"There have been a few isolated strikes in the automobile industry, but not 1-10th the number there were before Pearl Harbor," Thomas said. "As head of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. I have ordered the men back to work at every strike that has happened. No wildcat strike has lasted more than a day. Most of them lasted only a few hours."

Anyone who says that management and labor are not working together for the war does not know what he is talking about," said August Scholle, state C.I.O. director.

Life devoted nine pages in all to Detroit, but apparently only the first five of these were involved in the censorship move.

These five pages discussed difficulties the motor city faces, in Life's view, in its participation in the war effort.

Life said that "the news from Detroit is bad," and that "wildcat strikes and sitdowns, material shortages and poor planning at the top have cut into Detroit's production of war weapons."

"The result is a morale situation which is perhaps the worst in the U.S.," the magazine said. It added that in production "Detroit's biggest job still remains to be done," and declared that certain "factions" are breeding "hatred and strife" in the city.

It lists "demagogues of every persuasion—Communists, Fascists, Ku leaders of the National Workers League and such recent arrivals as Gerald L. K. Smith."

"Then we saw about a dozen torpedo bombers coming in on the starboard side close to the sea. We had a surprise for them which they showed no liking for. We put up a barrage with high explosive shells. I have never seen anything like it. Our shells were exploding in a huge wall of flame, smoke and flying splinters. The planes made no attempt to face such a colossal barrage. They turned away. We saw no torpedo tracks."

"Later 20 Stukas broke through and screamed down at the ships. One dived down at us. Tracer shells and pom poms were pumped at him in red streams. I could see pieces flying off the plane. But the pilot kept on and a big bomb plunged into the sea very near to us."

Carrier Survives "A few minutes later seven dive-bombers appeared suddenly out of the blue and dive-bombed a carrier. They roared down one after another and she disappeared from our sight behind climbing spires of water. But she was still steaming along when she came into our view again."
