To Surprise Of No One, Harris Is Named Field Manager Of Yankees

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, major league boy manager of two decades ago, today was named field manager of New York Yankees for the 1947 season. Harris, 47, was named to the job by President Larry MacPhail, who said he was "not interested in becoming the field manager."

Harris joined the Yankees last September as a front office executive and said repeatedly after Bill Dickey's resignation shortly before the season closed that he "was not interested in becoming the field manager."

He told newspapermen today that he was sincere in his statement when he stopped down on learning that he had been named to the job by MacPhail. The Yankees operated under three different managers during the 1946 season, starting under Dickey, then Dickey's replacement, McCarty, who resigned in May. Bill Dickey, veteran catcher, then took over and continued until shortly before the close of the season when he stopped down on learning that he had been named to the job by MacPhail.

Dressen had resigned from his Brooklyn job before he even talked to me," the Yank president said, "and if anyone else wants to resign from Brooklyn and take a job in New York, I will be glad to see him go."

Both Harris and MacPhail said they would make any deal that would help the Yankees win a pennant.

"But I have not made an offer for Ted Williams, and DiMaggio is going to stay with the Yankees," MacPhail added.

After three years in the minors, Harris hit the big time as Washington's second baseman in 1924, winning the American League batting crown in his first year and adding a world series triumph over New York Giants. He finished first again in 1926 but never was able to make the grade again.

He stayed in Detroit for a five-year term 1929-33 and then moved to Boston to boss the Red Sox in 1934.

When Clark Griffith traded player-manager Joe Cronin to Boston for a sum estimated at $200,000, Harris went back to Washington where he remained as skipper from 1935 through 1942.

Taking on the job of revitalizing Philadelphia Phillies under president Bill Cox in 1943, Harris was removed in mid-season after an argument with Cox shortly before the betting scandal broke that eventually barred Cox from baseball for life.

Bucky managed in Buffalo and handled the front office work in 1944 and 1945. He finished first again in 1926 but never was able to make the grade again.

Baksi Wins From Mills In Six Rounds

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(CP)—Joe Baksi, United States heavyweight, tonight won a technical knockout after six rounds over the British light heavyweight champion, Freddie Mills. Baksi weighed 211 1/2 lbs. Mills 184.

Wasting with both hands, Baksi had Mills bleeding badly from both eyes when the latter's seconds pitched in the sponge midway through the scheduled 10-round bout.

At the end of the fight, Baksi, whose face was unscarred, was as cool as when he started.

A sellout crowd of 10,700 witnessed the non-title bout in London's Harringway Arena.

An underdog in the betting and outwheeled by more than 37 pounds, the English champion was credited by The Associated Press score card with winning only the first round.

By the end of three rounds both Mills' eyes were bleeding and the Englishman was on the run as Baksi backed him about the ring.

Before the period ended, Bucko Trainor, assisted by Whitlock and Demchuk, put Moncton into the scoring column.

Saint John counted two more in the last session before Moncton's final tally. Estabrooks took a pass from burly Walter Kyle and made it good. Less than a minute later Molyneux assisted the twine with Price getting an assist.

Unknown Pulls Surprise Win Over Brown

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 5.—(CP)—Geoffrey Brown, runner-up at Wimbledon last summer, was eliminated from the New South Wales tennis tournament today by an unknown, Jim Gilchrist, in the second round.

The tournament is looked upon as a conditioner for the Australian Davis Cup team which must defend the International Trophy against the challenging of the United States forces next month.

Gilchrist, 21, defeated Brown, 7-5, 3-6, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2, while other members of the Australian Cup team triumphed in straight-set victories.

Brown's victory, not listed among Australia's top 10, countered Brown's scorching service smashes with a sharp backhand and soft lob.

Heatherbell Is Destroyed

(By The Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, Nov. 5.—Heatherbell, one of the greatest trotting horses ever to race Maritime tracks, is dead. The 20-year-old son of McGregor the Great which reigned over east coast tracks in the middle of the last decade was destroyed at suburban Fairview a few days ago, it was learned tonight.

Heatherbell, foaled in 1928, was bought by Brenton McInnes of Charlottetown in Worcester, Mass. in 1932 and in that year became the fastest trotting gelding on Maritime tracks.

He was owned by Lt.-Col. D. A. Dan MacKinnon of Charlottetown in 1936 when the veteran reinsman made his driving comeback. Heatherbell trotted a mile at Montague, P. E. I. in 2:04 1/4—the fastest mile ever trotted by a Maritime-owned horse over a Maritime oval up to that time.

Heatherbell latterly was owned by Roy Kidney of Halifax.

Second Half Offensive Gives Defending Champs Hard-earned 8-3 Victory

Staging a torrid offensive in the second half to push over two tries and boot a penalty kick between the upstarts Prince of Wales Welshmen yesterday afternoon captured the opening game of the Island intercollegiate rugby series when they defeated intermediate Saint Dunstan's 8-3 in an action packed struggle that kept a near-chilled crowd right on their toes to the final whistle.

With a near gale blowing in from the northwest the two rivals, picking up where they left off last year, hammered away at each other all through the seventy minutes of play. With the wind at their backs for the first 30 minutes of play Saints came dangerously close to several scores but the best they could do was notch one touchdown to take a 3-0 lead.

P.W.C. had the gale at their backs in the final half and they paid off on it. In the first two minutes they knotted the score with an unconverted touchdown; at the halfway mark they went into a 5-3 lead on a successful penalty kick from 20 yards out and then put the clincher on the game about four minutes later by getting their second try. That try rolled into the clear, Robertson scooping up the oval to plant the ball directly between the posts.

That in brief was the scoring story of the game but in between the two squads displaying a surprisingly good brand of rugby fought it out on practically even terms. Both lines were in danger on more than one occasion but the defenses stiffened to either run or boot the ball out of the danger zones.

Backfield passing attacks, at times going for long gains, one of them forty yards for a touchdown, were another feature while tackling all through the encounter was hard and deadly.

Referee Jim McCallum ruled with a strict hand handing out a total of 21 penalty kicks with eleven of them being awarded to the S.D.U. teams.

Playing straight on into the wind Prince of Wales after kicking off dribbled the ball to the Saints twenty-five yard stripe; retaining possession Howitt and Dalziel carried to the fifteen but Brick Gormley booted the oval out of the danger zone. A penalty to the Saints saw Gormley kick deep into P.W.C. territory and as the return kick was blocked play raged around Prince of Wales 30-yard mark. Another penalty to the Saints saw Strain's attempt at a placement a little wide in what was the first scoring chance of the encounter.

With playing racing from end to end with lightning like rapidly Saints got the better of an exchange of penalty kicks taking play right to their opponents' 30-yard marker but a penalty kick relieved matters and a moment later as Saints charged back again P. W. Dalziel kicked the fifteen but a dropout Dalziel tricky wingman of Prince of Wales raced thirty yards upfield on a nice effort but right after he was stopped Saints took a hand in matters.

Play was just at midfield when Gormley snared a pass. He raced 15 yards and then heaved a pass to Reid. The latter in high gear tackled the oval in to negotiate the remaining forty yards for the first try of the game on a pretty piece of running. It gave the Saints a 3-0 lead as the try for the extra points dropped short of the mark.

Roaring back in a determined offensive Prince of Wales were thrown back three times, once from the three yard line as they attempted to get the equalizer without success. With the game still following the same pattern Saints in turn got within striking distance of pay-dirt but they couldn't make the grade and the half ended with play being waged around the midfield stripe.

Offensive Pays Off
Prince of Wales started a march downfield right after the whistle sent them into action for the second half. Running, dribbling and kicking they marched to the three yard line the Saints and then as Saints attempted to boot out of danger the kick was blocked and when the players unscrambled McRae of Prince of Wales had the ball tucked under him for the touchdown that knotted the count at 3-all. The try was unconverted. Keeping up their offensive Welshmen marched right back after the score to again keep the

S.D.U. team on the defensive. A couple of penalty kicks eased matters temporarily but with Prince of Wales being awarded a penalty right in front of the posts and 20-yards out Quigley made no mistake as he booted the ball between the uprights to give the Welshmen a 5-3 lead.

The answer to Prince of Wales score was a savage onslaught by the Saints that carried them to within 20-yards of a try. For a couple of minutes Saints kept the Welshmen hemmed in but then came the deciding break of the encounter. Proudly gained possession of the ball on his own 25-yard line. He got away a short punt, as the oval hit the ground it took Dalziel and Wil Robertson, following like a hawk pounced on the loose ball to race into the clear and go 45 yards to place the ball directly behind the crossbar. Reddick's attempt for the extra points was low.

There were about fourteen minutes left to play after the quick score and the shivering fans were treated to plenty of exciting moments before the final whistle. Saints, fighting harder than ever were within 15 yards of touchdowns no less than three occasions but they couldn't break through the Welshmen's defence for a touchdown that could have earned them a draw. P.W.C. either booting or dribbling out of danger McCallum awarded a couple of occasions in the final minutes they themselves paraded downfield in dangerous looking scoring efforts.

Next game of the series is scheduled for Friday afternoon next.
