Published in her make of screen fame. 'Mad About Music' is a delightful picture. It presents Deanna in a different dimension from those of her previous pictures.

Deanna sings as beautifully as ever. With the exception of Gounod's 'Ave Maria' her selections are lighter, more in the popular ballad vein, than those of '100 Men and a Girl'.

For the third time in her short career, 16-year-old Deanna Durbin triumphs. Less than two years ago, Deanna was an unknown Los Angeles school-girl, not even dreaming of a screen career.

Deanna Durbin. The meeting in a resolution elected the main crossing in Victoria Park, leading northward to Brighton Road, to motor traffic.

Brant Outlook Encouraging

A census of the brant in King's and Queen's Counties recently completed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, shows that the number of these birds that stopped to rest and feed on their annual spring migration to the breeding grounds north of Hudson Bay exceeded four thousand (4,000); twenty-six hundred were actually counted by police and other interested observers.

The heaviest concentration occurred in the Oyster Bed-Brackley districts, where over one thousand birds were located. To insure that the census would be as accurate as possible two separate counts were made by the police at intervals of two weeks.

Departing for the north on schedule June 10th saw the last of this highly prized game leave this Province. This report is all the more encouraging when it is to be remembered that five years ago, observers sent from Ottawa specially for the purpose, and stationed at the point on the Labrador coast where brant congregate every spring for a final hop, reported that the total number of Eastern brant in existence did not exceed three thousand.

It was this report that was instrumental in having a close season declared in both Canada and the United States. 'Lightening of your belts.' FOOD INSPECTOR'S REPORT. Seventy-seven portions of carcasses were condemned as unfit for food and destroyed during the month of May, Food Inspector L. E. Croken told in his monthly report to the City Council last night.

Sees All Ranks Answering Call For Convention Youth As Well As Elders Of Conservative Bodies Across Canada Will Take Counsel At Ottawa July 5.

OTTAWA, June 13 (CP)—No longer can the claims of my profession or my business be upon me, the former minister of finance said in his speech of acceptance when I must put behind me. You have determined for me that henceforth, so long as I have health and strength, I must dedicate my talents and my time, such qualities as I may have, the fortune that God has been good enough to give me, to the interests of my country through the great party to which I am privileged to belong.

Speech Incident. While election of a new leader was the paramount object of the convention, the outstanding incident came on the opening day when Mr. Meighen and Hon. G. H. Ferguson, then premier of Ontario, clashed. Both leaders had considerable support in the convention although they had announced their determination not to seek the leadership.

Mr. Meighen defended his Hamilton speech made in 1926 on the eve of a by-election in Bagot, Que., a party storm following his declaration that if war again threatened, the people should be consulted at a general election before troops left Canadian shores.

He explained that he had never been a Canadian policy to maintain a military force capable of immediate participation in war and that an appeal to the country would not involve delay in preparing there. He said, a justified apprehension that a strongly Conservative parliament might unhesitatingly plunge Canada into war.

Mr. Meighen pleaded his party unity. "The cords of memory unite us to the past and this is the time and place when all of us and the militia we represent should catch the spirit and hear the voice of the noble founders of our political faith," he said.

Mr. Meighen's speech was met with a storm of protest. Mr. Ferguson, then premier of Ontario, said he was disappointed in Mr. Meighen's speech. He said that the opportunity for his proposed remarks at Hamilton was inappropriate and that his action was mostly inadvisable.

Other resolutions adopted were in regard to legislation affecting ex-servicemen, a Pacific Coast out-let for the Peace River district, Railway, natural resources of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the St. Lawrence waterway, old National Railways.

Delegates to the convention included Conservative members of the Senate and House of Commons, unsuccessful Conservative candidates at Dominion elections and provincial leaders. There were also four delegates from each federal riding in addition to the members of the party.

Mr. Howe's statement traced the record of the transaction. In March 1936, a parliamentary investigation having disclosed that the "usefulness of the Mikula was slight," the Minister decided to dispose of the ship. He wrote the Canadian High Commissioner in London enclosing a draft advertisement for bidders, hoping to sell the boat in Europe for ice-breaking purposes.

The period for submission of offers was extended later to Sept. 30. On Sept. 8, Captain Wallace Ogilvy of the Maritime Navigation Co. Ltd., Liverpool, N. S., submitted an offer of $10,000. This was rejected. Two further offers were made by Ogilvy, one of $15,000 and another of $17,000. Both were refused. On Dec. 31 the Manseau Shipyards Co. offered $22,500. This also was too low.

On Feb. 15, 1937, the Maritime Navigation Co. wrote offering $30,000 for the ship, including all equipment. The price of $30,000 was not more than an adequate scrap value. I explained to Senator Duff that we would try to sell the ship abroad as a useful icebreaker, and were not interested in prices that would not more than an adequate scrap value.
